The Big Ship Coming.
J. A. Farrell Not Worried.

Faith and Works.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

YOU will learn this morning of progress made by the giant Graf Zeppelin, its departure from Germany, regardless of results in this particular flight, inaugurates real trans-Atlantic commercial flying.

When this was written, at 5 p. m. yesterday, the great ship had been seen fighting a heavy gale above the Mediterranean, making only 35 miles an hour, one-third of the estimated speed.

THE dirigible will not be the final practical craft for ocean flight. A gigantic gas bag, offering such resistance to the wind, invites trouble, with especial danger from lightning.

All-metal heavier-than-air planes of terrific power, able to ignore waves of wind, as ocean steamers ignore heavier waves of water, will solve the problem.

AMONG the nations, America is fifth in steel exports. France, Germany, Great Britain and Belgium beat us in export trade.

James A. Farrell, head of the United States Steel, doesn't worry, for his one company makes more steel than all the companies of any other nation. There is comfort in that.

And whatever other foolish thing you may do, don't sell United States Steel short. Its unfilled orders the first of this month amounted to 3,698,368 tons.

CHARLES E. MITCHELL, head of the National City Bank, biggest in America, is back from Europe cheerful. Everything is all right, says he, with American business and prosperity.

Mr. Mitchell, who knows about money, handling billions of it and having made enormous profits for his stockholders, says "there's nothing in the expansion problem" to worry anyone.

"Bonds are cheaper than stocks," says he. But if asked to exchange stock in his bank for bonds he'd say, "No."

What's true of his stock is true of some other stocks, but you have to select the right ones. AND DON'T GAMBLE.

THE President says faith is the nation's need.

Faith is the BEGINNING, good works is the RESULT.

Faith in Providence, faith in yourself, in your country, in your associates. All faith is strength. But "I must work the works of Him that sent Me while it is day; the night cometh, when no man can work." Faith ALONE won't do, it's too easy.

JAPAN will send to Brazil at least 1,000 colonists each year.

Nachiro Fukuhara, head of $5,000,000 Japanese syndicate, will direct colonization in the rich state of Para, source of excellent rubber.

Already one city in Brazil is inhabited almost exclusively by Japanese.

THE Japanese are kind to their children. No Japanese ever strikes a child. Consequently the children thrive, and families are big.

Grandchildren of Americans now living may see an important branch of Asia established on the continent south of us.

That is the business of Brazil and Japan, not ours.

MUSSOLINI says the Italian press is perfectly free, but it must not criticize Fascismo, or his policies. Newspapers MAY criticize his violin playing if they choose.

Mussolini remembers that Napoleon said, "My government could not last two weeks if I allowed liberty to the press."

EXTRAORDINARY are Mussolini's success and good judgment. He appears on the page of history, a cross between Mohammed and Marcus Aurelius, and, apart from his assertion that liberty is an unimportant word, we find little to criticize in his doings, remembering that if Italy had not had Mussolini it would have had anarchy.

ON ELECTION eve ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union all over the country will pray for "an honest election, an honest count and a victory for prohibition."

That's a little late for election prayers, from the human point of view. Everybody's mind is made up the night before election.

Providence, however, might at the last moment cause the Democrats to vote as the W. C. T. U. ladies wish. Nothing is impossible to Omnipotence.

SLAUGHTER of the Chinese continues on a horrible scale.

More than 200,000 have been butchered by Mohammedans engaged in a religious war. Missionaries describe the massacres as particularly brutal and cruel, every man, woman and child in the villages attacked being killed, property burned, villages obliterated.

That is and always has been the nature of religious wars—Most vicious and cruel. And to make it worse, Christians know that the Chinese gods are "Allah," in whose name the killing is done, have no existence.

A RAILROAD planning to dig gravel near Edison's birthplace, a kind lady asks an injunction, saying, "You mustn't spoil that sacred scenery."

Thomas A. Edison, practical, would say, "Go ahead and dig the gravel." He knows that one gravel pit more or less won't interfere with his reputation. His name will stand when others of his day are forgotten.

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, OVER THE MEDITERRANEAN SEA, Thursday, Oct. 11.—The Graf Zeppelin will be in New York Sunday forenoon if the present weather holds out. That prediction is based on indications at 10 o'clock tonight as we are driving along wonderfully smoothly. We are going at a good crossing speed of 62 miles an hour under a dark, but star-gleaming sky 1,500 feet above the Mediterranean, 30 miles off the coast of Spain.

It was 20 minutes past 4 o'clock this afternoon when we passed out of France over the Mediterranean, 50 miles west of Marseilles. It was in the brilliant sunshine, and warm, and we were going at a 57-mile-an-hour cruising speed against a 15-mile headwind.

BARCELONA A JEWEL

The weather is simply beautiful. Barcelona burst upon us out of the blackness of the early night at 7:45, like a city of flashing jewels. We dropped a bag of mail.

Our wireless is experiencing difficulty with strong static.

We expect to be off Gibraltar at 5 o'clock Friday morning. Our course will probably be considerably south of the Azores.

We had a good dinner tonight, consisting of cold cuts, salad, tea, and excellent wines. The repast is just over and we are all happy and comfortable.

The 20 passengers aboard this ship vote this to have been the most wonderful day of their lives and all express astonishment at such slight realization that they are actually in the air and not on terra firma.

The steward is now making up the berths as if this were a Pullman.

I have just come from the control bridge.

"The night is perfect. We are making good time," said Capt. Flemming, who is on duty.

Commodore Eckener, with whom I visited the bridge a short time earlier, said:

"We will have good weather tomorrow."

At 8 o'clock tonight when we

Winds Chase Dirigible Off Azores Course—Airship Heads for Bermuda and U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The Graf Zeppelin, fighting headwinds and dodging stronger ones to the north, today was far south of her scheduled course apparently bound for the United States by way of Bermuda.

So strong were the headwinds encountered in yesterday's flight over Southern Europe that it was not thought the dirigible could reach Lakehurst, N. J., until 6 a. m. Monday after 100 hours in the air.

Detours already have taken the Zeppelin about 1,000 miles out of its way and far to the south of the usual southern route by way of the Azores.

The Zeppelin, at 8:35 a. m., Pittsburgh time, had passed over the Island of Madeira, off the northwest coast of Africa.

A course from here would carry her south of the Azores and in a long arc passing Bermuda.

The airship was reported sighted by five ships after passing Gibraltar early this morning, the British tanker Gymeric, off the coast of Spanish Morocco; the steamship Virgilio, in the same region; the steamship Gloucester Castle, about 150 miles from Madeira; the motor vessel Dagomba, northeast of Madeira, and the steamer Euclid about 60 miles west of Madeira.

PASSENGERS AIRSICK

The wireless station at St. Michael was in communication with the Zeppelin and from messages picked up it was learned that the passengers were exceedingly airsick.

Some doubt as to the exact course the Zeppelin would take developed later in the day. News from Horta indicated that Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, instead of going directly to Bermuda, is heading sharply for the Azores which, if he kept to that course, he would reach early this evening.

Aeronautic circles which had received direct advices from Dr. Eckener at noon that he would head for Bermuda, concluded that this reported change of plans was prompted by the hope that the commander of the giant air liner might be able to reach American weather stations from the Azores and that he could then determine what course he would follow from that point.

While passing over Funchal, on the Island of Madeira, the Zeppelin dropped a mail bag for the German consul here. It fell into the garden of a casino.

CONFLICTING REPORTS

HORTA, Azores, Oct. 12.—The weather was hazy and overcast about the Azores this afternoon.

A strong southwest wind was blowing and the sea was running strong, with whitecaps showing.

Conflicting reports were received here of the Graf Zeppelin's prospective route. Some doubt existed whether it would pass over the Azores.

It was believed the Zeppelin might proceed directly to Bermuda.

DELAYED BY WINDS

Delayed along the Spanish Mediterranean coast, the Graf Zeppelin is well over the Atlantic Ocean today on her way to America, still fighting headwinds high above the rough sea swells. The above photograph of the Graf Zeppelin pictures its flight.

FREE TAX RECEIPT PLOT IS BARED

A Republican ward chairman today admitted during the Vare-Wilson senatorial election investigation that tax recepits were paid for by the Republican campaign committee and distributed to voters in 1926.

This is the first time since the investigation got underway in 1927 that any organization leader has made such an admission.

It was made by Justus Schroedel, Republican chairman of the Twenty-third Ward. He told the investigators that the campaign committee in the primary election of 1924 distributed tax receipts to electors without the electors paying for them. He said he sometimes paid for and distributed tax receipts himself and "guessed" that the campaign committee paid for others.

Schroedel also acts in the capacity of superintendent of the courthouse.

Preceding Schroedel on the witness stand were four other ward chairmen, all of whom testified to being in ignorance of any "crooked work" in the election.

The only "crooked work" Patrick J. Sullivan, Republican chairman of the Sixth Ward, heard about, he told United States Senator C. C. Watterman, conducting the investigation, was "the talk of reformers, through the newspapers, trying to blacken the character of the election boards."

SEES NO CROOKEDNESS

State Senator Morris Einstein, Republican chairman of the Twenty-fifth Ward for 27 years, testified:

"I never heard of any irregularities at the 1926 election or any other."

Magistrate William J. Soost, Republican chairman of the Eleventh Ward, testified he earned $3,000 a year and said:

"I never heard of any crookedness about the Vare election, or any effort to control it."

Police Magistrate E. M. Hough, Twenty-sixth Ward chairman, the first witness called, said he never heard of a conspiracy hatched by the Central committee, composed of W. S. Vare, Thomas Watson and John McKinley, to steal the election.

While Schroedel was on the witness stand he told the investigators

LAX ROAD, SEWER METHODS EXPOSED

Slipshod methods in the Bureau of Highways and Sewers produced queer irregularities which permitted a deficit of $15,000 this year and last year, according to developments yesterday at a councilmanic hearing.

Lack of facilities for keeping records, indiscriminate buying of large quantities of material and general ignorance of business methods prompted a suggestion that another conference be called, with Mayor Charles H. Kline present, so that steps could be taken to correct the situation.

The point was not pressed as Edward G. Lang, director of the Department of Public Works, was present, and it was believed he would give the Mayor a full report of conditions.

The hearing was called when Council learned that the sidewalks and steps division not only was without funds, but that it had contracted a $15,000 debt for material and had no prospect of paying the bills.

R. M. Armstrong, a carpenter working as foreman in the division, explained that he kept a "vest-pocket" office because he had no clerical help. As a result he lost track of the division appropriation and ordered $15,000 worth of lumber after the funds were exhausted.

He admitted buying, without authority, large quantities of lumber at a price higher than that agreed upon by the bureau of supplies.

The investigation developed that the bureau of highways and sewers permitted a $5,000 deficit last year.

Armstrong submitted a report requested by Council a few days ago purporting to show the distribution of the division's expeditures for labor and material. The report caused considerable comment because in a majority of the sidewalk and step jobs completed the cost of labor and material was identical. Council deduced that Armstrong arrived at the total cost in a hit-and-miss manner and then charged half to labor and half to material.

On motion of P. J. McArdle a request was made upon Controller John H. Henderson for a detailed report on the expenditures of the sidewalk and steps division. Another motion called for a similar but independent report from the accounting office of the department of public works.

English moved that the bureau of supplies be instructed to issue written orders to all dealers furnishing material to any city department that payment would not be authorized for deliveries unless official requisitions had been issued.

ELSNER IS FREED IN BRAWL

"The police must be kept out of brawls," declared Judge James B. Drew, in discharging Police Inspector Joseph Elsner, of the Penn avenue district, who was charged with surety of the peace by Jack Berkowski, alias Jack Burke, prize fighter and henchman of John J. Verona, Third Ward boss. Costs were put on the prosecutor.

There had been a lot of wrangling among the witnesses, and politics was being pushed to the foreground when Judge Drew halted the proceedings with the remark that policemen should be immune from political influence.

Judge Drew said the court is the proper place to straighten out a lot of these differences.

"We can do more than the police trial board," said the judge. "I think it is sensible to stop this fuss, so I will discharge this case. The costs are placed on Berkowski."

FAULKNER DOCKET SEIZED

The activities of Inspector Charles Faulkner's police and the judicial administration of Magistrate E. M. Hough were placed before the grand jury today by District Attorney Samuel M. Gardner as the latest development in the inquiry into the graft charges of Alderman John J. Verona.

Gardner had subpenaed the dockets of Nos. 12 and 13 Police Stations—North Side and Woods Run—and they were delivered by John Bannon, Hough's clerk. However, after Bannon and the books were delivered before the grand jury, Gardner found that the records were not in shape to be translated, so he ordered Bannon to return on Monday with orderly records.

This afternoon the grand jury

HEAT AT 35-YEAR RECORD

Columbus Day may be a heat-record smasher, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced as the mercury performed midsummer antics, today.

With the sun shining from a clear sky the temperature reached 83 at 3 p. m. with the likelihood, Brotzman said, of equalling, late today, the record of 84 established in 1893.

"Continued dry, warm weather is the prospect," said Brotzman. "The snow and cold in the Rocky Mountain states is being kept from moving into this region by a high pressure belt in the Southwest, which is causing southerly winds to sweep over this district. Absence of rainfall is a serious drawback to farmers and there is no rain immediately in sight."

43 IN SUB LOST IN CRASH

PARIS, Oct. 12. — (AP.) — The French submarine Ondine, overdue for the last three days, was sunk by a Greek ship off Oporto during the night of the third of October. She had aboard three officers and 40 men.

The Ondine, which was 800 tons, left Cherbourg on an endurance trial run October 1. She was last heard from on October 3 by a Spanish wireless station. Her position was then given as off Cape Finisterre.

The Ondine was due at Bizerta, the seaport of Tunis, on October 9. When she did not arrive the French naval authorities began a search for her in the hope that she might have met with some accident which made it impossible for her to give her position.

FEAR ALL LOST

The ministry of marine fears that all hands aboard the submarine were lost, but to make certain has ordered the second squadron of destroyers, which is cruising near Oporto, to proceed immediately to the scene of the collision and to search for possible survivors and wreckage.

The French ministry of marine informed the Associated Press that a Greek cargo boat which recently docked at Rotterdam reported having sunk the submarine.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Congratulations on the successful reproduction in color of one of my paintings made five years ago for the McKenna Brass Company. It is by far the best that has been done yet from this painting. One attempt in four-color printing had been done before and was unsatisfactory for my approval.

Very truly yours,
O. KUHLER.

BEAUTY FIRST, THEN TOWN HALL—MELLON

Pittsburgh needs beauty and should not sacrifice anything that contributes to its attractiveness, said R. B. Mellon, chairman of the Allegheny County Planning Commission, in opposing, at a meeting of the commission yesterday, the proposal that the town hall be erected at the entrance to Schenley Park.

Mr. Mellon did not insist that the park site be eliminated from consideration, but said he would deplore having a huge building erected there which would shut off the view of the park and detract from the impressiveness of the Cathedral of Learning and other edifices facing the park.

In Europe, he remarked, the civic authorities maintain large open

SMITH SURE SOUTH WILL STAY SOLID

It's an Expensive Hallowe'en :-: Police Wary for Boys Who Destroy :-: Motorists Suffer Most

WHERE FUN ENDS

Fun ends somewhere, the boys of Pittsburgh must learn. It's ended when they observe Hallowe'en's coming by driving a nail through the tire of this motorist. Motorists are suffering much vandalism. One watches, one hammers the nail!

OH! THAT PAINT!

And this—well, chalking automobile bodies and driving nails into tires are offenses in the eyes of the law. Police have been instructed to arrest all boys who do it. And they'll go to jail, too! Many cars in the city have marks that only repainting will cover.

AMATEURS

A motorists wouldn't mind this, perhaps, if the lads handling the brushes were expert painters. But they're not, they're just smearing. This stunt brings quick arrest and invariably means the car owner must have his car repainted. If properly guided, these lads might not do this.

THE END OF THE TRAIL!

The end of this trail of vandalism—that's all it is, say the police—is this. And how would you, little fellow, like to be locked up for months in a dark pen where you couldn't ever see even your mother? You'd better confine yourself to ringing doorbells and other harmless tricks.

ATTACK INDICTMENTS IN RUM RING PROBE

Arguments on petitions of 30 attorneys for bills of particulars for a majority of 124 men indicted in the Federal booze-graft probe, who pleaded not guilty earlier in the week, were made before Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court today. The court refused to quash the petitions.

Oliver K. Eaton, representing S. J. Grenet, made the major address, all of the petitions being along the same line. He alleged the indictment was not specific enough to permit of adequate defense. Attorney Joseph M. Walters spoke for J. V. Jeffries, and Attorney A. S. Schmidt for Gus Myers and others.

Eaton pointed out that the 166 indicted defendants were charged with conspiracy covering a period of three years from September, 1925, and that to make a defense they should be given specific facts, and especially, if they were to be connected with other defendants. He pointed out that the only overt act charged against Grenet was a conversation with Thomas Oliffee in the Fort Pitt Brewery February 15, 1928.

Assistant United States Attorney R. H. Smith moved for a dismissal of the petitions, but the court refused, told the attorneys and file briefs and said he would announce his decision later.

Buckets of hot soup and stews begin to pass from the tiny kitchen and disappear down the narrow gangway into interminable depths.

We lunched with a gorgeous panorama of snow-capped Alps about us. At our left was Mont Blanc, majestically towering above the rest. Everybody is hungry. I sat down with Commander Rosendahl, Col. Herrera, Prof. Dettmann, Rolf Brandt and Theo Matejko.

Dr. Eckener came through from the bridge and went to his cabin to snatch a little sleep.

We were over Valons at 2:30. The first excitement and novelty was beginning to wear off and the passengers mostly retired to their cabins for afternoon naps.

We are now shaping our course over Avignon in the direction of Barcelona. We expect to be over Gibraltar by 4 o'clock in the morning Friday.

were off Barcelona we had made 670 miles in 12 hours against head winds.

TAKE-OFF SPLENDID

Our take off was spendid. Our good luck surprised us. The expected difficulties in getting up in view of the weight of the ship and the low temperature lessening the lifting power, failed to hamper the start in the least.

At 8:05 o'clock this morning the steward called "last mail for Germany," preparing us for the last posting before we should cross the Rhine. At 8:45 we were at Schaffshausen, with the sinuous Rhine and beautiful Rhine Falls 900 feet below and in the distance the snowy Alps peeping through the scurrying clouds.

The last mail bag was dropped. The bag with its scores of postcahd greetings to the home folks from those on board was blown into the falls to the loud amusement of the crowd but to the chagrin of the writers.

"The daughters of the Rhine will read them," some one shouted.

Above the beautiful Rhine gently swaying in the direction of Basle we go at 61 miles an hour. Dr. Eckener, at the bridge, is all smiles and cheery, an infallible sign from that human barometer that the weather is improving.

"Didn't I tell you I would give you a nice trip?" he greets me.

The sun has broken out. At 9:32 we are over Basle. Another mail bag goes overboard. Better luck this time. We are heading for Besancon.

The motors are keeping up a steady droning symphony as we pass over the checkerboard of tiny farms and fields in the Rhone valley. We are flying low, stampeding the cattle and making the chickens scamper. The dogs bark at us.

France is chilly toward our ship. adjourned until next Wednesday, giving the jurors a four-day respite, and giving Gardner time to review the evidence and plan what he will do next week, the fourth week of the investigation.

Subpenas for Director of Public Safety James M. Clark and Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh were prepared but not served today as the grand jury resumed its task of sifting Verona's charges that the city administration is permeated with graft.

After speeding up a desultory session yesterday to get the police officials' explanation of why patrolmen exceed their authority and have parked autos towed to favorite garages, Gardner decided not to summon them until this morning.

One witness today was Attorney Cyrus Davis, who told of his car being towed away from a parking lot rented by his law partner to the New Allies Garage, where he was forced to pay $4.75 for its release.

INSISTS ON SUBPENAS

Clark and Walsh had volunteered to appear without the formality of subpenas, but Gardner announced he preferred the routine procedure. They will be served by county detectives, along with some 50 others scheduled to face the jurors.

The witnesses who reported today to face the grand jury were Henry Mende, 3450 Craft avenue; A. C. Steffen, 1415 Columbus avenue; Joseph Fatz, 829 East Ohio street; Martin Seifert, 865 Lockhart street; T. S. Bruggeman, 1207 Porterfield avenue; Frank Krieger, steward of German Club, East North avenue; Andrew Kapp, 7029 Chaucer street; Julius Abel, steward of Lincoln Tourists Club, Chaucer street.

ZEP FLIGHT LIKE DREAM—LADY HAY

By LADY DRUMMOND HAY.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syn., Inc.)

ABOARD GRAF ZEPPELIN, OVER THE MEDITERRANEAN, Thursday, Oct. 11.—(Radio via Berlin)—This was the most thrilling day of my life. For two hours tonight I was on the bridge with Commodore Eckener, at his invitation, to watch with him the glorious sunset. There was the most gorgeous coloring over the mountains as we flew along the coast of Spain, the Commodore giving me his glass and directing my eyes to the points of interest.

I felt that if crossing the world in an airship or flying in a great air liner like this is always so smooth and exalting, I never want to travel in any other way again.

I am beginning to understand why these men love their Zeppelins. The bridge, with the men whirling the steering wheels, or bending over their charts, or measuring distances, or laying out the course, or reporting to the Commodore—all of it is a fascinating picture.

LIKE A DREAM

As the thousands of twinkling lights come out in the towns and cities on the Spanish coast and the steamers glide underneath the stars like a dream, I am so happy to see and experience it all that I can only gasp.

It is so warm tonight I have discarded my Arctic shoes and woollens and I am now going to sleep in a pretty cabin under a single blanket, while the men are still sitting about to talk and play cards.

Sitting in a snug cabin looking down over France with the great silver ship swaying as gently as a cradle, I can hardly believe that the attention of the world is focussed on us today in this unusual adventure.

Strange as it may seem, I haven't the slightest feeling of anxiety, or insecurity, or concern as to safety of the flight. Neither have any of the other passengers, some of whom did not see the ship for the first time until this morning. Perhaps for no other passenger was the boarding of the Graf Zeppelin so hard as it was for me. At the last moment, I received the most urgent requests, demands and pleading telegrams from my father, mother and sister, asking that for their sake I give up the flight.

NOT AFRAID

It is bitter to give pain to one's parents, but I couldn't bring myself to give up the opportunity. They don't know the feeling of security and safety of riding through the clouds aboard this ship with Dr. Eckener on the bridge. The word fear has not once been heard in the lounge where the passengers gather.

Hardly had I stepped into the cabin of the Zeppelin when I realized I had left behind my coat. The chauffeur of our car volunteered to break all traffic regulations to get it at the Kurgarten Hotel and bring it to me before the ship took to the air.

What a mercurial courier he was. Two minutes before Dr. Eckener gave the command to bring the ship out of the hangar, the chauffeur dashed in through the western portal of the hangar, bringing the precious burden.

Now we are off. The haste and bustle is ended. Long before the first light of dawn broke over the snow-capped Alps of Switzerland on the other side of the Black Bodensee, the echoes of the same still bustle which has characterized the last evening began to be evident. While the 20 passengers could afford to sleep tranquility in the knowledge that their limited baggage was already installed in their cabins on board the Graf Zeppelin, Dr. Eckener and his officers and crew had been planning and working since the early hours.

TENSE BUT CALM

Yesterday's wind and rainstorm had abated. The human emotions which had seemingly been caught up in the swirling autumn winds and run riot, were calmer, if tenser, before the approach of the great step which would lift us from the earth in a gently swaying mass of aluminum and silver canvas as our flying tent—the twentieth century prototype of the flying carpet of fairy tale legend.

But our tent was to lift us almost miraculously and waft us in an incredibly short space of time over thousands of miles of land and ocean to the other side of the Atlantic.

With yesterday's hurry and scuffle over formalities over, the baggage out of the way and all other details disposed of, the real significance and interest and pleasure of the journey itself begins to be realized and appreciated.

Since coming to Friedrichshafen, we have all become amateur meteorologists. Dr. Eckener sits wizard-wise in the center calm of any maelstrom of human activity like a human Buddha amongst his instruments, and unemotionally measures the unruly elements.

In the minds of everyone upon awakening this morning were the questions:

"What's the state of the weather? Can we get away?"

This was followed by an immediate dash to open windows, sniffings of the sharp morning air, wise and not-so-wise comments on the winds and trees, for it is only a matter of getting the Zeppelin out of the shed. Once out, the rest is easy, and Dr. Eckener is confident he can promise us a good journey.

The twinkling lights of Romanshorn on the Swiss side of Lake Constance offered a romantic picture. As the gray light crept into the sky, the grandiose trees, denuded of their colorful foliage, stood revealed in all their starkness. They were faintly mirrored in Lake Constance.

Every detail took on a strangely new significance this morning as the waveless lake lapped against the seawall with a peculiar insistence and monotony. Church bells summoning the faithful for the earliest mass, so often merely to the accompaniment of slumber, refused to be ignored. Today they held a solemn message even for the hardiest unbeliever. Friedrichshafeners, thinking towards the mighty Zeppelin, inwardly cried:

"For you! for you!"

And the resonant bells chimed out:

"For you! For you! For you!"

LIGHT BREAKFAST

By 6 o'clock in the morning, breakfasts wer in full swing. They were not the plentiful American breakfasts, but coffee and rolls alone. There was a last look around for forgotten belongings, settling hotel bills and giving tips, and the passengers, some walking and some riding, started for the Zeppelin shed not so far away from the town.

Despite the early hour, a crowd assembled, gazing with intense interest at every and any persons they suspected of being passengers on this epoch-making flight. No little glamor attaches to anyone in the eyes of Friedrichshafeners, who, in any way, is connected with the Graf Zeppelin, Dr. Eckener or the much-admired captains and officers.

In the shed everything was abustle as the last touches were being put on the ship. Dr. Eckener, confident and smiling, was supervising the work. Capt. Flemming, a new light in his eyes, was walking on air, while Schiller and Lehmann, loaded with a tremendous amount of detail, were kept on the run to the last moment.

Upon boarding the ship I found I had cabin No. 7. It was the lucky number. Dr. Eckener was the only person on board with an individual cabin, but he will need some place, however small, during the voyage, where he can obtain peace and rest. In order to give Dr. Eckener a cabin alone, the cameramen, Robert Hartmann and Joseph Meyer, volunteered to sacrifice their allotted cabin to him. They have arranged to sleep aloft in the body of the airship.

Commander Rosendhal is bunking with Karl H. Von Wiegand.

There looks to be an awful lot of baggage in the tiny cabins, and passengers are revealing such funny things deemed necessities. Supplies sufficient to stock a pawnbrokers shop include everything from snowboots, malted milk and hot water bottles to every imaginable kind of eatables, and every conceivable garment for human decoration.

At the take-off there were only cries of exultation; never a word of fear. The dangers of the flight never appeared to me until after we were gone. Where a 50 majority of married men take such risks as may be in the interest of the cultural progress of the world, one woman may as well trust herself safely to such a project and be glad that a woman will share with men on the beautiful ship whatever comes of fair weather or foul.

Frau Eckener and her daughter waved goodby to me as the Graf Zeppelin rose into the air. They like Countess Von Brandenstein Zeppelin, Frau Matejko, Frau Brandt and the others did not depress their husbands with sadness at the departure. There was not a minute when the tears were not swallowed bravely, and encouragement given to these air pioneers.

ENVY LUCKY PASSENGERS

Only a very privileged few were admitted to the shed before the huge airship was maneuvered out into the open. But there wasn't a woman there who secretly wasn't counting the hours until the arrival in New York. There wasn't anybody on the ground who didn't envy the crew of the Zeppelin, and there certainly wasn't one newspaperman who wouldn't have given his life for the supreme opportunity we now are enjoying.

It would be difficult for me to say just how I felt on boarding the ship. Practically every emotion was drowned in the overwhelming worry over my parents, and anxieties which in turn necessarily gave place to needed attention to details of the baggage, farewells to my friends. The first little thrill as the engines began to roar gave way to a tremendous thrill as the huge Zeppelin gradually rose into the air amid resounding cheers and cries of good luck from the crowd below.

Suddenly I realized the long handicapped American trip had really begun. The commander, officers and passengers immediately assumed new personalities in my eyes. The former became an arbitrator of the lives of human beings—a kind of a super-man for whom the aerial Leviathan wakes into being and action, while the others, none of whom I had previously met or knew, all became of a sudden individually interesting as companions on this strange and utterly unique journey.

LUNCHEON GUEST

I had the honor this afternoon of being the luncheon guest of Count Von Brandenstein-Zeppelin, chairman of the board of control of the Zeppelin works, who toasted me as the only woman present at the historic first luncheon party on a trans-Atlantic air voyage.

At the table with us sat Prussian Minister of the Interior Grzensinski; Director of Civil Aviation Brandenburg, and Capt. Von Tyczka, head of the German aviation school.

Our menu consisted of noodle soup, veal stew and stewed gooseberries and apricots. It was served on a colored tablecloth with napkins to match, and into the linen was woven "Graf Zeppelin."

The conversation was animated and the discussion seemed to range to every subject under the sun. Count Brandenstein-Zeppelin said to me:

"You are the first woman to cross the Atlantic in a Zeppelin, but Countess Brandenstein-Zeppelin, in 1908, was the first woman ever to go up in a Zeppelin."

We had a glorious vision of snow-capped Mont Blanc during our luncheon.

SMITH CERTAIN SOUTH WILL STAY SOLID

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

EN ROUTE IN THE SOUTH WITH GOV. SMITH, Oct. 12.—Gov. Smith left the Solid South today firm in the belief that it is still solid.

Glowing from the warmth of his reception in Virginia and North Carolina, where bear stories of Democratic disaffection have abounded since the Houston convention, the Democratic nominee moved over into Tennessee today. Tennessee is one of those border states that the Republicans have claimed for their own this year, particularly so since Herbert Hoover came down here last week and addressed a throng of some 40,000 at Elizabethton.

SHIP FORCED FROM COURSE

If it did come here, the probable time of arrival would be about 9 o'clock tonight.

NEW STORMS AHEAD

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Dodging far to the south to avoid strong headwinds, the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin was far off its original course.

The latest weather reports this morning stated that new storms were coming on the Atlantic and that the Graf Zeppelin would probably have to go out of her way somewhat to steer clear of the worst weather.

It was pointed out that because of the adverse winds the Graf Zeppelin needed more time for reaching Gibraltar than the ZR-3 had needed to reach the Azores. With the detour made by the Graf Zeppelin it was estimated that her mileage to Lakehurst would mount up to about 6,300 miles.

ASKS U. S. WEATHER AID

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Direct radio communication was established today between the Graf Zeppelin and the naval radio station at Arlington, Va.

At 6:35 a. m., Pittsburgh time, the Navy received a message inquiring about weather conditions from Commander C. E. Rosendahl, the American observer aboard the Zeppelin.

It said:

"Request morning Atlantic synopsis, especially Madeiro, Azores and Bermuda region."

The Navy station is forwarding weather forecasts to the Zeppelin.

The weather report compiled by the United States Weather Bureau, and transmitted by Navy wireless, advised the Zeppelin to keep south of the Azores as a 32-mile-an-hour wind is blowing in the region of Horta. The weather is cloudy.

The bureau said the winds probably would increase at the Azores while to the south there would be comparatively calm weather.

A disturbance is center in the Atlantic for north of the Azores, but the Zeppelin will run into the edge of the storm if it flys too close to the Azores. This disturbance at the Azores will cause cross-winds and later, head winds to impede the ship's progress.

In passing over Maderia the Zeppelin was aided by a southeast wind.

There are no indications of bad weather in the Bermuda region.

Weather reports from ships at sea are also being transmitted to the Zeppelin.

WIND AIDS SPEED

(Copyright, 1928, by International News Service.)

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—For the first time since the Graf Zeppelin began her historic passenger carrying flight to New York, she has been able to attain something near her maximum speed according to information recieved here at 6 o'clock this afternoon. Off the Moroccan coast a tail wind struck the Zeppelin and her speed jumped to 81 miles an hour. Under normal circumstances the Zeppelin averages only from 70 to 80 miles an hour with no wind to help her along.

that he secured a batch of tax receipts from the campaign committee in its headquarters in the Hotel Henry in 1926 and distributed them to voters living in his ward. He said he submitted a list of names to headquarters, and in turn, received tax receipts for the persons named.

After Attorney John M. Henry, counsel for the Wilson group, concluded his cross-examination, Senator Watterman said to Schroedel:

"Don't you know it is illegal, paying other voters' tax receipts?"

Schroedel replied he didn't.

"How long have you been ward chairman?" the Senator asked.

"Twenty-nine years," answered Schroedel.

Schroedel contended that he had distributed tax receipts only in the primary election—not in the general election.

Twenty-eight ward chairmen were among the witnesses called for the inquisition today.

Included in the list of witnesses summoned were County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, whose testimony at a Washington hearing recently threw a cloud on the latest judicial election; former County Treasurer Edward Freibertshauser, Noble Matthews, John O'Donnell, Thomas Flanigan, Francis Kirley, James Smith and Edward Townsend.

HOOVER TO APPEAL TO "BUSINESS" AT N. Y.

BACK ON THE FARM?

Remember—back on the farm?—when you had to help stir the ol' applebutter in the fall? Great sport that would be now! At Dravosburg Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Gladys Jones stirs.

FIREMAN! FIREMAN!

It's because the women of the church are raising funds by making and selling applebutter. They boil it and stir it in eight great copper kettles, out-of-doors. Here, John W. Wilson has been conscripted to help. He's a fireman in this scene.

SECOND YEAR

This is their second year in this "business." They boil 30 gallons of cider to 10 gallons, using 225 pounds of sugar and 25 bushels of apples. Already, three-fourths of the production is sold in advance. Here are Mrs. Frank Pflumm (left) and Mrs. Nora McKee.

FINISHED

Here Mrs. F. A. Bunner takes some of the finished product—real applebutter—to the testers. The testers, you know, are any of the 20 women who are engaged in the work. It's tested by taste!

LIFE TERMS FOR TRIO IN "THRILL MURDER"

Three youths who confessed to robbing and killing "for the thrill" were sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court today. A fourth member of the gang was sentenced from two to four years.

The three, Michael Ferraro, 16, of 6615 Shetland avenue; Henry Constanza, 18, of 646 Chianti street, and Lloyd Moore, 19, of Wilkinsburg, pleaded guilty three weeks ago to the murder of Edward Flynn, 65, night watchman at the Homeopathic Hospital who was held up and shot to death at Center avenue and Graham street, September 24, 1927.

Joseph Ferraro, 18, a brother of Michael, was permitted to change his plea to accessory after the fact after testimony disclosed that he was drunk in the rear of the car and knew nothing of the slaying of the aged man. He also was sentenced to serve from two to 15 years on robbery charges, the sentences to be concurrent.

The band had engaged in a series of robberies, "for the excitement," they testified at the hearing to fix the degree of crime. When they held up Flynn he tried to wrest the gun from Michael Ferraro, it was testified, and was shot. After the night's work they divided the spoils each receiving $70.

Three members of the gang were arrested in a subsequent robbery and confessed to the Flynn murder. Joseph Ferraro was arrested later in Cleveland and denied any knowledge of the crime.

Judge Gray, in pronouncing sentence, said he had instructed Dr. C. C. Wholey to make a mental examination of the four youths.

"This disclosed," said the court, "that Constanza is above the average intelligence, Joseph Ferraro is average, Michael Ferraro is subnormal, but not insane, and Lloyd Moore, while of the moron type, has no mental disease."

Another 'Dapper' Attack

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 12.—Summoned from bed on the same pretext used in the Dr. Dapper slaying, at Pittsburgh, Dr. H. E. Ralston, 33, young physician here, was beaten unconscious as he made ready, in his apartment early today, to visit a "sick woman."

A knock on the door of his bachelor apartment in the Citizens Bank Building aroused Dr. Ralston about 3 a. m. Answering the summons, he was confronted by two foreigners, he told authorities later. One of them urged the physician to hurry, as he was needed at the bed of a woman who was very ill.

As the physician sat on the edge of his bed lacing his shoes, one of the strangers hit him on the head with a blackjack. Slumping to the floor unconscious, Dr. Ralston lay for half an hour before he regained consciousness. He crawled to a telephone and notified Dr. R. H. Jeffrey who, in his night clothing, leaped into his automobile and dashed to Dr. Ralston's aid.

The wounded physician was removed to Uniontown Hospital, where his condition was undetermined. He lost considerable blood from a deep laceration on the head, but it is believed his skull was not fractured.

APARTMENT LOOTED

Dr. Ralston's apartment was looted by the strangers, but police are uncertain as to whether the motive of the attack was robbery. The foreigners avoided use of the elevator in the building and walked upstairs to the seventh floor apartment of Dr. Ralston and down again after the attack.

Similarity of the ruse to that in the murder of Dr. Harry R. Dapper, young Carrick physician, last August 20, which has never been cleared, led police to conduct an intensive search for Dr. Ralston's assailants. The strangers, they believe, may have been seeking drugs.

AUTO HITS BOY GOING HOME FROM SCHOOL

As he was going home from school at noon today, John Pott, 10, of 404 Cherry way, Homestead, was struck by an automobile driven by Samuel Rosenthal, of 5829 Phillips avenue, Pittsburgh. Rosenthal took the boy to the Homestead Hospital, where physicians found his injuries consisted of bruises and lacerations. Rosenthal reported the accident to the police.

150-MI.-AUTO DASH SAVES GIRL WITH PIN IN THROAT

Blanche May Walker, 4 months, is cooing in her Warren (Pa.) home today after a nerve-racking auto trip to Pittsburgh, a delicate surgical operation, and a joyous ride back home by the party which made the 150-mile dash in the dead of night.

Little Miss Walker, lying in her crib with nothing much to do, swallowed an open safety pin. An elder sister witnessed the act and told her mother. That started all the excitement. Warren hospital facilities were inadequate, so the child was rushed to the Children's Hospital, arriving at 4 a. m., a seven-hour trip. Dr. McCue, of the hospital staff, inserted an instrument in the baby's throat, closed on the pin and withdrew it safely. Then the party, including Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walker, father and mother; Mrs. T. H. Lehman, of Starbrick, and Harold Passenger, driver, motored back to Warren.

EX-CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LEADER DIES IN N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, at one time a leader in the Christian Science Church, died here today at the age of 87. She had been ill for 10 weeks.

ECKENER PLANS 2 NEW ZEPPELINS—BOTH BIGGER

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Oct. 12.—The Graf Zeppelin, now on its way to the United States, has proved itself so successful on the numerous trial flights, that Dr. Hugo Eckener, head of the Zeppelin Airship Building Corporation, plans the immediate construction of two new airships that will be bigger and better than the present one.

The new airships will have a gas content of from 136,000 to 150,000 cubic yards, against only 105,000 cubic yards for the "Graf," Dr. Eckener revealed just before he left for Lakehurst. They will be capable of a speed of 90 miles an hour and will be able to fly 70 hours.

The R-100 and R-101, now being constructed by the Royal Airship works at Cardington, Eng., have a gas content of 141,000 cubic yards, while the Los Angeles has only 75,000 cubic yards.

"The new airships will provide the last passenger comforts which still are missing on the Graf Zeppelin," was the message Dr. Eckener left. "These accommodations will include baths and smoking rooms. Before the war we had nine passenger airships in service, which transported 39,000 passengers over 150,000 miles without an injury to even one passenger. We are much further advanced today than we were before the war. The future belongs to the airships."

Dr. Eckener believes the airplane never will replace the dirigible as a long distance aerial passenger carrier.

CONNELLSVILLE BANK CLEARINGS SHOW GAIN

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 12.—Announcement by the Connellsville Clearing House Association yesterday showed that bank clearings for the year ending August 30 averaged $1,117,800 per week, an increase over the previous year.

DEMOCRATS PUT ON DRIVE

The final drive of the local Democratic party to "put Pittsburgh and Allegheny county in the Al Smith column" now is under way with noon and night meetings in every section of the city and county. The drive is to be topped with the arrival of Gov. Smith here during the final days of the campaign.

Five district meetings are scheduled for tonight in addition to the noon and night meetings in the Smith Club, Seventh street. The district meetings tonight are scheduled for the West View School; the residence of Elizabeth McCabe, 4501 Perrysville avenue; Bellevue Smith headquarters, Liberty School in the Seventh Ward, and in Swissvale. Six enthusiastic meetings were held last night.

SEEKS TO DEPORT ALIEN LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS

Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today declared he would seek to have deported aliens arraigned before him charged with flagrant violations of the prohibition law.

Brandon's declaration was made after he had held for court W. Woronko, 40, of 6 Brady street, charged with violating the Snyder act. Woronko, an unnaturalized Russian, was arrested after Jule Alston, Negro, of Watson street, told police he had obtained liquor at Woronko's place. Police visited Woronko's home and confiscated 25 gallons of moonshine, they testified.

"If it is possible to do so I will have this man deported," said Brandon. "I will notify the immigration authorities to see what can be done."

THANKS TO GIRL, SCHOOL PAPER "SCOOPS" WORLD

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—The Yellow Jacket has scooped the world with the announcement that Waynesburg College students, in a straw vote, favored Herbert C. Hoover, 168 to 52, over Al Smith. Miss Van Dyke MacDowell, Uniontown, editor, insisted that the result of the poll be withheld until the Yellow Jacket, student publication, appeared today.

RETURN OF WIFE, BRIDE OF ANOTHER, WINS DIVORCE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 12.—Appearance of photographs in newspapers in connection with the marriage of Robert Goodwin, nephew of Nat Goodwin, to Betty Marks, of the Hollywood movie colony, won a divorce for James H. Warwick.

Newspaper accounts of the marriage, the principal evidence, showed Goodwin and his bride, with the following caption: "Robert Goodwin, nephew of the late Nat Goodwin, has beaten the record of his uncle by wedding his eighth wife. Nat had only seven. Robert's latest, Betty Marks."

Warwick and Betty Marks were married at Welisburg, W. Va., September 9, 1924, both being residents of New Castle, Pa. She deserted him in 1925, Warwick testified, but he did not know where she was until he saw her pictured as the wife of Robert Goodwin.

FIND STOLEN CLOTHING

Ruth (left) and Carolyn Goldman, sisters, 6356 Burchfield street, today are qualified as detectives since they testified against Mattie Gilbert, Negro maid, who disappeared from the Goldman house with $300 worth of wearing apparel, before Magistrate John W. Orie in Morals Court. They told how they located some of the clothing in her home, 2104 Charles street, and summoned an officer to make the arrest. The woman was held for further investigation.

VETS HEAD FOR MEXICO AS LEGION CONCLAVE ENDS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Veterans of the World War moved on Mexico today in a pleasure-seeking peace-time invasion of the Southern Republic. Close of the tenth annual American Legion convention here found hundreds of the delegates en route to the border for a week-end of entertainment.

Excursions into Mexico and bull fights at several below-the-border points were scheduled activities. One contingent of the veterans will push on to Mexico City for a visit in the capital city.

Paul V. McNutt, 37-year-old dean of the school of law at the University of Indiana, will direct the destinies of the Legion during 1929, succeeding Edward E. Spafford, of New York, retiring commander. He was elected on the third ballot yesterday after two of his chief opponents had withdrawn in his favor.

S. E. Comny, of Fargo, N. D., was selected to head the 40 and 8, fun-making division of the Legion.

A short meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary to wind up the business of that body was the only item on today's program.

Suburban Vote for Hoover

Sentiment in Pitsburgh favoring Gov. Alfred E. Smith is more than matched by sentiment in Allegheny county outside the city in support of Herbert Hoover.

This is evident by scattering returns from boroughs and townships of Allegheny county received in the renewal of the straw vote canvass of the county conducted by The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in connection with the poll of Pennsylvania.

Both candidates have been running strongly in the city wards, with Hoover having some advantage in the returns for the past two days.

The rural districts of the county, on the face of initial returns, are giving Hoover a considerable edge in voting.

Women voters in the city are proportionately divided in their allegiance, but in the districts outside the city a preponderance of women favor the Republican candidate in initial returns. There is a large percentage of women who will vote for the first time this year, it is indicated.

Hoover gains an advantage in the returns for the day, which increase his lead over Smith in the state poll to 17,085, with 77,883 voters from 64 of the 67 counties of the state having cast ballots.

The latest standing of the candidates in the Pennsylvania canvass, part of the nation-wide poll by the Hearst papers, is as follows: Hoover, 47,484, including 37,999 men and 9,485 women; Smith, 30,399, including 23,535 men and 6,864 women.

This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge, 53,116, including 42,445 men and 10,671 women; Davis, 8,658, including 7,295 men and 1,363 women; LaFollette, 4,916; not voting, 11,193.

TESTIFIES FROM STRETCHER

Borne into court on a stretcher, Elmer E. Stover, ice dealer, of 193 Melwood avenue, testified today in his damage suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Injured in a collision between a street car and a truck of a meat packing concern, at Millvale avenue and Baum boulevard, in 1925, Stover has been bedridden since. When he appeared before Judge J. M. Swearingen today he weighed only half of his normal weight of 250 pounds. Internal injuries and an injury to his spine, he testified, has kept him in bed since the accident.

HENRY FORD MAY TAKE RIDE ON GRAF ZEPPELIN

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The trip to the United States of the Graf Zeppelin now on its way to this country from Friedrichshafen, Germany, may mean that Henry Ford will take his first ride in a lighter than air craft.

It was recalled today that four years ago this month, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, having then delivered the dirigible ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, to the United States government, stood at the Ford airport and discussed with Mr. Ford the stamina of lighter-than-air ships.

"The next time you come to Detroit, you should bring your airship with you," said Mr. Ford. "I might be impressed into taking a ride with you."

Detroit is on the itinerary of the Graf Zeppelin on its projected tour after reaching the United States, and thus it is that Mr. Ford may take the ride he spoke of in 1924.

HOOVER WILL APPEAL TO "BUSINESS" AT N. Y.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—A special appeal to business interests to support the Republican party and a restatement of his declaration on religious freedom will feature the address of Herbert Hoover when he invades New York City, the backbone of Gov. Al Smith's territory, on Monday, October 22, it was learned at his headquarters today.

Hoover will make his appeal to "big business" and "little business" on the three cardinal Republican issues of prosperity, economy and efficiency in government. He will touch upon the record of the Coolidge administration in reducing taxes and in refunding war-time indebtedness.

He will stress the danger to business stability in changing governments in the midst of a wave of prosperity. This will be the high light of the address.

The nominee was at work today on the speech, after having secluded himself all day yesterday to begin its preparation. All engagements were cancelled so the nominee could devote himself exclusively to his task.

The Hoover board of strategy meanwhile pondered over the selection of an itinerary for the nominee's trip to the coast to vote.

At present, the strategists are considering invitations to have Hoover speak in Indianapolis, Kansas City or St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis or St. Paul, Denver, Butte, Mont; Ogden, Utah, and either Los Angeles or San Francisco.

At first it was reported Hoover would close the campaign with a speech in San Francisco on the Monday night before the election. Now his advisers favor having him speak in Southern California, preferably in Los Angeles, on the last night. This would permit him a speech in Denver, Butte or Ogden on the Saturday night preceding election.

PGH. MINISTER MADE COLLEGE DIRECTOR

GREENVILLE, Pa., Oct. 12—The Rev. H. N. Bassler, of Wilkinsburg, and T. K. Saylor, of Johnstown, were elected directors of Hood College, Frederick, Md., by the Pittsburgh Synod of the Reformed Church in the United States, which closed its annual meeting here yesterday. The Rev. W. M. Diefenderfer, of Sharon, was elected a trustee to fill the unexpired term of the Rev. A. E. Truxal, of Somerset, who resigned from active duties in the synod at the age of 84 years, after 49 years in synod work.

October 7, 1929, was set as the opening date for the next session, to be held in Meyerstown, at the invitation of the Amity congregation there.

Other officers elected were G. B. Woods, of Curllsville, trustee of the synod; the Rev. J. H. Mickley, Johnstown; the Rev. C. L. Noss, Kittanning, and the Rev. P. J. Dunmore, Greenville, directors of St. Paul's Orphans and Old Folks Home, Greenville; the Rev. B. A. Black, Meyersdale, to the board of beneficiary education; the Rev. W. C. Sykes, Greensburg, visitor to theological seminary; C. E. Zimmerman, Mount Pleasant, trustee of theological seminary; the Rev. W. H. Snyder, Stoyestown, and the Rev. J. H. MELANCHOLY MINER ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

BRIDGEPORT, O., Oct. 12.—Melancholy because of poor health and lack of work as a miner, Balint Balint, 63, committed suicide by shooting as he sat on his porch at Barton, a mining town near here, yesterday. Two neighbors saw him fire the fatal shot. Mrs. Balint and a son live in Cleveland.

STUDENT SAVES 2 IN GAS PIT

VILLANOVA, Pa., Oct. 12.—Eddie Foy, 22-year-old Villanova College sophomore, of Milwaukee, Wis., was hailed as a hero today by his fellow students as an outcome of his rescue of two employes of a gas company from a gas-filled pit near here yesterday, although overcome himself in the task.

The workmen, George Hutton, 22, and William Harmer, 54, of Ardmore, are none the worse for their experience, although unconscious when hauled from the pit. Foy made two trips into the pit while hundreds looked on and was hauled unconscious to safety by a rope tied around his waist after the last man had been pulled out.

MISTAKEN FOR SQUIRREL, W. VA. BOY SHOT, DIES

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 12.—Shot when he was mistaken for a squirrel, Raymond Fout, 13, son of Charles Fout, died at Hoffman Hospital here. The lad was shot by Edward Daugherty while the boys were hunting in a woods near the school building at Shaw.

SHOOTS SELF ON WIFE'S GRAVE, SON FINDS BODY

A taxicab drove into the Beth Shalom Cemetery in Anderson road, Shaler township, today and an elderly, sad-faced man, whose features betrayed a grim determination, stepped out. He walked in hurried steps to the grave of his wife and he stood there for several minutes, looking now to the heavens, now at the black earth that held his dearest friend. And then he took from a pocket a revolver and shot himself through the temple. His body dropped across his wife's grave. Morris Rosenblum was with Fannie again.

Morris Rosenblum was an East End furrier and Fannie Rosenblum was his wife, who died in Atlantic City three months ago. He was 56. Their home was at 1237 North Highland avenue. They had three children.

One of the children, Herman, was 24 today. This morning the father said he was going to his store. Herman, on his birthday, decided to visit his mother's grave. It was he who found the body.

MELLON CALLS LEADERSHIP SOLE VOTE ISSUE

HOLDS G. O. P. BEST FITTED, HOOVER RECORD SUFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—In the opinion of Secretary Mellon, the presidential campaign offers the voter but a single issue—whether Republican or Democratic leadership is better qualified to administer the government of the United States through the next four years.

Making the second political speech of his entire career by radio last night, the Treasury head reviewed what he looked upon as the accomplishments of the Harding-Coolidge administration, and declared it had constituted a complete fulfillment of the Republican promise that the government should be conducted "economically and in accord with sound business principles."

Nearly eight years of close association with Herbert Hoover has convinced him, Mr. Mellon said, that the Republican nominee "will give the nation a sound and successful administration of the government and that he is supremely well qualified to deal with those great economic problems that influence so directly and to such a very large extent the prosperity of the country and the comfort, welfare and happiness of the people."

"The Democratic candidate has told you what he proposes to do," Mellon said. "The Republican candidate, Mr. Hoover, is in the fortunate position of being able to tell you not only what he will do but what he and the administration, of which he has been an important part, have already done. He offers you an unparalleled record of constructive achievement; and, on that record, he and the Republican party ask you for your continued confidence and support.

"Promises Fulfilled"

"What has that record been? in the first place, it has been a complete fulfilment of the promise which the Republican party made that the government should be administered economically and in accord with accepted business principles, and that the affairs of the country should be put on a sound basis, so that confidence might return and the march of progress might be resumed after the long interval of war.

"That the administration has made good its promise is best attested by the fact that today the finances both of the government and of the country are in a sound condition.

"Under the present administration taxes have been materially lowered on four occassions. Expenditures have been cut. The public debt has been reduced so that it is no longer a heavy burden on the taxpayers.

"The nation has been given the benefit of a protective tariff; and during the entire period the country has moved steadily forward, getting further and further away from the unsettled conditions which prevailed in 1921, when the present Republican administration took office.

"At that time the whole economic structure seemed in need of readjustment. Now, after nearly eight years, it is possible to judge of what has been accomplished. Not only has the nation passed through this difficult period of post-war readjustment, but during the last three or four years it has enjoyed one of the most properous periods in its history.

'Prosperity Unparalleled'

"In no other nation and at no other time in the history of the world have so many people enjoyed such a high degree of prosperity or maintained a standard of living comparable to that which prevails throughout this country today.

"Our highways are crowded with automobiles, and statistics show that the number of passenger car registrations have more than doubled in the last seven years.

"Savings deposits have nearly doubled, and bank deposits have increased from 39 billion dollars in 1921 to 56 billion in 1927."

Going into details of what he described as administration accomplishments, Mellon said that taxes had been removed from two and one-half million citizens with total reductions of eighteen hundred million dollars, or five million dollars a day; that great reductions had been made in government expenditures; that the public debt had been reduced over six billions of dollars and that the eleven billion dollars of foreign debts had been settled.

"Credit for Farmer"

"Another important policy of the administration has been to provide adequate credit for agriculture," he added. "Through the War Finance Corporation, the intermediate credit banks, and the banks of the farm loan system, ample credit has been provided on easy terms and at low interest rates. This is one of the vital elements in the farm problem and places at the farmer's disposal adequate banking facilities.

"It does not, of course, solve those other problems of organization, distribution, and disposal of surplus, which are responsible for so many of the farmer's present troubles. These problems must and will be solved in other ways.

"There are three other things which should be mentioned in connection with the government's financial policies.

"The war claims against Germany and Austria have been settled in a way satisfactory to those nations, as well as to ourselves; the loans made to our railroads during the war have been nearly all repaid; and the charters of the Federal Reserve banks have been renewed, thus insuring a continuation of the banking system under which we were able to finance the war and to pass safely through the reconstruction period.

"I would like to make it clear that in the renewal of the charters of the Federal Reserve banks, the administration had the cooperation and support of Democrats as well as Republicans, in Congress.

Raps Smith View

"Such is the record of the administration as regards its financial policies. It is constructive record and one that speaks for itself. And yet Gov. Smith and other Democratic speakers not only seek to withhold credit from the Coolidge administration for its undisputed achievements, such as reducing debts, taxes and expenditures, but apparently do not approve that record.

"They are careful not to specify in what respect they would change it, but content themselves with the charge that nearly eight years of good government and mounting prosperity do not, in their opinion, constitute a record of 'constructive' achievement.

"I submit that it is constructive record in the best sense of the word.

Task Difficult

"Success was not achieved in this instance without a fight.

"Take the question of reduction of taxes and reform of the tax system, or reduction of the public debt, or the settlement of the foreign debts. All of these measures helped in building up that feeling of confidence which has been no small factor in promoting prosperity during the last three or four years.

"Looking at them in restrospect each one of these steps would seem not only simple and logical but inevitable; and yet the administration was opposed at each step of the way in trying to carry out these policies.

"The Republican party has given a notable instance of platform promises which have been carried out.

"Under the leadership of President Coolidge, it has proved itself a party of constructive ability. In Mr. Hoover, it offers to the country an able and experienced leader, who will carry on the work of the present administration.

Lauds Hoover

"After a long and successful business career, he has held many public and official positions of the greatest responsibility. He has proved himself a great organizer, a far-seeing and resourceful executive, and has discharged every duty in a way to merit the highest praise and admiration.

"Based on nearly eight years of close association with him, I am convinced that he will give the nation a sound and successful administration of the government and that he is supremely well qualified to deal with those great economic problems that influence so directly and to such a very large extent the prosperity of the country and the comfort, welfare and happiness of the people."

LEG BROKEN BY TRUCK, WOMAN SUES OWNER

Jean Fargo has brought suit against the Sterling Motor Truck Company, asking $20,000 damages for a leg fractured by a truck. The accident occurred in Forbes street, near Bellefield avenue, May 31, while she was crossing the street. Her counsel is Louis M. Goehring.

TARENTUM SUICIDE LAID TO MONEY LOSS

Despondency over financial reverses is believed to have led Harry Rice, 60, of 1113 Park street, Tarentum, to hang himself in the attic of his home last night. His wife found him suspended from a clothesline, according to the coroner's report.

G. O. P. TO HOLD THREE RALLIES

Three rallies in support of the Republican national and state candidates will be held tonight in various parts of the county. The issues of the campaign will be discussed by able speakers and from information received at the Republican headquarters in the Hotel Henry there will be a large attendance of voters. Following is the schedule:

Cheswick school auditorium, Freeport road: Speakers, Sara M. Soffel and J. W. Johnston; chairman, Mrs. Clara V. Markey.

Republican headquarters of Elizabeth borough, Plum street, Elizabeth: Speakers, Campaign Chairman William H. Coleman, Ralph H. Smith and Miss Suzanne Beatty; chairman, Arthur Stoehr.

At 2022 Brownsville road: Speaker, A. W. Powell.

GREENE COUNTY WOOL CLIP IS 900,000 LBS.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—The Greene county wool clip this year was in excess of 900,000 pounds, wool buyers estimated. The average price paid was 41 cents per pound, slightly lower than the average price of the 1927 clip.

NO HOLIDAY FOR COURTS, TOO BUSY, JUDGE RULES

Although nearly all of the county offices are closed today on account of the Columbus Day holiday, both the Criminal and Common Pleas Courts are running under a full head of steam in efforts to catch up with the large number of cases awaiting trial.

There had been no thought of stopping the work of Criminal Court, where four Allegheny county and two visiting judges are busy with 1,200 indictments, but Attorney Frank C. McGirr offered a motion late yesterday that Common Pleas Court adjourn. Judge Thomas D. Carnahan, consulting the other judges, failed to allow the motion.

The clerk of courts' office, on account of its close relation with criminal courts, remained open, but the prothonotary's office, where records of the Common Pleas courts are kept, was closed. The treasurer's, deed recorder's and other offices were closed, but the district attorney's office and sheriff's office knew no holiday.

TWO YOUTHS KILLED AS AUTO HITS TREE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 12.—When their auto crashed into a tree and was hurled 50 feet onto a railroad track, near Bethesda, John Telekes, 18, driver, and Carl Star, 15, Bethesda High School student, were killed. Hobart Brooks, 15, another student, was injured. The latter two were standing on the running board when the Telekes youth swerved to avoid hitting a truck.

GIRLS' KNICKERS WORRY BURGESS OUT OF HIS JOB

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 12.—Because children play in the streets and young girls wear knickers in recreation on school lawns, Edward C. Nevergold no longer wants to be burgess of the borough of Beaver. Town Council has his resignation.

It isn't because the burgess objects to these things that he wants to quit. He is so busy listening to complaints of them that he scarcely has time, he says, for his private business and his personal activities. "I am," says the burgess, "driven to exasperation by petty criticism and trifling annoyances."

DOLMAN FARM BARN BURNS

A horse was burned to death and a two-story frame barn destroyed last night on the estate of Harry Dolman, near the intersection of Verona boulevard and Sandy Creek road, Penn township.

Members of the Rosedale Volunteer Fire Company pumped water from a swimming pool on the estate but were unable to save the barn. They kept the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Patrolman Samuel Bickerstaff with a number of volunteer assistants kept the heavy traffic moving in the two highways.

SLUM ENEMIES OUTLINE AIMS

The purposes and ideals of the Pittsburgh Housing Association were outlined by John Ihlder, executive director, yesterday at the first meeting of the organization which took place following a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel. The group aims to better the average standard of living in Pittsburgh and to eliminate slum conditions. M. W. Acheson, Jr., president of the organization, presided.

OUTFIT SEIZED IN DRY RAID DECLARED FORFEIT

Fifty-seven truck loads of barrels, bottles, cardboard cartons and other property, including 18,000 alleged counterfeit strip stamps, and 20 gallons of whisky, seized May 10 by prohibition agents in the warehouse of the Feitler Bottle Company, Watson street, have been ordered forfeited to the government by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker.

The court directed Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Richardson to prepare a forfeiture decree, after an all day hearing yesterday. The government contended that the property was handled for the purpose of violating the prohibition law.

Manfred Feitler and Ike Danovitz, owners of the company, denied the allegations, but neither attempted to explain the possession of the whisky strip stamps, drawing comment from the court.

Federal prohibition agents extended their activities to Johnstown and vicinity yesterday raiding five hotels and visiting a club for the second time in six days. They reported making six arrests on evidence of liquor sales.

The enforcement officers also visited a store in Brown avenue, Turtle Creek, arresting Ernest Goldstein, 42, they said, after finding 90 gallons of whisky in a garage near his store. They reported also confiscating wine and homebrew at a dwelling in Bell avenue, North Braddock.

KDKA GETS NO REPLY FROM ZEPPELIN

Up to a late hour this afternoon, station KDKA, acting as official informant to the German government on the progress of the trans-Atlantic flight of the Graf Zeppelin, had not picked up any word from the giant ship. Throughout the day the Pittsburgh radio station broadcast messages to the crew of the Zeppelin and also radioed bulletins of the flight's progress to Germany and to American listeners-in. At 3 o'clock another such bulletin was broadcast from the station. Others will be sent out at 4, 5, 6 and 7 p. m., with still others at various intervals after 7 o'clock tonight.

The radio reports to Germany are sent over the station's 25-meter experimental wavelength, which gets good reception in that country day or night.

The station here was designated informant for the German government by the National Broadcasting Company, New York, which organization has been requested by the German republic to send back radio reports as to the ship's whereabouts. Because of its unusual facilities, KDKA was selected, it is said.

The Zeppelin has radio facilities operating on a 600-meter standard wave length and on a long wave length between 1,600 and 2,400 meters. Call letters of the ship are DENNE.

VICKERMAN ELECTED BIBLE CLASS LEADER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Hoover and Curtis were indorsed by the Pennsylvania State Adult Bible Class Federation in convention here. John W. Vickerman, of Bellevue, was elected president of the federation, and Johnstown was selected for the next mid-year meeting, April 13 and 14, 1929. Other officers chosen included R. E. English, Grove City, first vice president; Mrs. C. L. Salyards, Altoona, secretary; H. Cupp, Johnstown, treasurer, and H. C. Cridland, Pittsburgh, field secretary. Fayette and Indiana counties received honorable mention in meeting the requirements, the former listed at 100 per cent and the latter at 96.

NAME AD WINNERS SUNDAY; END NEXT ZAIN TEST OCT. 17

The judges are busy today weighing the relative merits of the advertisements sent to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph during the second period of the Zain Ad-Test.

The prizes for the period, consisting of a first prize of $100 in cash and 195 other prizes—five for the five best ads about each of the 39 firms participating in the project—will be announced Sunday.

All these prizes are to be given by this newspaper, not by the concerns advertised; but some of these concerns will give special prizes on their own account.

Specimens of the winning advertisements will be published Monday.

In response to numerous requests that the third period of the test terminate after one week, like the first and second periods, instead of running for two weeks, with double prizes, as had been planned, it will come to a close at midnight next Wednesday, October 17.

A cash prize of $100 and 300 other prizes will be given for the best ads submitted in the third period. Ads received after midnight next Wednesday will be automatically entered for the fourth period, and so on.

The value of the prizes to be issued during the entire test totals $15,000. The grand prize of $1,000 in cash will be awarded at the conclusion of the last period.

Professional ad writers and newspaper employes are barred from the test. It is for amateurs only, and they are not expected to know anything about technical matters. It is the idea that counts. A few words may be enough.

Study carefully the rules for the ad-test and the list of business concerns about whom the ads must be written. They will be found elsewhere on this page. To be eligible for the grand prize of $1,000 in cash you must write an ad about each of the 39 in the list some time during the campaign. Visit their stores; use their service; become acquainted with their goods. There is no better way in which to gather material for your ads.

The Gainaday Electric Washer is a local product which you should investigate. You can see one at the Gainaday store in the Jenkins Arcade or at 6104 Penn avenue, East End. Ask for a demonstration of the machine and get the descriptive folder. The Gainaday differs from other electric washers. Find out what the points of difference are.

In writing about title insurance, which should be the subject of your ad for the Potter Title and Mortgage Guarantee Company, reflect on the danger there is in acquiring a piece of real estate without first making sure you have a good title. One little flaw, which none, perhaps, but a trained attorney would detect, may result in the loss of the property.

The delicious taste of Dunlevy's Pork Sausage—and, what is equally important, the cleanness of the factory in which it is made and of the workmen who make it—make it easy to write enthusiastic ads for the Dunlevy-Franklin Company. Try some of the sausage for breakfast. It is made of the meat of young pigs, seasoned according to an old-fashioned farm formula.

One of the best selling points for the United Laundries, 1209 Chateau street, North Side, is that clothes or other materials sent them for washing not only come back spotlessly clean but undamaged. You do not find buttons missing from a garment that has been laundered by the United. The United Laundries relieve the housewife of drudgery.

Write each advertisement on a separate sheet of paper, at least as large as a postal card and preferably commercial letter size. Write your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

BRUSH FIRE IMPERILS BIG GUNS AND SHELLS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—(INS.)—Brush fire on the rifle range at Fort Barry today kept more than 500 soldiers battling desperately to save batteries of 12-inch guns and large supplies of ammunition. Responsibility for the conflagration has not yet been determined.

SPECIAL PRIZES

The following special prizes, in addition to the $15,000 in prizes originally announced, are offered in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Zain Ad-Test:

POTTER TITLE & MORTGAGE GUARANTEE CO. offer $10 in gold to each writer of the five best ads submitted on the subject of "Title Insurance" during the entire Ad-Test.

YELLOW CAB CO. (Court 5700), offer a book of Yellow Cab coupons for best ad each period.

MAX AZEN offers a $100 Fox Scarf for the best ad on their store during the entire Ad-Test. If the $1,000 grand prize ad is about their store the writer will receive a $500 natural squirrel coat.

B. K. ELLIOTT CO. offer a pair of binoculars for the best ad written about their business during entire Ad test; a Moore Pen Desk Set for second best ad; and a fountain pen for each of the three best ads each period.

HALLER BAKING CO. offer a book of ten tickets for Haller's Special Family Bread for each of the five best ads each period, exclusive of the five newspaper winners.

FEDERAL TOBACCO CO. will give one box Arco Specials to each of five winners on this product each period.

TECH ICE CREAM will give a gallon of ice cream for each of the five best ads on their product each period, exclusive of the first five winners selected by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

CRUIKSHANK BROS. offer one case of "Cru-Bro" Jelly (2 doz.) for each of the five best ads submitted each period, as selected by this concern.

HOWARD $22.50

Howard tailors a better garment—and the minute you try it on, you'll know it's better!

Howard's Ritz has a close-fitting collar, loose-rolled lapels, slightly fitted back. It's one of this year's biggest sellers.

Howard's 8011 Blue Whitney Overcoat, made from genuine Metcalfe Mills Whitney cloth, 33 ounces. Tube model—3-button.

$22.50

Howard's Tuxedo includes your choice of a ribbed, flowered or figured silk vest. Satin lined—sizes to 50 stout.

$22.50

Howard puts hand-work into a garment where others use sewing machines. Howard buys the imported and domestic fine worsteds while others use sleazy soft materials that don't stand the gaff. Howard designs a really smart looking garment (our designer is one of the highest paid in America), while others make the same old styles, year in and year out. Yet, men who haven't worn Howard Clothes sometimes say: "I guess these $22.50 clothes are all alike." The plain fact of the matter is this: Howard tailors a better garment out of better fabric—and the minute you try it on, you'll know it's better!

These Seven Howard Extras tell a big value story to men who want to save money on good clothes: First—Howard Camel Hair Topcoat at $22.50; never matched below $50. Second—Howard Satin coat lining replaced if it wears out in two years. Third—Howard Tuxedo includes a ribbed, flowered or figured silk vest. Fourth—Fifty per cent of all Howard Suits have two pair of trousers. Fifth—Sizes up to 50 stout, alterations free if you need them. Sixth—Fine imported heavy linen canvas and non-pull haircloth used. Seventh—Howard guarantees a full refund if you're not satisfied.

Our Daily Short Story

Bitter Bread Turns Sweet

By LILA DELNORD

DAVID SLINGSBY told his wife about his brother Ezra's letter, written in pencil on cheap, lined, tablet paper, "Sick, broke and no place to go," he said without emotion. "Let's see, he must be nearly 60." With narrowed eyes he watched her face, which was remarkably young and pretty for a mother of a daughter of 20. He thought he saw her mouth tighten a little and then relax as if resigned to an unpleasant fate.

"Has he the money for the railroad fare?" David detected a faint mixture of tolerance and irritation in his wife's voice.

"No," he answered brusquely, and the brief silence that followed weighed heavily upon him. The air seemed full of previous railroad tickets sent to his relatives.

"Your insurance comes due on the first," Nell broke the silence with a calm, practical voice that to David was but a dike holding back her real emotions, "but I have some money I was going to use to buy Alice a dress. Take part of it for the fare and save the rest for shoes, he'll probably need them." She might have added, "Your relatives always do when they come."

David nodded. Yes, Ted coming back from the war had needed shoes and a visit to the dentist, and his widowed sister and her children had needed the same, and before that his mother—"What about the dress for for Alice?" he asked unevenly.

"Oh, I have some material on hand, I'll find time to make her something out of that!" He know how Nell despised dressmaking.

Because he hated to take that money, because he felt that he was always putting new burdens on her shoulders, never getting the advancement in business he had hoped for, he said harshly, "Well, aren't we going to eat tonight?"

Throughout the dinner he silently blamed himself for having stayed with one firm all his life. If he had changed, he might be further. He tried to tell himself that if Mr. Eaton, the owner, had not retired, he would be manager now, at least, Nell insisted upon having it that way. The new manager, a brisk young man called Hays, worked at a speed that made David doubt his own ability of filling the place. "The proverbial new broom," Nell had scoffed, "just wait, he won't last long and then you'll get the place!" It was not the position that he and Nell wanted so much as the salary. With Alice in college, two growing boys and 12-year-old Margie making new demands daily the sturdiest budget system was constantly being wiped out by the storm of extra expenses. And now Ezra was coming. That meant Bert must bunk in with Lee, and Nell would have her hands full keeping the peace between her two lively sons.

A few days later Ezra arrived with a shabby, ancient-looking bag and a front tooth missing. He did not look strong but he seemed cheerful and remarkably independent. On the way from the station he stopped to remove a stone from a hole in the sole of his shoe. David, waiting until the operation was finished, grew a shade more depressed. He was worried about his position, too. Hays, working at a feverish speed, was irritable and abrupt. Yesterday, he had dismissed a clerk of long standing in service.

Ezra said: "I'll rest up for a few days and then I'm going to see Mr. Eaton. Knew him well as a boy and I did him a favor one time."

David shook his head. "Mr. Eaton had a stroke a few months ago and has retired from business. If you want work I can speak to the new manager, we might need a night watchman."

Ezra laughed scornfully. "I sleep at night and enjoy the daylight."

"Well, you don't need to work, Ezra. We've a nice back yard, raising a few vegetables, and the fences needs mending. Nell loves flowers, too."

"I'm not much of a handy man," the older brother told him curtly.

In the privacy of their room that night Nell asked gently, "David, what's worrying you? We'll get used to Ezra, he isn't so bad. In fact he has more spunk than you. What you need, is a vacation."

Vacation! He might get the kind he feared—dismissal. Suddenly he was panic-stricken that she might read his thoughts and another burden be placed upon her shoulders. "Nell, listen to those boys! Go in and settle them, will you?" And when she came back he pretended to be asleep.

Two days passed of intense suspense in business, imagining every minute Hays would call him into his private office to dismiss him. At home they listened to Ezra's colorful tales of the past while Nell put enormous patches on his underwear. Alice had written enclosing another bill for books and Margie was begging to go to a girls' camp after school closed. David realized how it all worried Nell. Instead of lessening her burdens, he added new expence. There was Ezra who looked like a permanent guest.

On the third day David was actually called into Hays' private office. The young manager was nervous, almost distracted. His big desk was covered with papers and he had one pencil behind his ear and another in his restless fingers. He began to talk at once about a certain machine in the mill that was not working properly. David told him quietly that the machine was out of date and incapable of handling the amount of work.

"Look here, Slingsby," the manager burst out rather explosively, "I can't do everything. Another month of this and I'll have a breakdown. I need help." He frowned at his desk while David waited. "Out in Cleveland at the Fern plant is just the machine

Bitter Bread Turns Sweet

By LILA DELNORD

we need. Can't you go there and look it over? Stay a few days and see how it works. I can't go, besides you know all about it. The fact is, Slingsby, I need an assistant. You've got to turn more of your work over to the clerks, I mean the routine stuff. I must have help with all this correspondence and traveling. You're the logical man to fill the place. Go out to Cleveland next week and stay over Sunday, look the machine over thoroughly. Don't be in a hurry; take your wife along. And—about an increase in your salary—if you'll go down to the cashier, you'll find a check there due you. I've dated your raise back to the first of the year."

David's happiness was like a fresh baked cake, warm and sweet. He longed for the moment when he could present it to Nell as a partial compensation for her patience and kindness to the never-ending line of his relatives that came to their house.

It was Margie, eyes aflame with news, who met him at the back gate as he hurried in, eager for Nell. "Daddy! Uncle Ezra is wheeling old Mr. Eaton all over town. They seem to be having a grand time, I guess Uncle Ezra is telling Mr. Eaton all about his experiences in Brazil. Anyway, Uncle Ezra is getting $18 a week for it! And he says he's moving over to Mr. Eaton's garage because there's a private bath and he's used to that!"

Smiling, David kissed her and then rushed into the house. Nell met him at the kitchen door, a crumpled letter in her hand and a weary, almost despairing look in her pretty eyes. "David, David!" she began before he could say a word, "here's a letter from my Aunt Kate. Her son died, and she's all alone and don't know where to go. She hasn't even the railroad fare, and most probably she'll need shoes—" Something between a laugh and a sob caught in Nell's throat.

Margie swinging on the old back gate, turned as she heard her father's rare laugh and then stared in amazement as she saw him lift his wife clear from the ground and kiss her cheeks and mouth. But she did not hear him say, "Nell, darling, your Aunt Kate, she's the icing on my cake of happiness!"

How To Be Beautiful by Maria Jeritza

Let Milk Serve Your Loveliness

WHATEVER builds up your health enhances your beauty. I know this statement sounds bromidic, but it is worth repeating over and over.

Milk, the "perfect food," by benefiting your health, will build beauty for you. Like green vegetables and citric fruits, milk contains an abundance of vitamines, and vitamines impart pep and energy and clear color.

MARIA JERITZA

If you are overweight you may prefer to drink your milk skimmed—that is, separated from its cream content. Skimmed milk loses little except its fattening qualities in the skimming process.

Buttermilk also is practically nonfattening, and is a valuable complexion aid because of its mineral elements. Drinking six glasses of buttermilk each day should soon clear the most blotched or mottled complexion, unless it is in need of medical attention. If you cannot get genuine buttermilk chemically treated sour milk, which most dairies supply, will answer the same purpose.

Of course, the under-nourished girl needs milk with all its cream if she is to gain weight, energy and color. The average woman, who is neither fat nor thin, should drink at least one pint of pasteurized grade A milk every day, to supply any possible deficiencies in her diet, feed her nerves and aid her complexion.

Unless you are fortunate enough to live in the country and own your own healthy cow, buy milk that is either pasteurized or certified, grade A bottled milk. Loose milk may be a little cheaper, but it is almost always dirty, even though you cannot see the dirt, and it is easily polluted and infected, making it positively dangerous to drink.

A taste for milk, like any other taste, can be cultivated. Drink milk between meals when you are thirsty. A cup of hot milk is a wise substitute for coffee if you are troubled with insomnia. A bowl of crackers and milk makes an ideal light luncheon.

Milk, buttermilk and cream can be applied to the skin much as cold cream is used. Buttermilk has slightly astringent and bleaching qualities and helps to fade freckles. All three of these lotions are refreshing, softening and nourishing to the skin. But because they turn sour and smell unpleasant they should not be left on long. Apply any one of them with absorbent cotton, leave it on your face 10 minutes, then remove the excess with more absorbent cotton. Next, rinse your face with very warm and finally with softened cold water.

Possibly not all of us can afford expensive beauty treatments. But who cannot afford one quart of pasteurized milk daily as an investment in health and beauty!

Notes About Amusements in Pittsburgh Theaters Combined With News Emanating From Studios of Hollywood

John Gilbert to Produce Own Starring Pictures As United Artists Member

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12.

IT IS now definite that United Artists will add one more great screen star to its galaxy when Jack Gilbert's Metro contract expires next spring. Jack will join the famous cinema aggregation as an independent unit, just like Gloria Swanson and the rest. He will produce his own pictures, be at liberty to select his own stories, his own cast and his own director. Also he makes his own profits—or shoulders his own losses.

It is reported that the organization was particularly anxious to include Jack's name among its members, and made him every concession he asked in order to bring him into the fold. Nothing has been said regarding Jack's first United Artists' photoplay, but he has several vehicles under consideration, at least one of which he has wished for years to bring to the screen.

Latest information is that Marie Prevost will not play in "College Coquette" after all. Marceline Day will get the part. A stormy scene with one of the executives of Columbia ended with Marie walking out of the studio and leaving the company searching for a new star. The differences of opinion seem to have resulted from misunderstandings regarding Marie's leading man, the number of costumes she was to supply for the picture, and other things. It is understood that Ben Lyon has been approached to star in the film, which would indicate some change in story which would make the leading character a man rather than a girl.

Meantime Marie is busily engaged making dialog stuff which will be inserted in "The Godless Girl." About two reels are to be made with talking sequences. She has also taken tests for a role in "Ellis Island," the new Jannings' film.

When Florence Vidor completes "Tong War" it is probable that she will be co-starred with Richard Dix in "The Wheel of Chance," a James Bernard Fagin yarn now being adapted by John Farrow. Florence was to appear in "Unconquered" with Dix, but at present this vehicle has been at least temporarily abandoned.

The Fox newspaper story, tentatively titled "Newspaper," and to be directed by Fred Newmeyer, will have in its cast Robert Elliott, Sally Phipps, Francis McDonald and Joe Brown. Sally, still a kid, has a long film career behind her. She was born in San Francisco, and at the age of six appeared in some of the old "Broncho Billy" Anderson western thrillers.

Ramon Navarro has signed a new Metro contract which calls for his exclusive services six months in every year. The rest of the time Ramon may have for himself to do as he wishes—except, of course, that he musn't play in pictures. It is the star's intention to make a number of song records in New York, and then journey to Berlin to continue his musical studies.

Lina Basquette was asked by a reporter when and where she intended to marry Pev Marley, who will soon be a director in his own right. And for the first time Lina admitted that "it won't be long now." Of course, she may have been just foolin', but her friends believe that she means what she says, and are prophesying a world of happiness for the "baby star" and her attractive boy friend.

Anna Q. Nilsson has left for a Catalina Island location trip, and will be gone for 10 days making "Blockade," which George Seitz is directing. Anna Q. still requires slight aid from a cane which she uses each morning until the weakened muscles of her injured leg get stretched and strengthened.

Gary Cooper, Lupe Velez and Louis Wolheim are more Hollywooders off on location. They are in the wilds making "The Wolf Song" and won't be around for some time.

Robert Armstrong finished in "Shady Lady" has begun work on "Leathernecks." Bob spent his between-pictures vacation posing for a lot of "stills" on the Pathe lot.

Ricardo Cortez and Alma Bennett will go into production on a Tiffany-Stahl special before October 1. Its title is "New Orleans." Naturally enough, it is a drama of the turf and the bangtails. Reginald Barker will direct.

SHAW SATIRE LISTED

The cast for "Arms and the Man" is headed by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. They will be supported by Ernest Cossart, Jane Wheatley, Hortense Alden, Elliot Cabot and Hannam Clark. This Bernard Shaw satire will be presented as fourth in the Theater Guild season in the Nixon next week.

In his comedy sketch, "I Think You Touch," booked for the Davis vaudeville next week, Harry Burns is assisted by Helene Grant and Tony De Luca. The photoplay will be "Heart to Heart," featuring Lloyd Hughes, Mary Astor and Louise Fazenda.

"The Skull," in the Pitt this week, had runs both in New York and Philadelphia. It closes here Saturday night.

There will be but three more performance of the popular operetta, "Blossom Time," in the Alvin—tonight and the matinee and evening performances tomorrow.

PAWNS WATCH, BUYS POISON TO END LIFE

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 12.—After pawning his watch to buy poison tablets, Max Kreps, 34, of Williamsport, Md., a barber, ended his life by swallowing the capsules, telling his sister, Mrs. James Lucas, they were headache powders. He had been estranged from his wife and was despondent, relatives said.

Weather Conditions.

The eastern high pressure area increased further in pressure, but remained practically stationary. Highest barometer is 30.40 inches, at Elkins and Wytheville. It is still producing clear skies and mild temperatures east of the Mississippi.

The Northwest high developed down into the Rocky Mountain states and Plains states, causing a decided drop in temperature as far south as Southern Colorado and Southern Kansas. The freezing line extends as far south as Northern Colorado and eastward to Minnesoto. The snowfall was heavy in Wyoming; Lander, reporting 18.0 inches on the ground. Rain fell over most of the Plains states during yesterday and last night, and it is raining this morning in Minnesota, Iowa and Colorado, and snowing in Wyoming.

A trough of low pressure extends from the upper Mississippi valley southwestward to the far Southwest, separating the eastern and western highs.

River Conditions.

The rivers continue at low stages. Stage at Pittsburgh is 9.7 feet; dam No. 2, 5.6, and Dam No. 6, 7.4. The dams are up.

WEST VIRGINIA D. A. R. NAMES TWO OFFICERS

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 12.—(A.P.)—Selection of Wheeling as the meeting place for 1929 and re-election of all but two officers concluded the twenty-third annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution in West Virginia here. The two new officers named by the organization were Mrs. Monroe J. Rathbone, Parkersburg, registrar, and Mrs. D. E. French, Bluefield, state chaplain.

WELLSBURG ROMANCE NOW IN DIVORCE COURT

Another Wellsburg marriage has gone on the rocks, it was revealed yesterday when Mrs. Ellen L. Donch, 21, of 3178½ Brighton road, asked the court to free her from Hubert A. Donch. She said her husband had not been heard from for two years. At the time of the marriage on October 15, 1923, Donch was employed in a dental laboratory. Mrs. Donch, ticket seller in a movie house, says her husband left three times before he went for good.

STEEL LEADER SUPPORTS HOOVER

Stating in an interview that "contrary to precedent, business has been prosperous all summer, and is constantly getting better, which indicates it has no fear of a change in the administration at Washington, and neither have I," Willis L. King, senior vice president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, and vice president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, declared his support of Hoover and Curtis.

"The continuation of prosperity under an adequate protective tariff," Mr. King sees as "the only real issue in the campaign, with its supreme importance, especially to the millions of men whose only capital is the work of their hands or brains."

"Anti-prohibition is a political myth," Mr. King said, "not to be attained in this election and may be lightly considered. Prohibition, however, is a great moral question bearing equally on both parties and should not have been made a political issue."

Mr. King, who is one of the principal stockholders of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, active in its management, especially in sales and distribution for nearly 60 years, recalls the "distressful" days under Democratic tariff laws when men in Pittsburgh, many of them professional men, were given emergency work in the public parks and on other public jobs at $1 a day to support life, and says: "Such men will not trade a mythical glass of beer or wine for a full pay envelope."

TARIFF ONLY ISSUE

"I am glad of this opportunity to call attention to the only real issue in this campaign," said Mr. King, "namely, the continuation of prosperity and its running-mate, an adequate protective tariff, with its supreme importance, especially to the millions of men whose only capital is the work of their hands or brain. Such men, of all others, should not permit the prohibition question to blind them to their material and permanent prosperity. Prohibition is a great moral question, bearing equally on both parties, and should not have been made a political issue. Gov. Smith has chosen to go beyond his party platform and make opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment his chief claim for support, laying himself open to the charge of political expediency; for he well knows, and has admitted in his Omaha speech, that he would be unable, personally, to change the law. The tariff, on the other hand, is a living issue, absolutely vital to prosperity and, therefore, of supreme importance to every one, whatever his station or occupation.

"I have no doubt about the votes of men old enough to remember the distressful years following the Democratic tariff of 1894. They do not forget the millions of unemployed, when wages for common labor fell to $1.15 per day; when soup and bread stations were established, and many cities, including Pittsburgh, gave emergency work in the parks and elsewhere at $1.00 per day to relieve the situation. Nor those who can remember the Underwood tariff of 1913, from which we fortunately escaped economic disaster by the World War of 1914. Such men will not trade a mythical glass of beer or wine for a full pay envelope.

"Such a situation may well seem incredible to the younger generation of men and women, who have lived only in prosperity; but this condition can come again through unwise tariff legislation, modified, doubtless, by the greater wealth of the country, nevertheless, undesirable and preventable.

ANTI-PROHIBITION A MYTH

"Since the beginning of the Republic, the two major parties, whatever named, have been divided on the question of tariff and free trade, and still are, although the Houston convention took a few halting steps from its traditional policy; but the new tariff, to be effective, must be framed by the Republican party, its lifelong friend and defender. To the younger generation of voters, some of whom may favor the legalized sale of liquor, I appeal to consider all the issues, and, after full consideration, vote as their judgment and conscience dictates.

"Politically, anti-prohibition is a myth not to be attained in this election, and may be lightly considered, except for the effect it may have on the all-important issue, tariff and prosperity.

"You have asked my opinion o. the result of the election. It seems to me that the Republican candidates and platform have made an unusual appeal to the American people, irrespective of conditions of life. The prosperity of all the people, and especially of the great army of workmen, is a goal which can most certainly be secured by the success of its candidates and principles. My observation is, that the farmer is becoming convinced that his products will have a more adequate tariff protection if framed by the Republicans, and that some workable plan will be adopted to better his condition. That the manufacturer who is suffering from foreign competition below his cost, can confidently expect a revision of the tariff that will at least put him on a competitive basis. That the man whose capital is his labor, believes he will more certainly retain his profitable job, and better his prospects, under a tariff that will protect his labor and its product. Finally, contrary to precedent, business has been prosperous all summer, and is constantly getting better, which indicates it has no fear of a change in the administration at Washington, and neither have I."

'FRANCE IS CHILDISH'—HEARST

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The French are "acting like spoiled children" in the deportation of Harold J. T. Horan, Universal Service and Hearst newspaper correspondent, for publishing the secret Franco-British naval agreement, William Randolph Hearst declared here today.

Mr. Hearst was interviewed at the conclusion of a conference with President Coolidge which lasted for half an hour. Earlier in the day he conferred with Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

When asked about the now celebrated Horan case, Mr. Hearst said that although it was reported that the French had temporarily canceled the deportation order, he had directed Horan to return to the United States.

"I told Horan to come home," he said. "I am afraid those antagonistic people over there will put him in jail and I do not want him to have that worry, discomfort or inconvenience."

BLAME BRITISH

The secret document revealed by the Hearst newspapers disclosed in detail an agreement between the French and British to remove any limit on the construction of ships peculiarly suited to the needs of those two nations. The agreement has since been rejected by the United States government as incompatible with the defense of this country.

Mr. Hearst was told by his interviewers that here has been a suggestion that the British were responsible for the revelation of the agreement.

"That is not so," he replied. "I think, however, that the British were glad that it was published. It cleared the atmosphere and the resultant editorial comment has been exceedingly favorable to its publication."

Asked if there is anything further he would do in the Horan case, he said:

"I think possibly that it is a domestic matter with France. It is quite possible that the French acted within their legal rights.

"I think that the French authorities are acting like spoiled children in this matter, and I think that France has been acting that way all over Europe creating antagonisms everywhere.

"I do not think that France would win any popularity contest today."

Asked about the humiliating manner of Horan's arrest in public and his detention incommunicado, Mr. Hearst added that they were "altogether unnecessary and unwarranted."

"LOOKS LIKE HOOVER"

In reply to questions about the political situation, Mr. Hearst said that he could form his judgment only from the various sections of the United States in which he publishes newspapers.

"On this basis," he said, "every indication seems to be that the strong trend which existed for Mr. Hoover is actually gaining in strength."

Asked about New York, he said that there is the same general trend in favor of Hoover, but that it is not so pronounced as in other states.

Mr. Hearst expressed optimism on business conditions. Citing the publishing business as an illustration, he said that publications are now carrying more advertising than during the earlier months of the year, and, in general, are more prosperous. This, he said, is a good barometer.

SEES CONFIDENCE

"We all know that early in the year business was not so good," he said. "It was not bad, but was not maintaining its earlier high levels. Now there is not only more business, but greater confidence everywhere. This is unprecedented in a presidential year, which is usually marked by much uneasiness. It indicates that the business world views the situation with confidence."

Mr. Hearst did not discuss the subjects of his conferences with President Coolidge and Secretaries Kellogg and Mellon. He said they were merely informal visits, made while in Washington to confer with the executives of his newspaper properties here. He left this afternoon for New York.

TAXICAB PASSENGER ROBS DRIVER OF $10

Humbert Frandon, 249 South Mathilda street, cab driver, was robbed of $10 by a passenger whom he had hauled from the downtown district to the 6600 block on Butler street. The robber, after alighting from the cab, boarded another machine which had followed the cab and escaped.

McCULLOCH'S Stores for SERVICE

"Service," to our mind, means "delivering the goods" in the quickest possible time, without "fuss or feathers."

It means serving the patron as he wants to be served.

It means doing just a little more than the bargain calls for.

McCulloch's many stores are vigilant . . . SERVICE is their watchword, and every customer, young or old, large purchaser or small, is entitled to it.

If you are served well at McCulloch's, tell your friends . . . if not, we'll be grateful if you will tell us.

ARMISTICE DAY MARCH CHIEFS APPOINTED

Appointment of marshals of the five divisions of the Armistice Day parade was announced last night following a meeting of the parade committee of the Federation of War Veteran Societies of Allegheny County in the City County building.

The celebration is to be held Monday Nov. 12, Armistice Day falling on Sunday.

Charles G. Lane, chief marshal of the parade announced the appointment of Dr. Herbert Dewar, C. E. Daily, Allan Donnelly, James Murtha and Col. Eric Fisher Wood as marshals of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth divisions, respectively.

Thomas Coughtrie and Walter P. Grimm were appointed chief of staff and adjutant, respectively.

COURT ACQUITS CONSTABLE

Deputy Constable Harry Bradford, of Oakmont, was ordered acquitted by Judge James H. Gray, in Criminal Court yesterday when called for trial on charge of impersonating an officer. Motorcycle Policeman Anthony Dominian, of Sharpsburg, the prosecutor, was ordered to pay the costs.

Assistant District Attorney Charles M. Jarrett briefly stated the case before the directed verdict was rendered.

He said that on the night of July 28 Bradford was sitting in an automobile in the Freeport road with a woman friend when Dominian and several companions passed in an automobile and someone cried out an alleged insulting remark to Bradford. This angered Bradford who called on them to stop and declared he was a constable and had a notion to arrest them. An argument between Bradford and Dominian resulted in the latter bringing the charge of impersonating an officer against Bradford. The court record showing Bradford's appointment as deputy constable was produced as evidence.

TWO HIKER BANDS WILL WALK SUNDAY

The Sunday morning outing of the Pittsburgh Hiking Club will be from Smiths Ferry along the Little Beaver River and will be led by Mrs. E. C. Shoemaker. Those going will leave Pittsburgh on the 8:10 o'clock P. & L. E. train.

The afternoon hike will be from Allison Park to West View and will be led by C. Heisel. Those going will leave Pittsburgh on the Butler Short Line car leaving Duquesne way at 2:15 p. m.

TAG DAY TO CONCLUDE SALAVATION ARMY DRIVE

The Salvation Army's annual tag day tomorrow marks the close of that organization's home service fund campaign. The shield to be offered for sale in city and county is a replica of the Salvation Army emblem famous overseas during the World War and in relief work in Pittsburgh. Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier, chairman of the women's division, and Mrs. Joseph Atkinson, wife of Col. Atkinson, divisional commander, are in charge.

WAS VICTIM OF SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Local Man Relates How Ten Herbs Relieved Nervousness, Pains and Indigestion.

"Ten Herbs has done even more for me than is claimed for it," was the recent statement of Mr. James J. Travis, 3240 Vincent street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh.

MR. JAMES J. TRAVIS

where he is daily demonstrating this great herbal compound to crowds of men and women. "I am glad to praise your medicine to the highest degree, as I tried about everything, but never got satisfactory results until I started using Ten Herbs," continued Mr. Travis, who has been a structural iron worker for 30 years.

"I am 58 years old and belong to Local No. 3, of the International Association of Bridge Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers. I fell from the Old Soldiers' Memorial Building and fractured my skull, tore off one of my ears and broke a leg. I was about given up to die, and lay in a hospital for three years and six months. When I left the hospital I was a nervous wreck. My hands shook so badly I could not sign my name, and I always had a pain in my head. I was a constant user of physics, and my digestive organs were impaired. I had to be very careful what I ate, as I would fill with gas and be in misery.

"Ten Herbs did wonders for me. I can now enjoy a meal and am not afraid to eat, as there is no more gas or misery after eating. My food digests thoroughly, as it seems to give me proper nourishment. My nerves are stronger and I am able to write again. Those terrible continuous pains have left my head, and I sleep better. I am getting stronger and improving in every way. Friends remark about the change in my appearance, and I tell them all that Ten Herbs was a miracle worker for me. I gladly endorse your medicine to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

MORE HEALING CREDITED TO GLORY BARN PREACHER

Eighty-five persons professed Christianity at two services held yesterday by Evangelist John W. Sproul in the Glory Barn, Carson street. At the morning service 25 persons "went forward," and last night there were 60 others.

Mrs. Jennie Mastandrea, of 3 Virginia avenue, spoke above a whisper for the first time in three years last night, she said, after being anointed during the healing service. Peter Markulin, of First avenue, left a cane on the platform after declaring he had been cured of spinal trouble.

The sermon subject last night was "Eternal Glory." Evangelist Sproul said in part:

"God's word says that we are called of God to reign as kings in an eternal kingdom. But there is no glory on the other side unless you get the glory in your soul here on earth. 'Christ in you is the hope of glory,' according to the Bible.

"Satan offered Christ the kingdoms of the world and the glory of them—but God offers us His own eternal kingdom and glory—if we will only worship Him.

"If there were no hell—it would be hell enough to miss heaven.

"This call of Christ should inspire our glory. Long-faced Christians do not reflect the glory that is to be revealed in us. Even on earth we may taste enough of this glory to fill us with delight.

"Have you this foretaste of glory in your soul? It is a thousand times more important than the healing of your body."

PAROLE DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

Joseph J. Witkowski, 598 Irwin avenue, Hays borough, was paroled for two years in Criminal Court yesterday on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. His automobile killed Iavonne Ebbitt, 9-year-old school girl, of 1015 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, on June 17.

The child, on her way to Homestead Hospital, was struck in Irwin avenue.

Witkowski had elected to plead not guilty and stand trial, but after the jury had been empaneled he changed his plea. He said he would pay $300 to the parents of the girl who, he said, had run in front of his car. Judge James H. Gray directed the parole.

VOTE JOB LOST BY LABORITES

A question as to whether the Labor party is the minority party in the Thirty-first Election District of the Nineteenth Ward came up before Judge James B. Drew, in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday during discussion of appointment of a minority inspector of elections. The judge, invoking the right of using the court's discretion, named the Democratic applicant.

Calvin Fetterolf, elected inspector on the Labor ticket, has moved to Florida and a petition was presented for the appointment of his wife, Mrs. Grace I. Fetterolf, 1830 Pioneer avenue, in his place. A petition also was filed by Kate V. Lamb, 2146 Pioneer avenue, a Democrat. It was argued that Fetterolf might send for his wife and create another vacancy.

Other Democrats appointed to vacant minority inspectorships yesterday by Judge Drew follow:

Eleventh District, First Ward, Wilkinsburg, Daniel J. Dailey, 1743 Wesley avenue; Sixth District, Second Ward, Pittsburgh, John H. Barner, 713 Arch street; Sixth District, Twenty-seventh Ward, Charles Milligan, 2814 California avenue; Third District, Fourth Ward, Edward J. Scully, 2432 Forbes street.

C. of C. and Barr for Metropolitan Plan

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1928

ANNEXERS' FOE OUT FOR NEW PLAN

Resolutions favoring adoption of the proposed Metropolitan Plan for Allegheny county were passed yesterday by the directors of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

The resolutions, presented by Fred C. Haller, chairman of the intercommunity affairs committee, were adopted without a dissenting vote.

Resolutions also were adopted indorsing all proposed state constitutional amendments having to do with bond issues except the forest bond issue.

Stewart C. McFarland was elected a member of the board of directors, succeeding the late Joe T. Taylor.

The metropolitan plan was given further support through the indorsement of C. M. Barr, former state senator. Senator Barr, who for many years was one of the principal legislative champions of the people of boroughs and townships in their fights against annexation, had not previously declared his attitude on the proposed plan.

In a letter to Joseph T. Miller, of Wilkinsburg, chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, Mr. Barr expressed his approval and discussed the plan as it appealed to residents of the outside communities.

Mr. Barr was secretary of the League of Boroughs and Townships of the county from 1911 to 1916 and was vice president of the league from 1915 to 1926.

The resolutions adopted by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce follow:

"Whereas, the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh has long been convinced that industrial and commercial Pittsburgh has suffered in the competition among the larger cities because of the extraordinary number of communities into which the metropolitan area is divided and because of the misleadingly low census rank thus occasioned; and

"Whereas, there has at last very happily been devised a plan known as the metropolitan plan for Allegheny county by which a county-wide metropolitan government recognized by the Federal Census Bureau as a municipality will be set up without superseding any of the 122 underlying governments or depriving the people of the borough and townships of the right to continue administering their local affairs; and

"Whereas, the acquisition of the rank of fourth city of the United States with a population of 1,500,000 would so increase our community prestige and promote our growth and population and expansion in trade and industry as to inaugurate a new era of prosperity for the people of all Allegheny county; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh that the metropolitan plan for Allegheny county as embodied in the enabling amendment to the state constitution be hereby approved and indorsed by this body; and be it further

"Resolved, that we appeal to our members and to the people of Allegheny county generally to support the plan and vote 'yes' on amendment No. 14 at the November election. The last amendment on the ballot."

Missing, Loses Suit

While attaches of Common Pleas Court were searching for Lawrence T. Coyle, of Brackenridge, a defendant in a trial being heard yesterday the jury in the case returned a verdict of $2,500 in favor of George H. Kraynick, of Duquesne.

Defense attorneys said they do not know where their client may be.

Coyle is reported to have left the court a short time after the case opened in company with a constable. It was said they were searching for another witness. Neither returned during the day and efforts so far to locate the constable or the defendant have been in vain.

Kraynick was injured when a motorcycle he was riding is said to have been struck by an automobile driven by Coyle. The accident occurred August, 1925, in the Freeport road.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Patrolman Rex Bills, State Highway Patrol, was critically injured in a crash between Erie and Edinboro yesterday when his motorcycle ran into a machine which had pulled out to pass a truck stopped on the road. The driver of the automobile was arrested. Bills' home is in Erie.

BUS LINE WILLING TO GIVE CITY CONTROL

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

The Pittsburrgh Motor Coach Company is willing to make a contract with the city placing its operation under the supervision of the Traction Conference Board, as will be provided in an ordinance to be placed before City Council shortly, A. W. Robertson, president of the coach company, said yesterday.

The original ordinance, which was under consideration two years ago, was acceptable to the company. The fact that it was allowed to die was not due to opposition by any of the interested parties, Mr. Robertson pointed out.

The ordinance is now being prepared by City Solicitor C. A. Waldschmidt at the request of Councilman P. J. McArdle. It will be practically a duplicate of its predecessor.

The ordinance would authorize the city to make a contract with the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company by which the Traction Conference Board would pass upon all questions of fares, service, equipment and the opening of new routes.

It would also fix depreciation charges against the buses. The board now has the street car lines under its direction. It is composed of representatives of the city and of the Railways company. The ordinance would provide for arbitration in case of any disagreement on the bus operations.

It would place the bus fare question in the hands of this body. Its ruling would be subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission.

PROBE COMMITTEE

The Allied Boards of Trade, investigating high bus fares here, yesterday announced that oppointment to the general transportation committee to represent every constituent of the allied boards, have been made, as follows:

Kelly; secretary, Miss Helen Beran; treasurer, W. F. Aull; board of governors, Millard Keys, E. K. Miller and C. A. Price. There are more than 300 employes of the company. Two candidates for each office were selected at a primary held a week ago.

SCOTTDALE-SMITHTON HIGHWAY IS OPENED

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 12.—Citizens of Scottdale and Smithton boroughs and East and South Huntington townships joined this afternoon in a celebration marking the opening of the new concrete highway between Scottdale and Smithton. Congressman Adam M. Wyant, of Greensburgh, and Westmoreland county commissioners made addresses at a meeting at Reagantown.

DETECTIVES IN SMASH

MERRILY THEY BREAK THEM

For diversion in the county detective bureau, sleuths smash. They smash mostly slot machines, gathered up in raids precipitated by the grand jury probe of police graft and collusion and slot machine ring operation. It's an everyday occurence, that which you see pictured above. Detective Michael McDermott and John Welble, assistant to Chief Murren, swing the sledges.

Prosecutor Sued by Woman

Leo McKay, of Sharon, district attorney of Mercer county is being sued in the United States District Court by Mrs. Lena Plesa, of Brookville, Trumbull county, O., who seeks to recover $25,000 damages.

Mrs. Plesa, alleges that Attorney McKay, with others unknown to her, forcibly broke into her home at R. F. D. No. 2, Brookville township, during the absence of her husband, without cause or warrant, at 11 p. m. on September 28.

According to McKay he attempted to serve a process on the woman's husband and the charge is probably an outgrowth of that action.

The woman, in her statement, avers that the district attorney forced her against a wall and struck her with his fist on her chest and neck, severely injuring her.

Mrs. Plesa declares the actions of the defendants were without cause or excuse. The statement of claim was filed for the plaintiff by Attorney Kivie Wolfe.

Dying, Seeks To Divorce

MRS. M'DONALD

Though today Mrs. Quinta McDonald, Orange, N. J., is facing slow death from radium poisoning in the manufacture of war-time wrist watches, she seeks divorce in Newark courts from her husband, charging cruelty. Recently, she was awarded $10,000 for the poisoning.

In Prison Illegally —Gardner

Robert Fisher, who was fatally injured in a fall from a scaffold in the county jail yesterday, had been deprived illegally of his liberty by Magistrate John W. Orie, in the opinion of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner.

Fisher, who with two other prisoners was painting the interior of the jail when the scaffold gave way, had been imprisoned by Orie for 60 days on a suspicious person charge. Since such a charge is invalid at law, Gardner said he was "confident its use was not legal."

The suspicious person charge exists by grace of a city ordinance, which provides it for the convenience of police in holding suspects whom they cannot at once prove guilty of a definite crime. In the normal course of events the charge must be made definite within 36 hours, according to Gardner.

Whether Fisher's heirs had basis for recovery of damages from the city or county, Gardner could not say. He was of the opinion that jail officials were exceeding authority when they subjected a prisoner to occupational hazards, thus exceeding the punishment contemplated in his sentence.

What bearing the fact that Fisher's imprisonment had been illegal would have in a suit for damages, Gardner could not say.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

A PITTSBURGH man has invented an alarm clock which rings at the appointed time and simultaneously closes the windows of the bedroom. The Pittsburgher's name is Blue, but a canvass of all the Blues in the telephone book failed to reveal the whereabouts of the inventor. The supposition that the alarm clock inventor never heard of Mr. Bell's invention is too fantastic to entertain. Our own idea is that Mr. Blue stays at a Pittsburgh home where the telephone is under another name and that at the present time he is in a hidden workshop, probably adding another device to his alarm clock which, with the ringing of the bell and the closing of the window, will remove one's pajamas and substitute therefore a nice set of beeveedees. The New Yorker, sophisticated magazine which is not edited for the people who prevented a Sunday baseball scoreboard in Altoona, tells of Pittsburgh's Mr. Blue, reporting the new clock will be soon on the market.

Ernest Tretow, of the Highland Park Zoo, says his family of monkeys give him more trouble than all other charges. In every monkey cage, he reports, there is a boss who won't let the other monkeys rest. The boss becomes so obstreperous at times that he is removed to quasi-solitary confinement, but this does not help for long, for as soon as the leader is moved from the cage, up springs another boss to harass the underlings.

WE WATCHED the monkeys for 15 or 20 minutes one day and moved away when we discovered that the sagacious-looking monkeys were staring at us with the same astonishment that we registered in watching them.

The day we were there one of the public-spirited monkeys, probably after a luncheon had been held and a press agent hired, had established "Kill the bug week." The various teams were bidding for whatever capital prize was offered with spirited enthusiasm.

ONE of the newest things in Pittsburgh is the automobile with a complete radio outfit installed in the dashboard. Aside from the advantage of tuning in on a long drive, the operator finds that the loud speaker comes in handy to drown out the back-seat driver. Andy Ross gave us a demonstration in the radio-equipped machine. "Now it's not because I'm selling them," said Mr. Ross, "but this machine is about the best I ever saw."

A friend of the Salvation Army asks if we will say a word to help that organization's campaign here to raise $116,500. To say a word on behalf of that organization is a pleasure. A few might have been only lukewarm about the Salvation Army before the last war, but after what the soldiers said about the Salvation Army and its work in France it would be difficult to find anyone not in entire sympathy with the work of that organization.

MEN and women who fortunately have escaped the rigors of poverty and that despair which comes to the down and outers who are helped by the Salvation Army have a chance to make a thanksgiving offering by helping the Salvation Army campaign.

* * *

Upon some "charity" work we look with some suspicion and a little hate, as do some of the poor people who must accept a part of their benefactions, but upon the Army we have always looked with a full measure of appreciation. Salvation may or may not come with a nickel on the drum, but a donation certainly may help someone else to be saved. A check to 426 Boulevard of the Allies will help the Salvation Army to get that needed $116,500.

Husband Ordered Cars, Never Paid, Wife Asserts

The married life of Mr. and Mrs. John Fairweather was not all fair weather, it was revealed yesterday when the divorce action of Mrs. Bessie Fairweather was heard in Common Pleas Court.

She said her husband was always buying automobiles but never paying for them. Consequently, she asserted, collectors were continually calling.

Mrs. Fairweather now lives with her parents in Monongahela avenue, Hazelwood, and she said the address of her husband was the Mansfield (O.) Reformatory. The husband once was returned from Texas to Pittsburgh for passing worthless checks and paroled, she said. When he met other difficulties the parole was revoked.

JAWORSKI TIPSTER ACCUSED BY GIRL; MAY LOSE REWARD

John Zazworski, who gave the Cleveland police the tip that led to capture of Paul Jaworski, arch killer and jail-breaker, must face trial in Criminal Court on serious charges before he can collect his $5,000 reward.

Judge James B. Drew today ordered payment of the reward suspended until Zazworski appears for trial. He was scheduled to go on trial next Monday on charges brought by Mike Petak on behalf of his minor daughter, Catherine. Zazworski today sent two certificates to the district attorney's office stating that he was "very sick and nervous" and could not appear for trial. Judge Drew's order followed.

District Attorney S. H. Gardner yesterday recommended to the county commissioners that Zazworski be paid the reward.

A bench warrant for Jaworski was sent to Cleveland yesterday via air mail by Chief George W. Murren, of the county detectives, here.

This was the first move toward bringing Jaworski back to Pennsylvania, where he is under death sentence. Chief Murren will send all indictments and papers against Jaworski to Harrisburg today to be signed into an extradition appeal.

TRUCK DRIVER FLEES HOLDUP MEN'S BULLETS

MT. OLIVER VOTES NOV. 28 ON ANNEXATION TO CITY

Judge James B. Drew has fixed November 28 for the special election to be held in Mt. Oliver when voters of the borough will decide for or against annexation with Pittsburgh.

The enabling ordinance has been passed by Pittsburgh Council and only the election remains.

At first it was proposed that the election be held on the day of the presidential election, November 6, but the judge stated that he thought the question should have no connection with any other project before the voters.

EXPRESS STRIKE CALLED OFF

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The strike of the American Railway Express Company employes, which tied up express traffic in metropolitan New York for nearly two days, was ended last night when the strikers voted unanimously to return to work.

The vote was taken at a mass meeting attended by about 5,000 of the striking employes in the metropolitan area, at which George M. Harrison, grand president of the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, urged that they "go into court with clean hands" by carrying out the terms of their contract with the company.

The company on its part agreed to take back all the men and to consider their grievances at a conference October 17.

Will Rogers Says

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 12.

This "speakeasy" business must be the most independent and prosperous business in the world, especially in New York, for no other industry in the world could afford to kill its customers off like that.

THEY MUST RUN AN UNDERTAKING BUSINESS ON THE SIDE.

I will say this for the police, there are lots of these places they don't know where they are. The customer never lives long enough to tell the police where he got it.

NEW YORK HAS NOTIFIED 'EM THAT IF THEY DON'T QUIT PUTTING SO MUCH POISON IN THEIR LIQUOR THEY WILL REVOKE THEIR LICENSE.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

WOMAN SLAYER SUSPECT ASKS COURT SET BAIL

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Oct. 12.—Attorneys employed to defend Mrs. Bertha Hafner, charged with the murder of State Trooper Victor J. Busch, have filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus with Judge W. T. Darr, of Brookville, who will probably act upon the petition Saturday. The petition asks that Mrs. Hafner be liberated on bail pending action upon her case by the grand jury of Jefferson county.

In the new $400,000 courthouse at Brookville the architect forgot to set aside a detention place for women, and Mrs. Hafner is still held in the women's department of the local police station. She is bearing up well today after her breakdown at the hearing yesterday when she was held for court.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

FOUR dances by German, grouped under the name of "Merrie England," and gems from "Chin Chin," the score of which was composed by Caryll, are the features of the Cities Service hour to be broadcast over WCAE tonight at 8 o'clock. Sascha Fidelman, concertmeister of the Cities Service Orchestra, will do Drdla's "Souvenir" as a violin solo, and a special modern number, "Jazz Patrol," composed and orchestrated by Arthur Lange, one of the best known of American musical authors.

Edith Thayer, as the Quaker Girl of the Armstrong Quakers series, will sing two soprano solos during the program to be heard through KDKA at 8:30 o'clock. She will present as her first number "They Didn't Believe Me," bringing back memories of that famous musical comedy, "The Girl From Utah;" and later will sing the gentle lullaby, "Sweet and Low." "Ten Little Miles From Town," "Think of Me Thinking of You," "Kentucky Babe" and other numbers will be sung by an octet whose members are Dorothy Miller, Janet Hall, Mary Hopple and Edith Thayer, of the Frollickers girls' quartet, and Randolph Weyant, Victor Hall, Norman LeMoene and A. R. McAdams, of the Rollickers male quartet.

A variety program, including numbers by an orchestra, vocal and instrumental soloists, and novelty units, will be presented as the KDKA Wrigley Review at 9 o'clock. Bucalossi's "A Hunting Scene" will be heard as an orchestral selection at the opening of the program. A contralto soloist follows with "Bird Songs at Eventide," by Coates, while "Bo-Peep" will be heard as an accordion specialty. "My Mother Was a Lady" and "Pretty Little Dear" will be contributed by a novelty trio of vocalists, and the popular Shennanigan Duo will oblige with "We Love Vanilla," and "It Goes Like This." Other features will include Beam's song, "Purple Road," sung by a soprano; "Once Upon a Time in May," by Romberg, presented by a tenor; "Weeping Willow," by Moret, sung by a male quartet, and a banjo solo, "Echoes of Naples," by Ascher.

A ballad program will be the offering of the Stromberg Carlsons, a vocal and instrumental group, tonight through KDKA at 10 o'clock. "All Through the Night," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Gypsy Trail," "Comin' Home" and "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," will be vocal numbers, sung by Milton I. Cross, first tenor; Maurice Tyler, second tenor; Walter Preston, baritone, and Marley R. Sherris, bass. Keith McLeod, vibraphone soloist, will play "Moonbeams," from the operetta, "The Red Mill," while Godfrey Ludlow, violinist, will contribute "In the Cradle" as a solo number. Andy Sanella offers "L'Amour, Toujours l'amour" as a guitar solo.

Verdi's famous opera, "Rigoletto," will be sung in English by the United Opera Company during the WJAS broadcast at 10 o'clock. The opera, in three acts, with text by Piave adapted from Victor Hugo's drama "Le Roi s'Amuse," was first produced in Venice, March 11, 1851, and brought to New York in November, 1857, since which time it has enjoyed much popularity. The story of the opera concerns Rigoletto, jester to the Duke of Mantua, who, to save Gilda, his daughter, from his employer, hires Sparafucile to slay him. But Gilda loves the Duke and, learning of the plot to kill him, she bribes Sparafucile to kill her instead and place her in the sack in which the dead body of the Duke is to be delivered to her father. Too late does Rigoletto open the sack and find his dying daughter. The music of "Rigoletto" is Verdi's best, and all the well-known arias, including the beautiful "Caro Nome," are to be sung.

There is no question about which way Radio is going...

Musical tone and dependability! That sums up the ideal of every Radio manufacturer today.

As all radio fans know, pure musical tone is an actual achievement today—but hitherto possible only with complicated laboratory apparatus. Such apparatus makes real dependability impossible—it gets out of order too easily.

Balkite has squarely met the problem of giving the radio public this marvelous present-day laboratory reception with a simple, practical, dependable set, that has the finality and quality of a fine car!

Look at the Balkite chassis—have you ever seen such simplicity? Listen to the Balkite reception—have you ever heard such pure musical tone over a radio?

Ask your dealer for a demonstration.

URGES BEAUTY FIRST THEN TOWN HALL SITE

areas around their fine public buildings in order that they may be seen to best advantage, and he thought Pittsburgh would do well to follow their example.

TIME TO ACT

Often, Mr. Mellon said, on his trips to the East people would make slighting remarks about the lack of attractiveness of Pittsburgh, and in his opinion the time had come when Pittsburgh should do everything possible to remove cause for criticism on that score.

"Let us not cramp the Cathedral of Learning," he said. "Let us not shut off the view of the trees and green grass of the park.

There are children in Pittsburgh who rarely set foot on grass except when they enter the park. We should not make them go a quarter of a mile farther after reaching the entrance before they are in the green fields.

"I feel confident, too, that the officers of the Carnegie Institute would not like to have the town hall put up so close to their building.

"We don't need to put it there. If the town hall were set back in the park a half mile from the entrance it would not make so much difference. But I feel that to put it at the entrance would be robbing the park and the other buildings in the vicinity of some of their beauty, and Pittsburgh needs all the beauty it can get.

"We need all the parks and all the wide streets we can get. We are behind some other American cities in that respect, and we would render ourselves still more liable to unfavorable comparisons if we were to mar the spaciousness and beauty of the park entrance by putting up the auditorium there."

FIVE SITES RETAINED

The commission had before it for consideration 28 proposed sites for the town hall and rejected all but five. It was explained, however, that this action did not stand in the way of reconsideration of the rejected sites, nor was it a bar to the consideration of other sites that may be suggested.

The five locations from which, as matters now stand, the commission is likely to make its choice are as follows:

Monument Hill, North Side.

The Schenley Park entrance site.

The tract in Oakland bounded by Bigelow boulevard, Fifth avenue, Ruskin avenue and Lytton avenue.

Duquesne Garden, with the adjoining property as far as Fifth avenue.

The land at the north end of the Ninth Street Bridge extending from Lacock street to River avenue.

Norman F. Brown, county director of public works, was requested to make a careful study of the availability of these sites and to report on the cost of the property and the expenditures that would be required for grading, changes in streets and the razing of existing buildings.

Each of the five sites was taken up in turn by the commission, and the members stated individually how they would rank them as to accessibility by automobile, accessibility by trolley, accessibility by bus, railroad facilities, automobile parking facilities, environment, hotel facilities, adjacent street facilities, economic location and adequate area.

EACH SITE RATED

The procedure was this: A certain number of points, say 20, was arbitrarily fixed as the maximum to be allowed, for instance, for environment. Then each member stated, in turn, what he thought the site under consideration was entitled to on that basis—whether it should be scored 20, or 10, or 5, or some other figure.

When each had given the site the rating to which he thought it entitled, the figures were added, the sum divided by the number of commissioners voting, and thus an average struck. This was done with each of the 10 points considered. The rating thus given the five sites was not made public.

Of the 23 sites eliminated some were rejected because the area was too small, some because the assessed valuation was too high, some because they were considered inaccessible, some because the environment was considered unattractive, and one, the East Park on the North Side, because it was felt that it would serve the public better as a park than as the location of an auditorium.

ESSENTIAL POINTS

Basic requirements for the site were given as follows:

It should be approached by at least two main traffic arteries, which, in turn, connect with the city boulevards and county road system.

It should be convenient to converging trolley routes from all sections of the city and county.

It should be convenient to the terminals of main bus routes.

It should be convenient to main railroad terminals and should have siding facilities for delivery of exhibits and the running of special passenger trains to the site.

It should be possible to park, as close to the site as possible, either by special parking area or street parking, at least 5,000 cars.

The site should provide the best possible civic setting, which would be absolutely necessary if it were intended to dedicate the building as a monument. If the building is to be utilitarian in character, no special environment would be necessary.

The site should be convenient to the city's large hotels, as, at times, the entire hotel facilities of the city will be needed to house expected visitors to this building.

The building should face on a street at least 100 feet wide and be surrounded by streets at least 60 feet wide, with cross streets leading off from all four corners of the site.

The site should be as level as possible, as it will be necessary to create a level area around the building. The site should be as inexpensive as possible, consistent with a good location. The site should provide a maximum use and rental of the facilities provided in the building, to cut down carrying charges.

The relation of the site to surrounding property, with respect to its improvement and consequent increase in taxable value, should be considered.

The area necessary for the building and outdoor space is about 7½ acres, which should be approximately in the proportion of 650 feet long by 460 feet wide.

The members of the commission attending the meeting were R. B. Mellon, chairman; R. H. Watson, Samuel D. Robinson, A. Marshall Bell, Fred G. Lillo, J. E. McKirdy, William T. Todd and James B. Sansom, secretary. County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and E. L. Schmidt, chief engineer for the planning commission, also attended.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

PICKING A PRIZE HUSBAND

EVERYBODY who walks up the white-ribboned aisle goes into marriage with the glowing conviction that he (or she) has won a prize!

* * *

Every bridegroom believes in his heart that he is marrying the "one woman in a thousand." Every bride is secretly convinced that she has drawn the blue ribbon winner—the one man on earth who will never bore her, never tire of her, never fail her, and never look at another woman!

HELEN ROWLAND

That's why there is so much laughter among the gods and weeping of angels! Marriage is the longest shot in the world—and picking a winner requires the judgment of Solomon, the skill of Tunney, and the luck of Lindbergh.

* * *

The man who would be a "prize husband" for me might be just a blank for you—and vice versa. The world is full of men who would make prize husbands for SOME women, but are nothing but blanks to the women who drew them.

The prizes are plentiful—but it's picking the winners that stumps us. You can't tell them by their shape, weight, height or color. Nor even by their dancing feet, their "line," their love making or the way they spend their pocket-money.

But there are certain ear-marks that apply to ALL Prize Husbands.

A prize husband, as Sam Hill says, is one who thinks, after 20 years, that HE won a prize, instead of that SHE caught a sucker.

He may not be the most fascinating man in the world, but he is the one who believes that YOU are the most adorable woman in the world.

He is not necessarily the kind who vows he would "go to the end of the earth for you," but he is one who will get up at 7 a. m. and go to WORK for you. It doesn't matter so much whether he makes forty dollars a week or forty thousand a year as it does that he wants to share it with you.

* * *

It is not half so important that he be masterful and sex-appealing as that he be tender and kind and understanding.

It is not half so vital that he keep a couple of imported cars and a chauffeur as that he keep the grass cut, his hair cut, his bills paid, and his love for his own wife. A whole interest in a poor shipping clerk is far more valuable and satisfying than a twentieth interest in the affections of a millionaire woman-chaser.

A prize husband is one who never bores you and whom you never bore—one with whom you enjoy working, playing, talking and planning as well as just "petting." Marriage is not a vacation, an avocation, a "sexperiment" or a JOKE! It is a partnership for just one purpose—building a LIFE together! And a prize husband is the one who wants to build the same kind of life that you want to build!

IF THERE is one thing more needed to convince us that at last the lovely Summer days are gone, it is to watch the girls along the streets and note the new finery with which they welcome the season.

Gone are the frilly Summer dresses and filmy hats. Everything seems to take on a sombre note to match the season. Furs are gracefully thrown around the shoulders and, except for the coat of tan, one wonders "where has the Summer girl gone?"

Straws show which way the wind blows—only in this case it's clothes. For one must dress according to the season, and one simply cannot go hunting love in shabby things. Therefore, the new styles and the new clothes. For these are Milady's most powerful weapon—not forgetting her own charming self.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator from New York

Far Safer to Keep Thin Than Get Thin

SOMEWHERE, recently, I read: "Nowadays a girl is never fat. She is just 'overemphasized.'"

We don't like to be told we are fat, do we? I'm not so sure either that we would be pleased to have the other word, overemphasized, applied to our ever-increasing weight.

DR. COPELAND

But no matter what we call it, what are we going to do about it?

It is not a good thing to take on too much weight. In terms of health, it is a bad thing. Life is burdened and even shortened by it.

On several occasions I have told you of the investigation made by a group of life insurance companies. It was the conclusion of this committee that man 50 years of age who is 50 pounds overweight has a lessened expectation of life of fifty per cent. Measured in such terms, being overweight is pretty serious business.

But if you actually are too fleshy, what can be done about it? That is a question I am asked many times every week.

While writing this I recall the accounts of discoveries made by Roy Chapman Andrews and Walter Granger. In Mongolia they found fossil remains of a monster "big as the Woolworth building."

"The beast lived on the fat of the land," said Mr. Granger. "It grew larger and larger with each generation, until after a million years it became so roly-poly that it could no longer navigate." The following sentence struck me forcibly, "It finally gave up the ghost, having eaten itself out of existence because it was too enormous for an earthly existence."

Now, fat ones, don't get mad too soon. I shall not even intimate that you are eating yourselves out of existence.

In the next place, I do not favor extreme dieting and the starvation menus which are followed by many in their endeavors to cut down flesh. Serious impairment of health may result from extreme and long-continued practices of this sort.

Let me explain why this is true: A person, especially a woman, who has been fleshy a long time has accumulated in the abdomen and pelvis very considerable deposits of fat. The intestines and pelvic organs have adapted themselves to this condition, so much so, indeed, that they are supported and kept in position by the aid of the fat.

You can see that the sudden removal of these deposits of fat may result in the dropping or displacement of one or more of these organs. Physical disabilities are liable to result.

Because of these facts, I urge you not to resort to violent methods of fat reduction. Correction of manifest errors in eating should not be neglected of course. But I beg of you not to "take off 25 pounds in a month" and similar reductions founded on speedy methods of getting rid of surplus weight.

There can be no doubt that overeating and underexercising are responsible in most instances of overweight. If you are guilty of either, reform your habits, but do it sensibly and gradually.

It is far better to keep thin than to get thin. If you find your weight is steadily increasing, find out why and be governed accordingly.

Answers to Health Queries

C. W. A. Q.—What is the cause of me being so sleepy around supper time? Somemtimes my stomach aches as if I were hungry although I have had plenty to eat.

A.—This condition is probably due to intoxication caused by improper elimination from some infection present in the system.

J. A. M. Q.—What causes my heart to beat rapidly at times? I have gas on my stomach and have been troubled for years with constipation.

A.—It is possible that your health condition is due to indigestion. However, it might be wise to have your family doctor examine your heart. By proper dieting such annoyances as gases and constipation may be corrected.

T. F. T. Q.—What will reduce the calves of the legs? Exercises seem to make them larger.

2.—What is the cause of gas on the stomach and what will relieve it? What will aid my digestion?

A.—Reduce the weight in general.

2.—Faulty diet and improper elimination will cause gases, due to indigestion and fermentation. Correct these conditions and you will benefit generally. Careful diet and regular elimination will help your digestion.

* * *

H. S. Q.—How many ounces of water should a baby have each day?

2—Should the baby's mouth be washed each day, and what should be used?

A.—It depends upon the age of the child.

2—Yes, use a weak solution of boracic acid.

E. N. Q.—Is candy eaten every day as a dessert injurious?

A.—Not if eaten in a moderate amount.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, October 13

THE rather variable planetary mutations for this day point to fairly fortitious circumstances, with possible rewards for faithful service and patient application in promotion or recognition from elderly persons or employers. Popularity, esteem and credit are in order, with increased business in those occupations under Saturn, as mining, machinery, agriculture, lands and industry generally. The personal affairs are likewise under a fairly happy aspect of the stars.

Those whose birthday it is may look for advancement or preferment from employers or elderly persons or institutions, with credit, popularity and fair esteem if in business. Personal contacts may bring pleasure and success.

A child born on this day may be industrious and perservering and will win success and recognition as well as esteem from elders or employers. It may also experience happiness in personal matters.

Message Reveals Princess in New Light

AS the words "K seven!" came simultaneously from the lips of my father, Lillian and Allen Drake, I realized that they just had made a discovery most astounding to them. It takes something most extraordinary to jolt the composure of anyone of the three agents of the diplomatic secret service, but something in the appearance of the packet which I had brought them from the red-bearded man had upset their usual poise.

It was my father who realized first that their exclamation and their excitement were unintelligible to me.

"Look, dear, in the corner!" he said.

My eyes followed his pointing finger and saw a tiny but remarkably well executed sketch of a mongrel dog holding up one paw as if lame. The next second, Allen Drake's hand clasping a pencil, showed me where the characters "K. seven" were cleverly hidden in the lines depicting the hurt paw.

"'K. seven' is one of the mysteries of our service," my father said. "He plays a lone hand, is not connected in any official way with us, and nobody has the slightest clue to his identity. But whenever anything threatening the government is on the tapis, sooner or later we receive a communication from 'K. seven,' which helps us infinitely. He evidently has a wide and intimate knowledge of the cunning, devilish criminals whose menace is known by every government in the world. We of the service are rooting out one nest of them after another, but it seems an endless task. Sometimes I feel as if new groups of them are springing up faster than we can destroy the old ones."

"You know better than that, Chief," Lillian said briskly. "You are all worn out, that's the only trouble. Let's see what 'K. seven' has to say. By the way, have you ever noticed that while he always picks a different animal or bird for his monogram, it's always a lame or hurt one?"

My father nodded and held the packet out to her.

"Will you read it aloud, my dear?" he asked, and Lillian took from the envelope two enclosures—one a typewritten paper, the other an envelope bearing an inscription which she read aloud.

"To be read after the typewritten statement, and then shown to the Princess Olina of Transvania, known as Eleanor Lincoln, if it be necessary to convince her of the truth of the statements made in the typewritten paper."

"He evidently knows his vegetables," Lillian commented, laying the letter aside, and spreading out the typed paper. She ran her eyes down the page before reading it aloud, and I, closely watching her, again saw etched around her mouth the tiny but deep lines which betray some sudden strong emotion in her. Yet when she read the statement aloud there seemed to be nothing in it to justify any especial personal feeling upon her part, although it was exciting enough in all conscience.

"To Charles Spencer," she began quietly. "I have been waiting for you to get here before winding up this little job, for it's too much for me to handle alone. If you don't know it already, Eleanor Lincoln is Princess Olina of Transvania, fugitive because she can't stand the old King of Trees for a husband. A woman in the palace, a supposed friend of the girl's, is in the pay of the gang I'm playing marbles with at present. Working on this friendship and giving her a whopping wad of mazuma—Olina had confided to her that she meant to run away—she persuaded the girl to carry a message to the woman's supposed brother in America, who was to give her a certain token establishing his identity. My gifted sidekick in the shack, who is posing as the brother, was unlucky enough to lose his little token and if he knew I'd helped him lose it, I wouldn't be alive to write this. He's just got a duplicate from the other side and with it the enclosed letter which ought to open the young woman's eyes if you have any difficulty in persuading her to give up the package of explosive she's toting around with her."

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

The diagonal line is featured here in the smart revers which trims the closing line of the overlapping front. A group of plaits below the revers at the left side creates smart fulness. The sleeve is a popular model with soft fulness above a band cuff. Printed silk in blue and white with trimming of blue crepe is pictured here. The dress is also attractive in wool crepe with the revers in silk or satin crepe. Or the entire dress of light weight woolen or silk with piping in contrast on neck and revers, will be nice.

The pattern is cut in five sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 38 will require 3⅝ yards of 35-inch material, together with ⅛ yard of contrasting material for facing on revers, cuffs and belt, cutting the facing crosswise. If facing is cut lengthwise ⅞ yard is required. A sash of ribbon as illustrated will require 2¼ yards. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plaits extended is 1⅝ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids, 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

STOLEN LOVE

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, seventeen, and beautiful, lives a secluded life with her two old maiden aunts in a run-down house. Aunt Evvie reveals to her her unmarried mother's tragic love affair and death, but Joan refuses to believe anything but good of her. She falls in love with Bill Martin, a garage worker, who comes once a week to care for Aunt Evvie's car. Meanwhile, the aunts plan to send Joan away to school. Bill tells the girl that he's very poor and it may be years before he can think of marrying, but she vows she will wait for him. Joan is overjoyed when news arrives that she is to go away to school, and writes a note to Bill asking him to meet her. Through a series of unforeseen circumstances she is unable to keep the appointment, and later they see each other in the rose garden at night. On her last evening, before leaving for school, Joan waits in vain for Bill to say goodby. She rushes to his home the next morning and finds he had been sent to jail, an innocent victim of a bootlegging gang. Joan begs her aunts for money to bail him out and confesses the truth of her relations with him, saying they are going to be married. But Evvie gives her the chance of getting on the train that morning or going to reform school. Joan gives in and gets on the train in charge of a woman friend of her aunt's.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII.

JOAN crouched in her corner, looking steadily out of the window with dim, unseeing eyes.

Every turn of the wheels was taking her farther from Bill. Every minute measured nearly a mile she'd have to walk back. At Sacramento, when the train stopped, she got up, strolled to the door. The porter helped her down. "I'm just going to walk up and down!" she said, in a small, choking voice.

A hand touched hers. Mrs. Marden's voice purred. "It's so warm. Let's go into the station. I think we can get an ice cream cone!"

"All aboard! All aboard!" They had to hurry back to the train.

She slumped down in the corner again. The miles sped by. "I'll have to wait until it is dark, and I can pretend to go to bed," she thought. "And it will be so far . . . I'll never get back. . . ."

Unknowingly the porter came to her assistance, bowing to Mrs. Marden. "Excuse me, lady, but I got to start in makin' up my berths—"

"Well—Isn't that exasperating. It isn't eight o'clock—"

"Observation car in the rear, lady—"

"Oh, please—won't you make me instead? I'm so tired—" It was Joan's voice.

"Yes—start with hers," Mrs. Marden said.

She was a conscientious woman. She saw that her charge was properly tucked in the berth, the light out, and the window open.

"Well!" she said. "That's over with!" and complacently swayed down the aisle, toward the observation car.

Joan waited in the station until the train had gone. Then she came out on the platform, and looked up at the sign.

"Truckee. San Francisco, 208 miles."

The tracks stretched dimly into the night. A long street, parallel with the tracks was splashed with lights. There were stores over there, and a restaurant. For the first time in 24 hours she was hungry. Terribly hungry.

"Besides, I ought to eat something—I've got a long way to walk. Two hundred and eight miles. Maybe somebody'll give me a lift, though." Aunt Evvie and Aunt Babe had both warned her repeatedly against it.

The cool mountain air refreshed her. Her spirits began to rise. After she had had a big cup of hot coffee and a thick fried ham sandwich she felt almost happy.

"Anyway, I'm off the train, and Bill will know something happened. He'll know I'm coming. His mother will tell him!"

She was on the highway now, the long, long highway that stretched all those miles to San Francisco. It was pleasant walking by the side of the road in the soft, weedy ground. Cars whizzed by. "After a while one will pick me up," she thought.

After all, she had beaten Aunt Evvie. Beaten her at her own game. And Mrs. Marden—wouldn't she be mad in the morning! Joan laughed out loud. She was only 17—and she was on her way back to Bill!

She quickened her steps. A little blister began to form on her heel. The high-heeled oxfords were beginning to hurt. Another 10 minutes, and the little blister was turning into a big one. Joan sat down on an old barrel by the side of the road, and poked an inquiring finger into the shoe. Maybe it was a little stone, or somethin that was making it hurt so much.

"What's the matter—tire trouble?"

A long limousine had stopped beside her. The driver, a big, red-faced man with a diamond horseshoe in his necktie, beamed at her good naturedly. His little deep set eyes twinkled, his gold teeth—he had three of them—right in front—twinkled too. He seemed a very friendly person to Joan.

"I've got a blister on my heel," she smiled back. "I've been walking—quite a long way—"

"All right—hop in, sister. Which way, and how far? I'm bound for Frisco myself."

"Why, so am I!"

He looked at her a long time. "Frisco! Say—what's the gag? You're no hobo. Come on—tell papa—who you running away from? Cruel stepmother—harsh husband—orphan asylum—"

His little blue eyes weren't laughing now. He made a move as though to go. "Sorry, kid, but I got troubles enough of my own—"

She jumped on the running board. "Wait—it's all right. I'll tell you—"

"Now listen," he said. "It's quite a while since I fell off a load of hay. Don't waste any time spinning a bed-time story for Uncle Walter. Come on—who are you—where you going—where you from—and why?"

She told him the whole story in a dozen words. Her aunts didn't want her to marry the man she loved. He was in trouble. She had slipped off the train. She was going back if she had to walk—every step of the way.

"Get in," he said. "I always was a chicken-hearted fool. Get in. I can see trouble ahead for Uncle Walter. Never mind—get in. We are about to break the records for San Fran!"

On the long grade he talked. "Now tell me about your sweetie's trouble. What did he do, and why did he do it?"

She poured it all into his ears, all about Milt, and Begoni's and the milk truck—and Bill, innocent, in jail.

"Oh, my God!" he said at intervals. "Oh, my God!"

"It's funny I should be telling you all this, isn't it? I guess it's because I'm so tired. I don't know what I'm doing . . ."

"Funny" he chuckled, and threw his chewed cigar out of the window. "That ain't the half of it! Oh, my God . . . poor papa!"

"About this here Milt," he began when they were making another steep grade. "What did you say his name was?"

He looked at the girl when she didn't answer. She was sound asleep, her head fallen almost on his shoulder. One narrow white hand still clutched the handle of the door. Her thick, tawny lashes were long on her pale cheek.

"I don't know why you've been so good to me!" Joan said gratefully when at last she opened her eyes.

"I don't know either!" Walter Dunne said, and slapped his black and white checked leg. "Well—well—Uncle Walt in the Santa Clause business. Haw—"

They had breakfast in a little roadhouse just off the highway. A bleary-eyed waiter in a coffee-stained white coat brought bacon and eggs and buttered toast. At the back of the empty room another waiter mopped the floor, with resentful eyes on them.

"They don't seem to want people for breakfast!"

"No—breakfast ain't their specialty—haw, haw!" and he roared again.

Joan looked at him faintly puzzled. She had never met anyone who laughed so much. At her slighest remark he turned purple and broke into wheezing roars and shouts of laughter that always ended in a fit of coughing.

"You're the soundest sleeper I ever come across," he grinned, pushing the bacon aside and lighting a very black cigar.

She flushed, really embarrased now. "I was so awfully tired—"

As Joan settled comfortably beside him in the deeply cushioned seat he reached over and placed a plump, ringed hand on her. "In a minute I'm going to be too busy hitting it up to talk. Now listen, I'm a poor, chicken-hearted fool, but they aren't all like me. I ain't always sprouting wings myself. Take it from your Uncle Walt and don't go riding in any more strange cars—get me?"

She laughed at him delightedly. "Why—you sound just like Aunt Evvie!"

He started the motor. "Well—next time you take Aunt Evvie's advice."

The miles slipped by, every one bringing her nearer—to Bill. "Don't think I failed you—I'm coming fast—fast as the wind—"

Another women was coming to Bill. Dolores, with her warm dark eyes, and the cloud of blue black hair, so faintly, finely lined with gray.

"It's my money!" she said sullenly, when Gerwin demurred. "If I take a notion to bail him out, is it anything to you?"

"You're my wife!"

"Oh, forget it!"

"It seems easy for you to forget."

"Don't be a fool."

"I'm no fool," he said stolidly. "It's you."

But he let her go. What else could he do? It was, as she said, her money.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Quick Petting Doesn't Mean Real Love, Fay King Tells Girls

By FAY KING

MANY girls confuse the cheap popularity of petting parties with real love! The first sign of real love is slowness—not speed! Even the petters slow up when they begin to be sincere. They would lack that self-assurance with the girl they really loved.

The most practiced enchantress and seductive sheik find it impossible to assume their usual phrases and fascinations in the presence of that one who overpowers them with real feeling!

Those who show so much speed at petting parties are never sincere. That's just a game they play well.

I have often thought there wouldn't be half as many great love poems in the world if the poets had been more able to say the things they wrote!

For the Lovelorn

Goldie

DEAR MISS GALE:

May I please say a few words to the girls who write to your column and deny that petting is a dangerous thing? Girls, listen. I am no old maid or prude, as you probably think, but a girl not quite 20. I have a good figure and pretty face, which have always made me popular and were at one time my pride. But, dear readers, good looks is a mere trifle compared to good character. I fell in love with a boy a year ago and made the fatal mistake of wearing my heart on my sleeve, and let him pet, and the natural thing occurred. He tired of me and cast me aside for a new playmate, but I was the one that was broken-hearted. So, girls, take some advice. Do not pet, for you may become just another broken-hearted girl. My experience has made me a quiet girl, able to appreciate good times and also to keep my heart hidden. By doing this I have won the love and respect of a real man, who knows my story and who will make me Mrs. next month. So, girls, you can see petting is dangerous and you will act wisely by following Miss Gale's advice. And dear Miss Gale, I thank you for reading this little story and passing it on to the readers of your column. I remain, GOLDIE.

I am delighted to pass on your excellent advice. I hope you will be very happy.

Dora

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your advice for some time and have found it excellent. I am a girl in my teens and am coming to you for advice. My mother is an elderly lady and does not approve of my going out with boys. All my other girl friends do. When I do she scolds me. When I have them at my home she tells me that I can't have them any more. Whose advice should I follow my mothers or my brothers and friends?

DORA.

Why not have your brothers talk the matter over with your mother. If you cannot change her. She might listen to them. I see no reason why you shouldn't go out with boys occasionally, or have them at your home.

Lonesome

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a young girl in my teens and am motherless. I stay with Dad and my brother. I have to work very hard, but I can never satisfy my dad. They will not allow me to have any freedom, and I often think of going away, but I know that I couldn't get along alone at my age. My dad has a small amount of money and never wants to dress me up. It breaks my heart to see all of my girl friends dress neatly, and I with nothing. I beg and try to talk, but he doesn't understand, and so I go with no pretty things. Miss Gale, could you please tell me what to do about it? Please tell me how to convince my people to allow me some freedom and to dress me up neatly. I agree with you on all the four questions and hoping I never get to form those habits, I remain, LONESOME.

There is no way of compelling your father to see your viewpoint, my dear. Does he understand that you are ashamed of your appearance? Surely that would influence him.

Once-in-a-While

DEAR MISS GALE:

I look forward to reading your column every night and enjoy it very much. Advice you have given to others has helped me solve my problems, too. I have never written to you before, so I hope you can help me now. I am 18 and imagine myself in love with a fellow who is 26. Is this too much of a difference? I don't go with this fellow steady, just once in a while. Do you have any certain feeling when you're in love? This is my main question: How do you know when you're in love? I do not pet, drink or smoke and do not associate with those who do. Please help me if you can. ONCE-IN-A-WHILE.

My dear, I wish I could tell you some definite way in which you would be sure of your state of heart, but I cannot. All I can say is that if you are really in love you will know it without needing to ask any third person. But be wary of love at your age. It is more apt to be infatuation.

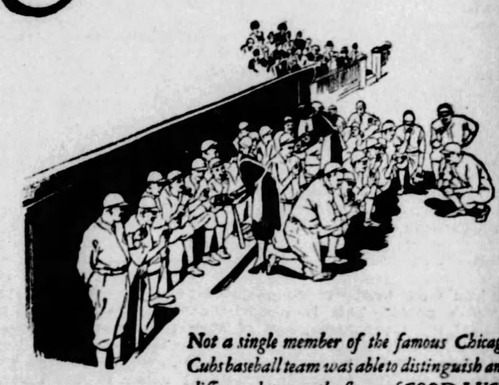
Madam—Now We Challenge YOU to make the test that baffled the Chicago Cubs, Paul Whiteman and his orchestra, the cast of "Manhattan Mary" and many other famous groups



Not a single member of the famous Chicago Cubs baseball team was able to distinguish any difference between the flavor of GOOD LUCK and that of an expensive spread-for-bread

No one else has been able to tell them apart...can YOU?

You have been reading about the Challenge Flavor Test and how it has stumped any number of celebrities. Doubtless you are eager to try it yourself . . . on the members of your own family.

Make this test! Learn for yourself, by actual comparison, how perfectly the exquisite, fresh flavor of GOOD LUCK matches the taste of the most expensive spread-for-bread that you can buy.

To enable you to do so, special preparations have been made. Local dealers have laid in extra stocks of fresh GOOD LUCK so that everyone can get it.

In many cities one out of every two housewives uses GOOD LUCK. But unless they see fit to tell, nobody knows it. There's no difference on the table; baking and cooking reveals no difference in flavor. There is none!

The CHALLENGE FLAVOR TEST points for you the way to happier, better housekeeping through GOOD LUCK economy. Use this famous spread-for-bread on your table and for baking and cooking. You will be delighted. Visit your dealer or telephone your order for a package—now before you forget.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Middle Path Adopted for Season by Powers-That-Be in Social World Instead of Usual Furious Whirl

THIS golden aura of autumn seems to have the effect of elixir of contentment. There is nothing either hectic or depressing about October, whose mellow days are so conducive to the "via media."

The middle path certainly has been adopted by the social world this season. Instead of filling the days of a few short weeks with events from early morning until very early the next morning, the social powers-that-be have ordained a longer season with entertainments spread out over at least four or five weeks more than are usually allotted to the fall and winter season here at home.

Besides the usual social events, folks have found another attraction in an early season—they have found that few places can vie in beauty in October with Pittsburgh.

And if you don't believe yet that society folks aren't motoring to the nearby country or to some out-of-door spot, even if it is a conventional country club, just try to call your friends after luncheon any afternoon. You will find, I dare say, that everyone is out until dinner time.

The debbies are enjoying the early season as much, and I really think, a bit more than anyone else, and perhaps more than buds of other seasons. For they are not so exhausted from a whirl of social activity as the usual bud is. Not that the debs this year aren't being entertained. They surely are. Hardly a day goes by but some event is planned in their honor.

I'm reminded of another debutante luncheon. Mrs. Alexander Murdoch, of Squirrel Hill avenue, will entertain in her home October 25 with a luncheon. Two debutantes will share honors, Bettie Guiler, daughter of the Leonard K. Guilers, of Squirrel Hill avenue, and Rebecca Follansbee, daughter of the John Follansbees, also of Squirrel Hill avenue.

Still another luncheon for the debutante group will be given two days later, on October 27, by Miss Ida Allerton, of Grafton avenue, in her home. Miss Allerton will have as her guest of honor Elisabeth Reed Orr, daughter of the A. Hamilton Orrs, of Stanton avenue. Elisabeth is one of the latest to join the list of debutantes and will come out at a luncheon which her mother will give November 16 in the Twentieth Century Club.

YOU haven't forgotten, have you, about the race meeting which is being held today by the Western Pennsylvania hunts? This is the third annual event, you know, and is scheduled to begin at 3:30 o'clock at "Huntlands," the George R. McNary farm on the New Alexandria road near Greensburg.

IT'S been a long time since we've heard anything about the Junior League, which of course doesn't exist during the summer months when everybody is out of town. The first meeting of the fall will be held on Wednesday, October 24, in the club rooms in the Woman's Exchange. Augusta Leovy is president this year, I might mention to refresh your memory.

Don't you remember that some months ago the Junior League was planning to sponsor a number of marionette plays for children? At the meeting this month, plans will be made for these entertainments, I believe.

MRS. GEORGE FIELD MACDONALD, of Bartlett street, entertained with a bridge luncheon this afternoon in her home in honor of Miss Lois Olivia Linhart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Black Linhart, of Allequippa street, whose marriage to Dayton Leslie Grabill, of Montreal, will be solemnized Tuesday night.

Tomorrow afternoon Miss Mary Houston and Miss Margaret Hannah will entertain in the University Club for Miss Linhart and Mrs. MacDonald, who will be remembered as Miss Katherine Cunningham. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wattles Bikle and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cooper Hoenniger will entertain tomorrow night in the Bikle home in Ben Avon Heights in honor of Miss Linhart and Mr. Grabrill, and following the rehearsal Monday night, Dr. and Mrs. Linhart will be hosts at dinner in the University Club.

Among those who have entertained recently for Miss Linhart are Miss Eda McCoy, who gave a bridge party Tuesday afternoon in her home in South Negley avenue, and Mrs. H. Edwin Ramsey, Jr., of California avenue, formerly Miss Mary Barbara Freese, who was hostess at a bridge luncheon in her home last Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES PROSS, of Greensburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Maola Pross, and Dr. Jerome G. Kaufman, of Newark, which was solemnized yesterday. After a trip to White Sulphur Springs, Dr. and Mrs. Kaufman will be at home in Osborne Terrace, Newark.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Mrs. Mildred Biggert, of Crafton, to Iliff Jones, of this city, formerly of Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Biggert is the widow of Robert W. Biggert, of Dormont, and the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John W. Wilson, of Blairsville.

THE first in a series of three card parties will be held tomorrow afternoon in Oppenheim-Collins' auditorium by Court Chartiers, Catholic Daughters of America. The other parties will be held October 27 and November 3. Miss Margaret Callaghan, Mrs. George F. Ramspacher and Mrs. Frank Mooney are chairman for the various parties.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. FRED MUSHRUSH, of Romine avenue, McKeesport, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Louise Mushrush, to George A. Monk, of Beech street, McKeesport.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ISAAC M. DAVIS, of Forbes Cottages, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Belle Ruth Davis, and Harry E. Cohen, of this city, formerly of Baltimore, which was solemnized yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson. Mr. and Mrs. Cohen have left for a motor trip to Virginia Beach, Va.

EXTENSIVE PLANS MADE FOR B. & P. W. MEETING

EXTENSIVE preparations are being made by the local Business and Professional Women's Club for the inter-club conference to be held October 27 in the William Penn Hotel. Officers and members from 12 out-of-town clubs will be in attendance, and state and national officers will participate in the program. The first business session is called for 3 o'clock, and in the evening a banquet will be held. The local club will have a business and dinner meeting next Thursday night in the Food Craft Shop, Fifth avenue, and will follow dinner with cards.

DR. THOMAS REED, of the University of Michigan, will speak on the Metropolitan Plan at the luncheon which the Women's City Club will give Saturday of next week. At the president's tea honoring Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney tomorrow afternoon, Mrs. William Watson Smith, Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh and Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl, all past presidents, will receive with Mrs. McEldowney.

NOVEMBER 13 is the date set for the annual ingathering of the Pittsburgh Branch of the Needlework Guild of America. It will be held in Calvary Episcopal parish house.

A LUNCHEON will be held at the Food Craft Shop, Fifth avenue, on Thursday by the Skilli Bible Class of Emory Methodist Episcopal Church. For the program which is to follow, Mrs. Maude Ingersoll will present in costume recital Miss Grace Elcoates, soprano, who will be accompanied by Miss Virginia Welty.

JOHN DICKSON FULTON, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. James H. Green, will sing as part of the program arranged by the American Association of University Women for tomorrow at the Congress of Clubs.

* * *

MRS. JOHN SILVEUS is chairman for the benefit bridge which the Homestead Hospital Cot Club will give at Stahl's Gardens next Friday afternoon and evening.

MUSIC for yesterday's meeting of the Ingomar Woman's Club was furnished by C. Fred Newman, baritone, accompanied by Aneurin Bodycomb. The speaker was A. N. Fraser, who described the metropolitan plan. The members met in the home of Mrs. A. A. MacLachlan, Mrs. J. Campbell Roberts and Miss Bessie James being assistant hostesses.

IN her talk before the Housekeepers' Club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Morris Johnson, a past president of the organization, stressed the importance of knowing the status of the manufacturer and the soundness of the firm dispensing any labor-saving device. Many pieces of household equipment were used by Mrs. Johnson to illustrate her talk.

A RUMMAGE sale under auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Point Breeze Church will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at 544 Homewood avenue.

A PURELY social meeting, with no formal program, was held yesterday by the Hazelwood Woman's Club in the usual gathering place, Odd Fellows' Hall. Mrs. Harry J. McKinley, the new president, was hostess and spoke of events of the vacation period.

WILLIAM E. BEST explained the Metropolitan Plan to the Rosslyn Farms Woman's Club when the members met yesterday with Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Jr. Current events were contributed by Mrs. E. P. Schempp.

One cup—another—
and maybe another

You'll pass your tea cup more than once for a drink of this matchless beverage

The right way to make tea
Rinse out teapot with boiling water. Put one teaspoonful of tea in pot for each cup of tea.
Pour freshly boiled, bubbling water on the tea-leaves.
Steep for five or six minutes.
Always serve with milk or cream.

AND what a beverage it is! Rich, fragrant and steaming hot, every cup of Tetley's sends an invigorating warmth through and through you. There's tea to cheer you up!

Economical? Tetley Tea is economical. But quality is not sacrificed to maintain that economy. The finest tea leaves from India are used, as they have been for over 100 years, to make Tetley one of the world's finest tea blends. Tetley Tea costs no more than ordinary blends, either, because it brews stronger and goes farther.

Try a cup today — brewed the Tetley way. Your grocer has it in pound, half-pound and quarter-pound packets, and in tea-bags for individual service.

DR. CADMAN TO SPEAK AT HOSPITAL DRIVE OPENING

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, noted Brooklyn pastor and widely known as newspaper columnist and radio speaker, has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address at the formal opening of the Allegheny General Hospital's campaign drive, according to Dr. Maitland Alexander, general chairman.

The opening will take the form of a dinner in the William Penn Hotel, attended by from 700 to 800 men and women from all sections of the district.

A program, not yet completed, is being prepared for the campaign opening. The evening will mark the start of a two weeks' effort to complete the $5,000,000 fund required for construction of the new 15-story hospital building, which is to be begun as soon as possible on a new site of three acres acquired on North avenue, facing the park.

Special gifts obtained during the past two years have resulted in bringing the fund upward to a point where the efforts of board members and their friends have obtained the maximum possible. It has become necessary to approach the finale by a widespread appeal to all sections served by the hospital to aid in financing the structure.

COLUMBUS DAY BANQUET HELD BY K. OF C.

Greetings from Pope Pius XI were read at the eighteenth annual banquet of Pittsburgh Chapter, Knights of Columbus, in the Fort Pitt Hotel last night, the banquet marking the observance of Columbus Day here. A four-day celebration in commemoration of the discovery of America by Columbus was opened last night by the Sons of Columbus of America, who held a dance in Bryn Mawr Hall, Larimer avenue.

The principal speaker at the Knights of Columbus banquet was Martin H. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., supreme knight of the organization. Bishop Hugh C. Boyle, of the Pittsburgh Catholic diocese, gave the invocation. Other speakers were the Rev. Richard Blackburn Washington, of Hot Springs, Va., a descendant of George Washington.

The greetings from Pope Pius came through the offices of Bishop Boyle, and in addition to sending his greetings for the occasion, congratulated the local knights on their boys' welfare work here.

STATE WELFARE FUND NEED STRESSED

The absolute necessity for improvement of Pennsylvania's state-owned institutions for the insane, feeble-minded, epileptic and delinquents was stressed at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Nurses' Club in their clubhouse, 3346 Fifth avenue, in an address by Frank D. Preston, secretary of the Allegheny county committee for the welfare bond issue, last night. Miss Jessie J. Turnball, president of the club, presided. Mr. Preston said:

"The nurses throughout this state need not be told of the necessity for improvement at our state institutions. They all are familiar with the terrible overcrowding and inadequate equipment for the care of the state's helpless wards. I want to emphasize the importance of the welfare bond issue to be voted on at the general election in November, which appears on the ballot as Amendment No. 10, and I ask you to vote 'yes' on the proposal, which is stated in the following language: 'The state may be authorized to issue bonds to the amount of $50,000,000 for the acquisition of lands and buildings and the construction and improvement of state-owned buildings and the equipment thereof for the care and maintenance of penal offenders, delinquents, mental defectives epileptics and persons mentally diseased.' This money cannot be used for any other purpose and can be spent only by law enactment.

"Amendment No. 10 provides the first opportunity the voters of the state have had to cast their ballots in support of these institutions. The bond issue stands for prevention and cure."

RELIEF WORK DISCUSSED

Plans for completing the work of Near East relief, which for years has been caring for the Christian refugees moved out of Turkey in destitute conditions, were discussed at a luncheon today at Kaufmann's, at which Mrs. James C. Rea was hostess. Mrs. Rea is a member of the Allegheny county committee of the relief. The Near East is now staging its final drive, and after this year the work of the organization is expected to be closed.

One of the big features arranged by the Western Pennsylvania office is the annual bundle day, which will be held on Wednesday, October 17. All Pittsburgh and a number of borough schools will co-operate, buildings being offered as collecting stations for old clothing, and the services of the children being enlisted to search their homes for castoff garments.

HOLD WOMAN IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. R. D. Robinson, 36, of 2737 Mt. Royal road, was arrested at the Squirrel Hill Police Station last night, charged with reckless driving in connection with the auto crash at Murray avenue and Pocusset road yesterday. She will be given a hearing in Traffic Court tomorrow. An automobile driven by Mrs. Robinson and carrying four other passengers, overturned after hitting a parked car. A young woman, whose identity was not disclosed, was cut, and the others bruised. Mrs. Robinson's wrecked car, now in a public garage, is held in lieu of a forfeit for her appearance.

WOMAN, ACQUITTED, SUES EX-EMPLOYER

Stella Ridenbaugh acquitted September 11, of embezzlement has brought suit for $10,000 damages against A. P. Mitchell, of the North Side Maytag Company, charging false accusations. Mrs. Ridebaugh, who was a manager, bookkeper and cashier of the firm, says she was taken from her home at 1215 Monterey street after midnight April 24, with a month-old child, lodged in No. 1 Police Station and and kept there three days. Mitchell, who lives at 1144 Wayne street, is a part owner of the business. Mrs. Ridenbaugh was acquitted of all nine counts. She is represented by Attorney Jacob Schulgold.

men's fine tailored topcoats

$25 $30 $35

So far this season more Topcoats sold here than we ever remember. Perhaps, because more and more men each year are learning the advantage of wearing a warm topcoat on chilly mornings and evenings before overcoat weather begins. More likely because styles and patterns were never smarter than this season's. And quite possible that these unusually fine values offer the clinching argument.

Finest knit topcoast you ever saw at $25. Finer coats at $30. Others at $35, $40 and on up to $125.00.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Display, owned by Walter J. Salmon, of New York, won the $20,000 Gold Cup race at Hawthorne yesterday, nosing out Mike Hall in a sensational finish. Crusader was third. The time was 2:03 for the mile and a quarter distance.

TEE to GREEN

BY VERN SWARTSFAGER

THEY had a great time of it at the Nemacolin Country Club yesterday when they celebrated "Jimmy Devlin Day." Most important of all the serious business that took place was the re-election of C. E. MacGinnis, of Washington, as president, at the annual meeting.

The board of directors for the ensuing year will include Kerfoot W. Daly, R. H. Rush, A. M. Sargent, James E. Herberson, H. Vance Cottam, H. Fisher Clark, L. V. Martindell, Herbert Hertzog, Lee M. Crowthers, J. Olan Yarnell, George Burnett, Jr., David Beveridge, A. L. Phillips, Guy Woodward, and, of course, the president.

Golfers throughout the district will be pleased to learn that Jimmy Devlin has been retained as professional for next year. He is one of the most popular men in the district. C. P. Bromble was named secretary and greenskeeper, and Frank Bruno, caddiemaster.

THE day's celebration included several golf events. Dr. J. W. McKennan won the 18-hole handicap affair with a net 69 and also carried off the club's special prize.

Dr. R. A. Minton totaled 850 yards on three drives to win the long driving competition. He drove 295, 280 and 275 yards in succession—some hitter.

Homer L. Burchinal topped the putting contest, while the best ball foursome honors went to H. E. Fergus, J. M. McMahan, J. H. Clayhaugh and F. W. Brady, who had a 68.

The course at Nemacolin was in ideal condition. And the members did their best to make Jimmy Devlin Day a memorable one to him.

THE Youghiogheny Country Club, near McKeesport, boasts a new golf champion—and a mighty good one at that. He is C. C. Cain, who disposed of Wilbert Huemme, one of a pair of justly famous twins, in the 36-hole final round by 6 up and 4 to play. The honors in the second division went to George Hitchens, Jr., following his victory over Dr. W. N. Nill, 1 up, in the finale of that flight.

The Cain-Huemme battle had a regular gallery, we are informed, and caused the players a nervous moment or two before they were through. Huemme, falling off of his regular game, needed 83 strokes, while Cain chalked up 77, in the morning round, the latter being all of 4 up at that time.

The remarkable thing about Cain's victory is the fact that he has only been playing the game for about five years. In 1926, Herman Huemme, brother to Wilbert, eliminated Cain in the final round.

WE HAVE it on good authority that Capt. Harmer D. Denny, Jr., a descendant of Maj. Ebenezer Denny, first mayor of Pittsburgh, has become a member of the Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the American Revolution. Mayor Kline signed Capt. Denny's papers, thereby linking the past with the present.

Incidentally, both participated in the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution golf championship for the Forsythe-Blackstone cup.

The well-known J. Bernd Rose, of Allegheny, also competed; he is (continued on page thirty-three)

Lloyd, Star Back, Out

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Led by Admiral Samuel S. Robinson, commander of the Naval Academy, and given a great sendoff by the regiment of middies, the Navy football team left last night on its special train for Chicago, where tomorrow it will seek to match the brawn of Notre Dame and obtain solace for the two defeats which were given it in the first two games of the season against Davis-Elkins and Boston College.

Coach Bill Ingram, during the past week, taking his cue from the showing made by some substitutes injected into the fray against Boston, has juggled his line and thrown together a practically new backfield, in which Whitey Lloyd, former star, has no place.

In that backfield Whelchel will be calling the signals. Joe Clifton, the only regular to retain his place, will be at fullback, and the halves will be cared for by Castree and Joe Bauer, who proved their mettle last Saturday against the Bostonians.

Hughes has been retained at center, and is flanked by Capt. Eddie Burke and Eddy at the guard posts. Bowstrom and Wilson will probably get the call at tackles, Ingram intimated.

WAYNESBURG

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—A severe blow to Waynesburg College hopes for victory in the football game with Geneva College to be played here tomorrow came yesterday in the form of a severe injury to Tom McCurdy, Yellow Jacket star lineman and backfield man. McCurdy wrenched an ankle in a practice session and last night was hobbling about on crutches. It is not likely that he will be able to start against the Covenanters.

WEST VIRGINIA

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 12.—One of the largest pre-game thuses on record here was held last night in Commencement Hall where Alumni Secretary Roy Yoke and George Jackson, assistant alumni secretary, made the principal addresses. The West Virginia University football team was cheered individually and collectively, to the echo, and the players were assured of the support of the student body in the Pitt game tomorrow.

PENN STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 12.—(AP.)—With the Bucknell game only a day away, Penn State coaches took no chances with injuries and yesterday ordered only the lightest of dummy scrimmage for the practice.

Struble, who has been at Delp's end position all week, continued to show his best form. Delp will be in shape to play, but may not be used at the start of the clash with the Bisons.

Eschback, reserve center, was back in uniform yesterday afternoon after being on the sidelines for two weeks with an injured ankle.

BETHANY

BETHANY, W. Va., Oct. 12.—With two major contests of the year now past, Coach Furman L. Nuss will now center his attention trying to win the remainder of the games on the schedule for this year. The Bisons opened the season with an auspicious win over Broaddus, which was followed with two defeats, one at the hands of Washington and Jefferson and the other was sustained at Pittsburgh, where the Bisons made a poor showing. The next game will take place October 20 at Waynesburg, when the Nussman engage the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets.

ST. VINCENT'S

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 12.—Coach Clem Crowe will have Suspanka, star end, in the game tomorrow against Potomac State at Latrobe. For a while it was feared the big end would be compelled to remain out, as he suffered a shoulder injury last Saturday in Indiana. It appears that Milliron will replace Capt. O'Donnell at center.

PENN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—(AP.) John Smith, who was selected as tackle on several all America teams last year, figured in the shakeup of the Pennsylvania football team yesterday. Smith, a senior, whose home is Salt Lake City, was sent to the second eleven and Gene Kuen, of Philadelphia, replaced him.

YANKS REFUND $200,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The world series is over for everyone concerned except the business office of the Yankees. Clerks in the counting house of the world champions will be busy for weeks mailing checks to ticket holders for the unplayed sixth game.

The purchasers of box and reserved seat tickets for the game that would have been played in New York if the Cardinals had made it necessary, will have their money refunded by sending their tickets in by registered mail.

The club will have to refund $200,000. Last year when the refund was made on the fifth game tickets, $170,000 was returned. The tickets began to arrive at the baseball offices yesterday. Secretary E. G. Barrow reported "several bushels" already on hand. The rush will be in about three weeks, but the task will not be completed until the end of the winter if last year's experience may be regarded as typical.

DEVOS BEATS KAPLAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Rene De Vos, blond Belgian middleweight, battered out a decisive victory over K. O. Phil Kaplan, one of the few remaining obstacles in his path toward a shot at the 160-pound crown, in a stirring 10-round battle last night in Madison Square Garden. De Vos spilled his man for a count of two with a sharp left hook in the second round.

Kaplan fought gamely, smashing constantly at De Vos' body, but could not match the punching power of the brilliant invader. The New York star ran into a barrage of head punches in the ninth and tenth rounds that rocked him to the heels and nearly closed both eyes.

Maxie Rosenbloom, another New York middleweight, walloped Tiger Payne, Australian Negro, in a 10-round semi-final. Rosenbloom weighed 166, Payne 170.

'CHESNEYTOWN AT PORT VUE

Arrangements were completed last evening to bring the big Red McChesneytown machine to Port Vue Sunday to meet the Quakers. Representatives of the clubs met in the offices of the Sun-Telegraph and signed a contract to bring together these great undefeated elevens.

Dan Daugherty, Freizel and Gannon will be the officials of the central board assigned to handle this game.

In the dressing room at Navin Field in Detroit, where the New York Yankees won the American League pennant, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig gave the blindfold cigarette test to Manager Miller Huggins.

The famous Yankee pilot was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked, "which one do you like best?"

...URGH FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1928 THIRTY-ONE

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Cardinal Owners Have Not Mentioned Any Planned Managerial Change to McKechnie—Alexander Believed to Be Done and Says He May Retire—Baseball Comedians Lose Money on Their Act.

EVIDENTLY baseball custom or fashion decree that when a club has been badly beaten in a world series a flock of rumors must be put in circulation to the effect that the losing team is to be rebuilt from the manager down to the bat boy.

Frank Snyder

As might have been expected, the Cardinals are not being spared this fall. Short of material, following the conclusion of the title series that resulted so disastrously for the Redbirds, some of the space writers already have started in to fire or trade numerous members of the St. Louis outfit.

NOT even Manager Bill McKechnie has been spared by the fiction experts. They are telling the public that the Wilkinsburg man is to be succeeded as pilot in 1929 by Frank Snyder, former Giant and Redbird catcher, who steered the Houston club (owned by the Cardinal bosses) to the Texas League pennant this year and also to victory over the Birmingham Southern Association flag winners for the Dixie championship.

In all probability the McKechnie story, at least, is merely a wild rumor, utterly without authenticity. Dropping a manager who has just won a pennant is not customary in baseball. It is true that the St. Louis club took such a rare step after Rogers Hornsby had won the National League flag and the world championship in 1926, but that move was prompted by unusual conditions that do not exist in the case of McKechnie.

IMMEDIATELY after the final game of the world series President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis club expressed himself emphatically on the managerial question. He said that no change was contemplated, and appeared surprised that such a rumor had been started in view of the fact that McKechnie had won the league championship in his first year as leader of the Cardinals.

"It is all out of order, and we have never even thought of such a thing," he said.

Herb Drury

MANAGER M'KECHNIE himself, when questioned about the rumors, seemed inclined, like the majority of fans everywhere, to consider them merely the first of the annual off-season crop of wild yarns. "Certainly, it is all news to me," said Bill, who is trying to forget baseball for a while and is preparing for a hunting trip. "Neither President Breadon nor any of the other officials of the St. Louis club has said a word to me on the subject. I came home as soon as the series was over, and we have not yet discussed any plans for next year. We did talk over a general outline of arrangements for 1929 a few weeks ago, but nothing has been said since."

ONE of the St. Louis rumors that is generally believed is that Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran pitcher, who was unable to show anything like his old form in the series against the Yankees, is about done and is not likely to be with the Cardinals next year.

Alexander himself is the authority for this. "I was hit so hard that I guess I'm about through," he said after the fourth game. "In the second game at New York I had poor control, but I felt right in every respect when I relieved Shardel in the fourth contest. The home runs that Ruth and Durst made off me were heart-breakers, and I feel like giving up baseball for good. If McKechnie wants me to come back in the spring I'll have to think it over before I sign. In recent years I have been going along on my nerve, and I realize now that I can't go on forever." Alexander will be 42 years old next February 26.

Grover Alexander

LOST—One Pittsburgh hockey player. Noted for years as the fastest skater in the ice game and for the pecularity that he always wears a cap when in action. Answers to the name of Herb Drury.

If the new owners of the Pittsburgh hockey team desire to have Drury's services for the 1928-29 season they may be forced to insert an advertisement along the above lines in the newspapers. For Herb is strangely among the missing. His brother, Morley, former football star at the University of Southern California, came to Pittsburgh recently to visit him, only to learn that Herb was not in the city.

INQUIRY since has disclosed the fact that none of Herb's acquaintances has seen him for at least two months, and none of them has the slightest knowledge of his whereabouts. He appears simply to have faded out of this region, and so far as known has not communicated with any one in Pittsburgh. Drury's chance of making the local team for the approaching season if he returns to this city is uncertain. He is not being considered as a sure regular, but must show superiority over a number of new candidates in order to win a berth.

BENNY LEONARD, former lightweight boxing champion, who is to be the chief official of the Pittsburgh hockey club, and who is planning to run boxing shows at Duquesne Garden in addition to the ice sport, will find it necessary to associate some Pennsylvanians with himself in the latter venture.

Commissioner Havey J. Boyle explains that under the rules of the state athletic commission, a non-resident of Pennsylvania is not permitted to conduct glove shows unless some residents of this state are connected with the promoting club or individual. The only exception ever made was when Tex Rickard was permitted to hold the first Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney fight in Philadelphia a little more than two years ago.

WHILE on the subject of boxing, Donie Bush, manager of the Pittsburgh baseball club said in New York last week that he had spotted a coming champion at a Gotham boxing

FANS TO HONOR BILL M'KECHNIE

William B. McKechnie, popular Wilkinsburger, who led the St. Louis Cardinals to the National League pennant, will be honored at a testimonial banquet to be held at the Penn Lincoln Hotel next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The Wilkinsburgh borough, Wilkinsburg Business Men's Association, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club and Lions Club are sponsoring the affair.

An elaborate program is being arranged by J. Leonard Cook, general chairman. Members of the St. Louis and Pittsburgh baseball clubs have been invited.

VERSATILE

Berkman is one of the most versatile backs in the Tri-state collegiate ranks, as he demonstrated against Pitt in the Stadium two weeks ago.

STAR

Four action pictures of Stanley Berkman, captain and halfback star of the Thiel College eleven, which plays Carnegie Tech at Forbes Field tomorrow.

SCARES PITT

In the third period of the battle with Pitt, Berkman tossed a scare into the Panther camp by unleashing a forward-passing attack that carried play to the 18-yard line, with Pitt leading by only 6 to 0. An intercepted pass broke up the advance. Berkman tosses the leather like a bullet and is one of the best men in that department in the game today. Tech knows what to expect from him, for he was a troublesome customer against the Tartans last year.

Berkman runs, passes, bucks the line and kicks, making him a quadruple-threat man. He also is captain and directs the play of the eleven.

LUTHERAN ELEVEN FACES TECH

By JESS CARVER.

IRA and his boys and his old black hat will be in town tomorrow, ready and willing to serve to Pittsburgh, or help serve, the first major football portion of the present season. Ira and his boys will not come alone, for the folks of West Virginia are firm in their belief that it is their year and, according to Harry Adam Stansbury, some 10,000 mountaineers wil leave their home fires to cheer the university eleven as it battles Pitt.

Pitt and West Virginia have met on the gridiron for many years. The Panthers have the edge in the matter of games won, and their edge is a decided one. They've won some 15 games out of the 23 played, losing seven and drawing one. Last year they took a terrific beating, being punched around for a 49-0 setback, a lacing that came close to demoralizing the team for the entire campaign.

Tomorrow's game is expected to be a close one, though Pitt will enter the game the favorite, principally because the Panthers have won both of their preliminary games and have not been scored upon, and because West Virginia has already met defeat. Besides, the Panthers showed some of the great power on attack that carried them through an undefeated season a year ago against the big Bethany varsity last Saturday.

PITT TO WORK OUT

Pitt will get a light workout today, which will consist of signal drill, and calisthenics. West Virginia's workout at Morgantown will also be light.

One change is contemplated in the Panther starting lineup for the game tomorrow. Jess Crissinger, the husky and ambitious guard is slated to start in the place of Ruby Dimeolo, who was slightly injured in the Bethany game. Crissinger is a fine defensive lineman, and his insertion into the forward wall will certainly not serve to weaken that member.

While West Virginia is invading the city from the south, Thiel College and its cohorts will be making their second attack of the year from the north. Tommy Holleran will lead his Lutherans here for a battle with Carnegie Tech at Forbes Field. The Thielians met Pitt here in the first game of the season and they gave the Panthers a ball game. They hope to do as well against the powerful Carnegie eleven tomorrow. Tech will lineup against the invaders in somewhat of a crippled condition as far as those who have been listed as starting players are concerned. Leo Schnupp, he of the big paws, will be out of the picture nursing his injured shoulder and Howard Eyth, the new halfback star will rest his

SPEAKING OF SPORTS by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

THAT fast pitch incident in St. Louis the other day, which had to do with the striking out of Babe Ruth with his bat on his shoulder and the overruling of the third strike by the umpire on the ground that it was a fast pitch, reminds me of a parallel in football.

The tale concerns a series play that ol' Pop Warner dragged down off the shelf some years back for Pitt to use against West Virginia at Forbes Field. The Mountaineers looked tough that year and so Pop thought he ought to get the jump on them by springing a surprise play that hadn't been in general circulation for yahs and yahs and yahs.

It was a simple little thing, consisting of a fake drive off tackle, in which one of the halfbacks carried the ball and purposely stumbled as he hit the line. The Panthers then hurriedly lined up where they were, and, without a signal, the prostrate back snapped the ball back to the other half, who skirted around the opposite end and headed for the goal line. The idea was that the defense naturally would take its time picking itself up after the first scrimmage in anticipation of the regular lineup for the next play.

Now, the cagy Pop figured the possibility of not only catching the opposition but also the officials napping, so he took the referee into his confidence before the game, explaining the play in detail to him and telling him to be on the lookout for it. "Fine stuff," chortled the ref, and the stage was set.

WELL, soon after the first kickoff, with the West Virginia goal more than half the distance of the field away, Pitt pulled it. Andy Hastings grabbed the ball and hit tackle and stumbled and Pitt hastily formed a scrimmage line and Andy passed back to Jimmy DeHart, who scooted around the opposite end and was off for what appeared to be a touchdown. But, was it a touchdown? It was NOT.

"Toot!" went some official's whistle, and the ball was called back. Somebody was offside or

BIG TRAIN GRANTED NEWARK RELEASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(INS.)—Walter Johnson has been offered the job of managing the Washington Senators next year, succeeding Bucky Harris, it was announced today by Clark Griffith, president of the club.

Johnson has accepted, contingent on securing his release as manager of the Newark Bears from Paul Block, owner of the International League team.

Johnson broke into big league baseball with Washington and developed into one of the game's greatest pitching stars. His contract as manager of the Newark team still has a year to run.

RELEASED BY NEWARK

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Paul Block, owner of the Newark baseball club, today left it to Edward B. McLeean, publisher of the Washington Post, to decidew hether he should release Walter Johnson, Newark Bears' manager, to manage the Washington Senators next season.

Block said that McLean had been instrumental in getting Johnson for Newark, and he thought McLean was the man to say whether Johnson should go back.

Though Block did not say so, it appeared that McLean had appealed to him to release Johnson to Clark Griffith at Washington.

Block said he would not stand in Johnson's way, and that if McLean decided Johnson, in his own interests, ought to accept, Johnson was free to do so.

Block sent a telegram to McLean as follows:

"I have just received your telegram regarding Walter Johnson. As it was you who actually got him for my Newark baseball club, I dislike to refuse your request, much as I would like to keep him at the head of our team.

"I have also always had a feeling that it was wrong to stand in the way of a man who can improve his business situation. This holds good in baseball as well as in business itself.

"Therefore, if the signing of Johnson by the Washington team as its manager can be considered a promotion for him, then I would not want to stand in his way."

POSSIBILITY, WALT SAYS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—Walter Johnson, manager of the Newark club of the International League, admitted in an ingerview here today there was a "possibility" he might manage the Washington Senators next year.

"I naturally would like to go back to the club where I played so long, and I understand indirectly there is a possibility that I could do so if arrangements could be made," he said while stopping off here to change trains for New York.

"Before I would consent to talk business with Griffith, however, I would want to talk with Paul Block, owner of the Newark club, with whom I have another year's contract. He has treated me mighty fine during my stay here."

NEAR RIOT MARS COAST SERIES

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—With the big bat of Roy Rohwer, sub outfielder, accounting for five of their runs, the Sacramento Senators took a hairbreath encounter yesterday from the San Francisco Seals, to even the count at one all in the playoff for the Pacific Coast championship. The final score was 8 to 7.

Although the Seals hammered Louis Vinci for 15 hits and nicked Doc Crandall who relieved Vinci for a single in the ninth, they were kept scattered almost equally throughout the game; while two of the Solons' eight hits were homers from Rohwer's talented bat, the first with three on base.

A near riot occurred in the fourth when Elmer Jacobs, Seal pitcher, angered at a called ball decision of Umpire Henry Fanning, threw a ball at him, striking him in the leg.

HOYT MAY OPPOSE GRAYS IN GAME HERE

Waite Hoyt, who was one of the heroes in the recent Yankee-Cardinal world series was expected here today to take the mound for the American League All-Stars Grays in the sixth battle of their series at Forbes Field.

Yesterday at Butler, the Homestead Grays made it four out of five when Streeter outpitched Walberg, to win the decision, 12 to 10.

HOMERS FEATURE FRAY

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 12.—The Homestead Grays defeated the American League barnstormers, 12 to 10, here yesterday in a freak slugfest in which 11 home runs were registered. It was the Pittsburghers' fourth win in five games, a sixth is to be played at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh today. The score:

LANDIS DIVIDES SPOILS

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Financial echoes of the world series reverberated from the office of the baseball commissioner yesterday as Kenesaw Mountain Landis signed over checks totaling $176,289.37, to the victorious New York Yankees.

The Commissioner disposed of the Yankees' division of the spoils in checks ranging from $500, the amount given Mrs. Urban Shocker, widow of the former Yankee hurler, to $5,813.20, the sum received by 26 players, the coaches and Manager Miller Huggins.

From the bat boy to the Mighty Babe there was something for all. Every player that figured in the Yankees' pennant climb was remembered. Wiley Moore, the hero of the 1927 series came in for a full share, although he was released before the close of the season because of a sore arm. Stanley Covleskie, Albert Shealy and Rosy Ryan, who saw only part time service with the champions, were given half shares.

It was the largest cut ever received by a team winning the world series. While having no comment to make, Commissioner Landis, beaming countenance expressed his satisfaction at the success of the 1928 series.

Full shares of $5,813.20 went to Manager Miller Huggins, Coaches Arthur Fletcher and Charley O'Leary, Fred Heimach, Tom Zachary, T. Collins, Earle Combs, Joe Dugan, Leo Durocher, Cedric Durst, Michael (Gazella) Lou Gehrig, John Grabowski, Waite Hoyt, Henry Johnson, Mark Koenig, Anthony Lazzeri, Bob Meusel, Herb Pennock, George Pipgras, Eugene Roberston, George Herman Ruth, Myles L. Thomas, Wiley Moore and Benjamin Paschal.

Three-quarter shares amounting to $4,359.90 were given to Mark Roth, traveling secretary, and Albert Woods, trainer. Coveleskie, Shealy, Ryan and Matty Mathews came in for a half shares of $2,906.60. Six clubhouse boys and the bat boy received $4,300 in amounts ranging from $750. to $1,000.

WAYNESBURG LOSES STAR

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—George Cree, substitute halfback on the Waynesburg High School eleven, was lost to the team yesterday for the remainder of the season, when he suffered a broken wrist in a practice scrimmage.

FIFTH JUNIORS WIN

The girls' swimming team of Fifth Avenue Junior High defeated the Schenley Juniors, 30 to 20, in a meet at the Fifth pool yesterday afternoon. Miss Kornikow, of Fifth and Miss Smith, of Schenley were outstanding stars.

WEST PENN POLICE IN PISTOL MATCH

Western Pennsylvania police are guests of Thomas A. McGinley, Sewickley Heights, today, at their annual revolver shooting championships. Ten teams are entered in the competitions, which include shooting from 15, 25 and 50 yards at both slow and rapid fire. Today's event is the third unofficial championship meet that McGinley has staged for West Penn police.

KQV TO BROADCAST PITT-W. VA. GRID GAME

Local station KQV will broadcast a play-by-play description of the Pitt-West Virginia football game at the stadium tomorrow afternoon. The broadcasting is to begin at 2:20, with R. G. Hegner and J. Miller at the "mike."

MEADOWBROOK POLOISTS WIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The Meadowbrook four won the United States open polo championship yesterday, defeating a crack Army aggregation, 8 goals to 5, in the final on International Field at the Meadow Brook Club.

Winston Guest, back of the United States "big four," again played a leading role in Meadow Brook's victory. Playing at No. 2, he scored thrice, as did C. V. Whitney, No. 1. Capt. C. H. Gerhardt was high scorer for Army, tallying three goals.

The match not only was regarded as the final of the open championship, but also as a preliminary match in the Monty Waterbury Cup competition, a handicap affair. With its five goal handicap, the Army was declared victor in the cupcompetition, 10 to 8. In another preliminary of the Waterbury Cup play, the Sands Point team defeated the Eastcotts, 12 to 11. The lineup:

Meadow Brook—		Army—
C. V. Whitney	No. 1	Lt. Jones
F. W. C. Guest	No. 2	Capt. Gerhardt
John B. Miles	No. 3	Capt. Rodes
M. Stevenson	Back	Capt. Huthsteiner

Goals: Meadow Brook—Whitney 3, Guest 3, Miles 2. Army—Gerhardt 3, Jones 1, Rodes 1.

Landis Divides Spoils

Yankees to Get Wrist Watches As Emblems

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Members of the World Champion Yankees have asked that their official emblems of supremacy be wrist watches and in accordance with baseball custom Commissioner Landis will present each player of the winning team with a watch, in addition to their checks. The watches will be purchased from the share of receipts set aside for the commissioner. In other years rings, watches and charms have been agreed upon.

SOCCER by NEWS TOMBIRKS

HEIDELBERG finally was admitted to the American Soccer League last evening at a special meeting of the league members. Dunlevy will appear at the Corinthians, German Sport Club will travel to McKeesport to meet the Tubers, and Westinghouse will stage a local derby at Chambers Field with the Magyars providing the opposition. The inclusion of Heidelberg means that one club will be idle each week. This week it will be Heidelberg. That is a better arrangement than having the national amateur cracks out of the loop.

The District league will also stage a couple of games this week. Celtics will appear for the first time at Twin-Boros and Clan Douglas will meet the Pittsburgh Rovers at Lawrence Park.

Heidelberg's admittance to the American loop also means that the Heidelberg boys now on other squads will be back wearing the green and gold. That is with the possible exception of Grandy and Courtley.

WISCONSIN, PURDUE TILT DRAWS LOCAL ALUMNI

With Wisconsin and Purdue both rated as serious contenders for the Western Conference title, interest in the game of October 20 is at a high pitch among local alumni of the two institutions.

There are several hundred Wisconsin and Purdue alumni in Pittsburgh who are hoping to see the game which will send one of the teams toward the Big Ten pennant, and a special train has been chartered to carry the local fans to Lafayette, Ind., October 20.

Details of the trip are being arranged by E. B. Baugh, secretary of the Purdue alumni, 700 Maloney Building, Court 3220, extension 127, and A. J. Ackerman of the Wisconsin Club, 2527 Oliver Building, Atlantic 1704.

WAYNESBURG GETS WALTONS' CONVENTION

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—Word has been received here that Waynesburg has been awarded the 1929 state convention of the Izaak Walton League of America. Confirmation of the decision of the state body to gather here next year was received by C. E. Yount, secretary of the Greene County Chapter, and who attended the convention at Harrisburg this week as a delegate from the local chapter.

show. He referred to Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro bantamweight.

Nick Altrock

"He is the greatest fighter I ever saw in any class, and if they give him half a chance against the topnotchers I don't see how he can be kept from winning the title in his class."

Bush's judgment was borne out to some extent last Wednesday night, when Chocolate won a 10-round decision over such a smart veteran as Eddie O'Dowd.

THERE were only two persons who did not get a laugh out of the comedy stunts of Nick Altrock and Al Schacht at the world series games in St. Louis. Those two were Altrock and Schacht themselves. It was anything but funny to Nick and Al when they found they had lost money on their byplay. The New York club refused to let the comedians perform at the Yankee stadium, even though they say they offered to work on the first day without charge. They were engaged by the St. Louis club for the Mound City games, however, at a special price which Schacht says he understood would be $250 each. "When it came time to settling up, they told me they had meant $250 for the act, or only $125 each," said Schacht, "and as we spent $275 traveling to New York, to St. Louis, then back to New York, together with hotel bills and the like, we were out just $25. So the Cardinals aren't the only ones singing the St. Louis Blues."

CHESS TOURNEY OPENS

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The international chess masters' tournament at the Cafe Koenig got under way yesterday with Reti of Czecho-Slovakia and Dr. Tartakower of France winners in the first round. Marshall, United States champion, was defeated, while Capablanca of Cuba failed to finish, although having the advantage at adjournment.

BOUTS AT SMOKER

Four bouts will feature the smoker to be held by St. Joseph's Lyceum, Ormsby avenue, Mt. Oliver, next Tuesday evening. The main bout will be between Jack Barry and Dilly Woods, while the preliminaries will feature Joe Louder, Jack Unglo, Patsy Gallagher, Dominick Profio, Jack Katkish and Sailor Sharkey. Other entertainment also will be presented. Harry Leopold, president of the lyceum, will be in charge.

THREE BIG SCHOOL GAMES TODAY

CITY LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.
SECTION I.
South at Peabody.
SECTION II.
Carrick at Allegheny.
INTERSECTIONAL.
Perry at Fifth Avenue.

AN intersectional contest with Fifth Avenue and Perry as the principals on the former's grounds and two City League contests, one in each section, head the day's scholastic gridiron card in this section.

The battle in Section Two yesterday between South Hills and Oliver, which was won by South Hills, 7-0, thus breaking the tie that existed for the first place position, was easily the scholastic feature of the week, but today's games hold no small measure of interest. Perry has been established favorites over Fifth, but the Uptowners are certain to give the North Siders a strenuous argument.

In Section One, South and Peabody will meet in the East End in a regularly scheduled sectional crash and in Section Two, Coach Lyons' Carrick squad will invade the lair of the Allegheny warriors.

Some good games are listed for outside the city. Al Wierman's Beaver High School eleven will meet Sewickley on the latter's gridiron; Washington and Duquesne are ready for their battle at Duquesne and Brownsville will be given a real test by Redstone at home.

Dormont, defeated in freak games in both early season starts, hopes to break the winning ice by beating Bridgeville at Bridgeville this afternoon. Kittanning and Punxsutawney meet in their annual clash on the latter eleven's field. Bellevernon and Bentleyville are scheduled for a game at Bellevernon and South Union Township High plays Point Marion in a Southwestern Section tilt.

The lineup of yesterday's South-Oliver game:

South Hills—7.		Oliver—0.

Currie	R.E.	Meals
Riske	Q.	Burrows
Davis (C)	L.H.	McMillan
Critchlow	R.H.	Schotts
Pietsch	F.	Mohr

Score by periods:

South Hills	0	0	0	7	—7

Touchdowns—Parke. Point after touchdown—South Hills (Oliver offside on scrimmage play). Substitutions: South Hills—Haney, Josses, Craig, Ladley; Oliver, Freeland. Referee—Starrett. Umpire—Hills. Head linesman—Titzel. Time of periods—10 and 12 minutes.

somebody clipped from behind, or something. I never did find out what the exact violation was supposed to be. But now, after what happened in St. Looie on Tuesday, I am inclined to think it was a quick pitch. Anyway, the play had been given away and Pop's inventiveness went for naught.

Pitt played Syracuse at Syracuse the following week. The Orange had scouted the Panthers in the West Virginia game and they were hep to the play and had devised a means of breaking it up, and how! All they did was to have somebody sit on top of the halfback every time he hit off tackle and stay there until the referee had declared the ball dead and thus automatically given Syracuse a chance to line up in the orthodox fashion on defense.

LOOKS as if that Zeppelin may beat even the world series record by getting over in less than four days.

Pitt and West Virginia may draw most of the local football fans to their game at the Stadium tomorrow, but considerable interest will be centered on the battle at Little Washington between Duquesne University and Wash-Jeff. W. & J. blazed the way for both Pitt and Tech by giving the Dukes a place on its schedule this year, following the fine start made last year by Coach Elmer Layden toward bringing the Dukes back into the limelight. Pitt and Tech both should have been glad to reach down and give the Dukes a helping hand, but lacked the initiative. Now that W. & J. has taken the lead and tickets have sold so briskly for the game at Little Washington that the drawing power of the Bluffites cannot be questioned, both Pitt and Tech are in a mood to make overtures to the Laydenites. Don't be surprised if the Dukes appear on the schedule of one of these two local rivals in the stadium next fall.

12 RULES FOR SUCCESS by GENE TUNNEY RETIRED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

NO XII—PRIDE IN PATRIOTISM.

DR. EDWARD EVERETT HALE tells a thrilling and pathetic story of the Man Without a Country. The character in Dr. Hale's story damned the United States and in punishment for his ingratitude was placed upon a ship and sentenced to sail the high seas the rest of his life. He was never permitted to see a paper, read a book, hear a message, enjoy a conversation that in any way referred to the country he had so wantonly disparaged.

It is an old story, but it illustrates my point. An Englishman said if he were not an Englishman he would be a Scotchman. The Scotchman, not to be outdone, said if he were not a Scotchman he would be an Englishman; then, turning to their fellow-Irishman, they said, "If you were not an Irishman what would you be?" He said in a whimsical and musical brogue, "I would be ashamed of myself."

So I would be ashamed of myself if, in the smallest degree, I were not in love and sympathy with my native land. It has been an asylum of refuge for the repressed people of Europe and has given thousands a home of civil and religious liberty such as they could not have enjoyed in the Old World. It has opened up to the children of these immigrants privileges and opportunities without respect to race, creed or color which their fond parents never could have given them if they had remained on the wrong side of the Atlantic.

PROUD OF COUNTRY

I love my country because its royal blood is red blood and its throne is industry and its crown character. Here the boy from the humblest home may climb to the highest summit of success in any of the great avenues of endeavor. I love my native land because its battles never have been fought for conquest, but always for humanity. Its flag is the most beautiful that ever shook its folds to the breeze, its Declaration of Independence the noblest ever conceived by the brain of men, its homes the happiest and most prosperous and contented on the face of the earth.

My country pleads for peace, argues for fair play and demands square-dealing for all peoples, nations and tongues. When the Great War darkened the world's sky I enlisted in the Marine Corps. I only did what thousands of others of my fellow countrymen did in defense of humanity and world peace.

I found the Marines a daring, courageous, patriotic group of men. They always were ready to take a hand. They never counted the cost.

MARINE MEMORIES CHERISHED

It has been one of the happiest moments of my life before my contests in the ring to receive from all parts of the world messages from the Marines. The relationship to that noble company of men, wearing my country's uniform, occupies a deep place in my memory and affection.

Patriotism is the cherished possession of a true soul, the inspiration of a real life, and from the depths of my heart I am grateful to my father, who found here a home and an opportunity. I am grateful to the founders who built into our country its noblest ideals, and I am grateful for the honor of wearing a Marine uniform and of being known wherever I go as a product of the best city and the best nation in all the world.

THE END.

The VARSITY COLUMN by Jess M. Carver

FROM what does one get the biggest kick at a football game? Is it the game itself, the crowd, the atmosphere or the crunch, crunch of your neighbor eating peanuts in your ear? Maybe it's the smell of the hotdog, succulent as a steak in the crisp autumn air (crisp, rainy or snowy). Maybe it's the goofy old grad, trampling his hat into the concrete of the stands and roaring out blessings on the halfback who has raced 50 yards for a touchdown.

Most people will tell you that it's the crowd and the music that causes their blood to warm and their very soul to tingle. Who has not been filled with a resolve to go forth and do bigger and better things after hearing the band play Alma Mater or a stirring school song. The parade between halves, with the accompanying act of the student cheering sections, spelling out on a living, pulsing field with colored paper and handkerchiefs, the school monogram and that of the enemy. (The latter, if you will observe, is always a trifle indistinct).

IT IS true that 80 per cent of the people who attend a football game (collegiate gender) do not know what the game itself is all about. They see 22 men and three, four or five officials dashing madly about on the field; watch the team they know to be their favorite as it either advances the ball or has the ball advanced through it, and cheer or jeer accordingly. A long run brings down the house. A fumble draws a flock of groans and a penalty hoots of derision and words of applause. Nine times out of 10 the folks in the stands (press box included) do not know what the penalty is for.

The fans sit in the stands and cast envious glances at the press box. "What a lot of lucky stiffs those babies up there are. All they do is go to football games every week and get paid for it. Some folks have all the luck." That's the way most folks regard the sport writers.

THERE are jobs easier than covering a football game. Take the usual procedure of handling a big game, the Pitt-Tech game for instance. There be three and four writers from each paper. One of the boys will write the play-by-play of the game. Another keeps a chart of the progress of the ball. A third works on statistics. Still another writes what is known as a "color" story and keeps general notes.

All this must be done bare-handed, whether it be raining or snowing. You can't work a typewriter with gloves on, especially a portable. And it is difficult to handle a pencil, too.

There is a chap in the press box announcing the plays, usually with the aid of a mouth full of cheese or ham sandwich. No telegraph instruments are clicking away. A herd of kibitzers are always present, leaning over your shoulder, asking silly questions just as you are attempting to concentrate on the tabulating of a long run, counting the yardage of a punt or figuring out a triple pass. (Your hands are getting colder and colder every minute).

THE announcer will yodel—

"Uansa hit off tackle for 10 yards."

"What the heck," some one will roar. "Uansa was taken out in the first period."

"My mistake," the announcer will come back, "it was Williams."

Then you'll discover that Williams has been on the bench all afternoon with a broken leg.

A sub will come trotting on the field at this point and there will be an immediate craning of necks to get his number. If he is wearing No. 14, the program will have No. 14 ticketed as Smith, a guard, and the sub will go into the backfield and begin running the ends. If he goes to the line at all, giving the faintest excuse for calling him Smith, it is known as a "brenk" and no questions are asked.

Yea, a nice job.

LOCAL SANDLOT UMPIRES HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Members of the Pittsburgh Umpires' Association celebrated the close of the baseball season last night when they held their first annual banquet in the Norse room of the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Among the speakers were James F. Malone, president of the city council; Calvin Bolster, Rossy Rowswell, W. C. Tillett, Henry Blum, Jack Baird and Al Underwood. Tim Dunn was toastmaster.

FANS BOO HEAVIES IN SLOW BOUT

IKE McFOWLER, Negro flash from Johnstown, completely ruined the twenty-fifth birthday celebration of Joe Packo, Toledo heavyweight, last night, in the main bout of the Majestic Club show at McKeesport. Ike handed the Ohioan everything but a knockout in delivering a decisive 10-round pasting.

Packo came out of the melee with a blackened eye and a cut near the top of his head.

It was the second meeting of the pair, and the fans chalked it up as being much less lively than the first encounter. Constant clinching was only intermittently broken up with slugging.

The fight almost ended in the second round, when McFowler hit the Toledo scrapper a low blow. Referee Al Grayber ignored Packo's plea and attempt to register painful injury.

The ducat-holders got on edge around the sixth round and yelled for the scalps of the main-bout actors, although apparently the boys were working sincerely in the ring. McFowler so far outclassed Packo that the only thing Joe could do in the pinch was to resort to clinching, which he did with monotonous frequency. There was much "booing," nevertheless.

Linn Jordan, of Johnstown, and Bobby Holmes, of McKeesport, will have to answer to the State Boxing Commission following the action of the referee in stopping their go, the semi-windup, in the fifth stanza. They were apparently play-acting to the eyes of the arbiter, and, although they showed signs of comeback life just about the time the bout was stopped, there was no inclination on the part of the referee to permit them to continue once he waved them to their respective corners.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, gained a technical knockout over Al Waldeck, of Tarentum. Al's seconds saw fit to stop the slaughter in the third round, when they tossed in a towel. Waldeck had been floored four times.

The lid-lifter saw Tommy Ward, of the South Side, getting the decision on a split verdict over Johnny Brown, of Pittsburgh, in their six-round setto. The referee's slip decided the issue.

one of the S. A. R.'s most recent members.

THE annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Field Club is slated for tomorrow evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The election of five directors to succeed Mr. Plumber whose terms in office expire will take place. The election of the following members has been recommended by the nominating committee: John W. Carr, F. G. Bannerot, Howard G. DeVan, J. G. Farquehar and Joseph N. Sucoop. They unquestionably will be elected for the three year term.

A Red and Blue contest will be held tomorrow afternoon with Robert T. Hambleton captaining the Reds and Charles S. Hagen leading the Blues. The winners will be entertained at dinner by the losers at 6:30 o'clock. Entertainment will be provided by the Chamber of Commerce Chorus during the dinner.

The Pittsburgh Field Club's layout is in splendid condition.

ELKINS TURNS PROFESSIONAL

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—Fait Elkins, former national decathlon champion, has signed a contract to play professional football with the Frankford Yellow Jackets and will play his first game tomorrow against the New York Yankees.

Elkins, a full-blooded Iroquois Indian, returned Wednesday from Europe, where he had been on a barnstorming tour with members of the United States Olympic team. A pulled tendon prevented Elkins from participating in the Olympics.

SHELLEY'S QUEEN WINS BUCKEYE BEAGLE TRIALS

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 42—Shelley's Queen, owned by George Shelley, Thornville, won first prize in the fifteen-inch all-age class of the Buckeye Beagle Club's trials. Other winners were, second, Blue Ray, One Spot, Dr. D. H. Long, Zanesville; third, Shoshone, Princess, Clyde Stewart, this city; fourth, Omstead's Beauty, John Kientz, Berea, Reserve, Nellie Gray, C. M. Craft, this city. Jenkins' Flash, owned by Osborne Jenkins, this city, won the $50 club prize. She won over Leatherwood Lader, I. E. Stubbs, Quaker City, and Shelley's Best, George Shelley, owner.

PADDY SULLIVAN IN COMEBACK

Paddy Sullivan, former Pittsburgh hockey player and in his day rated one of the best center men in the game, has decided to try a comeback with the local team for the coming season. Officials of the club says they will be pleased to give him a chance, and he has been instructed to report to Manager Odie Cleghorn for training on October 25. Sullivan has been out of hockey for two seasons.

The club chiefs today received notice from league headquarters that the Montreal Maroons has asked waivers on Players Oatman, Holway, Carson and Enns. They at once wired Manager Cleghorn in Montreal, asking him to notify them at once if he desired any of the players named, in which event they will at once put in a claim.

Cleghorn has been instructed to go to New York Monday to be present at the league meeting, at which several deals are likely to be discussed.

FIGHT RESULTS

At McKeesport—Ike McFowler defeated Joe Packo, 10 rounds; Linn Jordan-Bobby Holmes bout stopped in fifth by referee for stalling; Battling Gizzy knocked out (technical) Al Waldeck, 3 rounds; Tommy Ward defeated Johnny Brown, 6 rounds.

Mellow Bout 19th Of Year for Phil

WHEN Phil Goldstein, Hill district lightweight, boxes Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, in the main event of the double windup card at Motor Square Garden next Monday night he will be appearing in his nineteenth battle of the year, stretched out over a number of cities and states. He makes his fighting headquarters in New York, but always insists on being introduced as hailing from Pittsburgh. Recently, at Newark, N. J., he was introduced as being from New York and held up his battle with Al Bryant until a correction was made by the announcer.

Since he last showed here, Phil has met, among others, Ray Mitchell, Mickey Chapin, Augie Pisano, Al Bryant, Eddie Elkins, Jack Charity and Tommy Liberto. His manager, Jimmy Bronson, thinks he is ready for anybody in the lightweight class, from Champion Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin on down the line. Promoter John Hernon of Motor Square Garden has promised him a battle with Cuddy DeMarco or Jack Zivic if he defeats Mellow.

LA ROSE MEETS CEDER

Monday night's show will be only the second of the season at the Garden, Garfield Johnson having beaten Chuck Wiggins in the main event of the opener, week before last. No bouts were staged in the arena last week.

Tony La Rose, of Cincinnati, meets Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum, in the other half of the double windup of two eight-round events. Tug Phillips and Jimmy Belmont are paired for six rounds and Dominick Profio meets Tiger Joe Randall and Jack McCarthy opposes Mike Smithhammer in the two four-round preliminaries. Profio knocked out K. O. Thompson of Akron in the first round of a bout at Youngstown last Wednesday night after having decisively beaten Jackie Murray in his professional debut at McKeesport recently.

Cuddy DeMarco boxes Harry Felix, of New York, at Erie tonight.

Georgie Peck and Joe Colombo box at Fairmont, W. Va., next Wednesday night.

The Valley A. C., of Wellsville, O., will open its boxing season in City Hall Monday night, October 29. Managers of boxers anxious to appear in shows there are requested to communicate with Ray Foutts, the matchmaker, at 1595 Commerce street, Wellsville, O.

Bobby Amster, of Johnstown, now is under the management of Robert M. Lorman, of Midland, Pa., who also handles Mike Moran, Tony Norman and others.

The fans of New Castle are keyed up over the return to the ring of Paris Cangie, the hard-hitting lightweight, who has been on the sidelines for many months. He meets Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, next Monday night in the windup of the weekly show in the Jolly Bowl, at New Castle, which now is completely inclosed for the fall and winter season.

Homer Robertson, Negro middleweight, formerly of the Hill and now of Boston, has accepted an offer for three fights in England from Fred Dyer, the former English welterweight star, and will leave shortly on the trip overseas. The bouts are to be with Tommy Milligan, Ted Moore and Frank Moody.

Joey LaGrey, of Johnstown, boxes Irish Tommy Jordan and Art de Champlaine, also of Johnstown, meets Erwin Widman, in 10-round bouts in Brooklyn tonight.

George Godfrey, Negro heavyweight, and Benny Hill, of California, clash in Buffalo tonight.

Leo P. Flynn and his entire stable of boxers has been suspended for 30 days in New York state because Flynn violated a rule of the commission by demanding a guarantee for the services of Dave Shade against George Courtney at Coney Island in August and refusing to permit his man to enter the ring until the guarantee was paid.

A double windup of 10-round battles will be presented at McKeesport next Monday night. Johnny Carey, of Erie, will meet Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, in the main event, and Howard Mayberry will be a principal in the other feature bout.

PITT

injured ankles. Yerina is slated to replace Schnupp at guard and Moorehead will likely start at halfback in the place of Eyth.

In a preliminary tussle, the West Virginia Freshmen team will play the Skibo plebes.

West Virginia University Alumni Secretary F. Roy Yoke will establish Alumni headquarters at the William Penn hotel, where he will have an allotment of choice tickets for sale and where the old grads will be officially and cordially welcomed.

Secretary Yoke will arrive in Pittsburgh today and will immediately set up Mountaineer headquarters. Aside from the annual Thanksgiving Day game with Wash-Jeff, the Pitt clash attracts more alumni than any other contest on the schedule.

2,500 TO FOLLOW DUKES

All football fans in the city won't be out at Forbes Field or roosting in the Stadium. Some 2,500 of 'em are going to hike down to Washington, Pa., where they'll cheer the Duquesne Dukes as they attempt to make the day miserable for Andy Kerr and the Presidents.

The Dukes are getting their first shot at big time football. They are meeting the Wash-Jeff eleven on the same basis that other schools and the Red and Black clash—with the freshman rule in force. Wishing to become established as a major team, John Holohan, graduate manager of athletics signed an agreement with W. T. Theurer, head of the Wash-Jeff, whereby the locals agreed not to use freshmen in games against the Presidents.

It was a fine move on the part of the Dukes, for it immediately put them on a par with Pitt, Tech, West Virginia, Penn State and other schools hereabouts that enforce the freshman rule and gave them an eligibility code as strict as those boasted by the others.

Coach Layden gave the Dukes their final hard drill yesterday. He plans a light drill for today, and will pay no little attention to the aerial game, giving the boys their last instructions on both the use and defense against the forward pass.

Forbes

Columbus Spirit Is Chief Cause of U. S. Prosperity.

—By B. C. FORBES—

THE same spirit which animated Columbus is responsible for the prosperity the American people today enjoy in a measure unmatched in any other land.

How so?

PIONEERING discovered America. Pioneering opened up America. Pioneering developed America. Pioneering has given us world leadership today.

Our forefathers pioneered as blazers of westward trails, as levelers of forests, as tillers of the soil. They pioneered as prospectors and miners. They pioneered greatly as railroad builders. They tamed what was untamed; they civilized what was uncivilized.

PIONEERING is the mainspring of our present-day progress.

We have become the greatest industrial nation on earth. Our wealth, our power, our place in the sun have sprung mainly from our industrial growth, and this industrial growth has sprung mainly from the Columbus spirit, the spirit of adventure, the spirit of daring, the spirit of initiative, the spirit of the pioneer.

IN WHAT modern industry do we not lead the world?

That mammoth creation of the twentieth century, the motor industry, has flourished here as nowhere else. Why? Because the courageous spirits who early entered it were unafraid to venture mightily.

They essayed the impossible; no obstacle could daunt them. Their inventive genius was matched by their vision—and lo, America today supplies almost the whole world with automobiles of unsurpassed efficiency, comfort and economy.

THERE were days when Alexander Graham Bell and Theodore N. Vail did not know where their lunch money would come from. But did that cause these stalwart pioneers of the telephone to give up in despair? No.

The blood of the pioneer coursed through their veins. What others could see only as an interesting toy, they saw as a potential human blessing beyond all price. And they labored on, hampered but undiscouraged.

While the telephone was yet in its infancy, and operating only over an extremely limited area, with the eye of faith they could foresee the day when every city and community and almost every home in the length and breadth of America would be linked together and able to converse with one another. Telephone truly was the child of the Columbus spirit.

IT WAS an American pioneer, Samuel Morse, who first laid a cable across the Atlantic.

It was another American pioneer, Robert Fulton, who gave the world its first successful steamboat. Two young American pioneers, the Wright brothers, gave man his first workable pair of wings; what achievements have been builded on the foundations they laid! If America did not invent the radio, Americans are carrying it to limits almost beyond human imagining.

It is the spirit of pioneering that has enabled America to dominate the world in the realm of moving pictures. And tomorrow we shall doubtless dominate equally in the new field of "talking pictures."

WHAT of the grandest old pioneer of all the living, Thomas A. Edison? Does he not deserve to rank with the greatest names of all time?

Columbus himself suffered no greater discouragements than Edison suffered in his various untrodden fields of adventure. To him mankind owes "the only rival of the sun," electric light. That we can now draw music out of the air is due in some measure to the discoveries of the "Wizard of Menlo Park." And he had a deft hand in making the motion picture possible.

A man adventurous enough to conduct 10,000 unsuccessful experiments without giving up, and finally attaining his goal—is he not worthy to be classed as a pioneer of pioneers?

EXAMINE the billions of dollars of America's annual exports to the rest of the world, and you will find how largely they are the fruit of the exercise of the pioneering spirit by Americans. Nor was there ever a time when this spirit was more virile, more courageous, more fruitful than it is today. Our great business organizations are leading the world in research, the modern form of much of the worthwhile pioneering.

AND so, as we pause to do honor to the name of Columbus, let us not overlook the later and present-day pioneers who are making it possible for the rest of us to enjoy a standard of life for ourselves and our children not possible were the spirit of Columbus less of an animating, almighty force.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables at the local wholesale produce district was good today. The quotations were about unchanged.

Poultry supplies were liberal, with the demand fair, market about steady and quotations unchanged.

The butter market was firm. Cheese and eggs were steady. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Car lot supplies were heavy, a total of 716 cars being on track. Arrivals included 15 cars of apples, 1 cabbage, 2 cantaloupes, 3 celery, 80 grapes, 1 lemons, 2 lettuce, 8 onions, 2 oranges, 2 peaches, 2 pears, 24 potatoes, 1 sweet potatoes, 1 tomatoes, 3 turnips and 2 quinces.

CUBA VETERANS PICK DENVER FOR 1929

HAVANA, Oct. 12.—(AP.)—The United Spanish War Veterans in their closing session voted to meet at Denver, Col., next year for their thirty-first annual convention. Denver was chosen, after what was declared the bitterest conflict in 20 years in naming a convention city.

The naming of Denver concluded the business sessions which opened here Monday. The morning sessions resulted in election of officers, all of whom were elected by acclamation. The new national commander is William L. Grayson, of Savannah, Ga.

A resolution thanking the Cuban government and people for the reception and entertainment, was introduced into minutes.

An unscheduled event of the final session was the presentation of a large Cuban flag to the veterans by a Cuban veteran representing the town of Caibarien and the interior of the island.

Sixty resolutions were passed, including one to petition the President and Congress of the United States to meet "the crisis confronting service men of 1898-1902" and grant to men who had served less than 90 days, had received honorable discharges for physical disabilities and who had reached 50 years of age pensions of $50 a month. The resolution further asked $65 a month for disabled veterans and $90 for those needing an attendant.

An urgent appeal was made for victims of the recent Porto Rico storm and the convention authorized that funds be taken from the treasury and sent to the storm area.

Some of the veterans will depart today, but many others will remain for the government trip to Santiago de Cuba.

YALE MEN FACE NEW CHARGES

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—(AP.)—A jury in Franklin County Court has found Alexander Knapp, of Baltimore, and Sydney R. Prince, Jr., of Washington, Yale seniors, guilty of simple assault. They were found not guilty on charges of assault with intent to rob and impersonating an officer.

Judge Watson R. Davison yesterday instructed District Attorney Clittenger to file two additional charges against the youths, arrested as the result of an alleged holdup of H. M. Rowe, Waynesboro grocer, September 4. Prince will now stand trial for driving an automobile while intoxicated and Knapp for permitting an intoxicated person to drive his automobile.

Judge Davison deferred sentence pending the outcome of the new charges.

THOMAS FLAYS BIG PARTIES

Herbert C. Hoover and Alfred E. Smith, presidential candidates and the parties they represent, were flayed as "tools of big business" by Dr. Norman Thomas, New York, Socialist candidate for President, in an address in Carnegie Music Hall last night. He asserted there is actually no difference in the platforms of the two parties. He pictured Hoover as straddling issues and referred to Smith as "a fearless crusader in a brown derby, riding to battle on a pure white tiger." Instead of sending Marines to Nicaragua to catch a bandit, he proposed sending them to Chicago, Pittsburgh or New York to guarantee an honest election. He urged provision for the care of the aged.

TWO EMPTY BARNS BURN NEAR WEST MIDDLESEX

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 12.—Fire destroyed two empty barns and a shed on the farm of E. K. Gilliland, near West Middlesex, causing loss of $9,000. The farm has not been tenanted since the house was burned four years ago.

AIDS LIFE TERM FOR FORGER

City Detective William O'Bryan is going to New York City next Tuesday to help the state of New York send H. Blumenthal to prison for life. Nineteen years ago Detective O'Bryan brought Blumenthal, with his string of aliases back from Fort Wayne, Ind., to serve three years on charges of false pretense, having passed a worthless check for $60 on Mrs. Jack Brown, of Lathrop street. Blumenthal now is under arrest in New York for his fourth offense and under the Baumes law is liable to life imprisonment as a habitual offender. District Attorney Joab H. Banton, of New York, has asked the local detective to testify in the case.

Title

A man of moderate means can ill afford the cost of lengthy litigations which are sure to be forced upon him should any flaw come to light affecting the validity of his title. It is much more economical to pay the one premium for the absolute and permanent protection of a title insurance policy.

Bench and Bar Both Now On Record in Law Delay

Recently a report of an Allegheny County Bar Association committee commented on the evident slowness of court procedure here, compared with that in Cuyahoga county, Ohio. It was shown the courts there dispose of considerably more business than is handled here in the same period of time.

Perhaps Judge Thomas D. Carnahan pointed his finger at one of the prime causes for this condition when he scored lawyers for time-wasting tactics. Cases ready for trial, with no attorneys present to try them, aroused the wrath of the court, indignant not only because of the liberties bar members take with the majesty of the law, but also because the time of jurors was being wasted at the rate of $1,000 a day—$4 for each of the 250 in the panel.

The judge declared the routine of the court was being broken down by the carelessness of lawyers and warned that "trifling with the courts must end at once."

The court took occasion to comment on the time wasted in jury selection, saying that nine-tenths of the time consumed that way was silly and that the courts could try 20 per cent more cases if lawyers did not carry the challenge privilege to foolish extremes.

Now we see that the Allegheny County Bar Association wants to expedite court procedure and the court wants the lawyers to cut out their delaying of the courts. The answer ought to be that impediments to reasonable speed will be cleared away. That will please the taxpayers who foot the bills.

Mice Fighting Hawks

"Prepared" for Air Attack.

BRITISH ANTI-AIRCRAFT PREPARATION

This picture, printed to make Americans think about the next war, gives an idea of what will happen to those ON THE GROUND.

Britain, knowing that the French planes could destroy the six greatest British cities in a day, concentrates first on the building of an air fleet which might drive away a French, German, Italian or other air invasion, and would certainly destroy Paris or any other big enemy city in retaliation for attack.

Second, they concentrate on anti-aircraft defense from the ground, such as you see here.

Men with anti-aircraft guns, traveling in heavily armored "tanks," protected with gas masks against gas bombs dropping from the sky, patrol the country and watch the clouds.

But, as Gen. William Mitchell has already told this country, anti-aircraft defense on the ground is foolish, ineffectual.

Men on the ground, with their little anti-aircraft guns and gas masks, are as pathetically incapable of defending themselves as so many field mice shivering below the outstretched wings of a hawk.

So true is the comparison of men on the ground facing airplanes and mice in the field facing hawks that for both mice and men safety would be found only in earthworks underground.

The British have already made careful plans for an underground city, where the population might live in case of necessity, just as field mice for ages have built their little burrows in which they take refuge from hawks, or as prairie dogs build their burrows, refuges from coyotes, foxes and other enemies.

The real lesson for Americans in this picture is, BE PREPARED!

This country ought to have the greatest fighting air fleet in the world, self-supporting in the post service in peace time. It should have the greatest submarine fleet in the world, capable of invading the harbors of nations that attack us and wiping their shipping from the oceans.

The attention of the government should be concentrated on AIRPLANE IMPROVEMENT. We spend hundreds of millions on battleships that would not be worth 10 cents apiece in real war. We spend mere driblets on airplanes that will settle every war in the future, and we rely on private initiative, concerns lacking sufficient capital, to develop an air fleet for the national government.

We ought to spend whatever is necessary to build a fleet of airships capable of crossing the Atlantic Ocean and the Pacific Ocean.

We ought to have the fastest pursuit planes in the world to attack any invading airmen.

We should be in a position to say to the outside world, "LET THIS NATION ALONE" or attack at your peril.

We should prove to the world that we have it in our power, in case of ATTACK (nothing else would drive us to war), to destroy any nation attacking us.

The money that we WASTE, on battleships, would do it.

It takes only a little imagination to realize the change in war conditions.

Pray heaven that the change will be realized in America without waiting for a war and for the destruction of one or more of our cities to force the truth upon us.

Cut Down the Size of the Burden!

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Scarab

"Will you tell me how the scarab beetle was used by the early Egyptians?"—A. E. R., Chicago.

IT IS a story of superstition, which means the striving of the human spirit after things that it does not, and perhaps cannot, know. In the eagerness of this striving the mind is not critical of means and methods.

Superstition seizes on the smallest resemblance or the most fortuitious coincidence, believing it to be an opening into the realm of the mysterious, leading behind the curtain of the future. Superstition attaches itself to religion and also to science. Indirectly, superstition has sometimes opened the way for science.

The scarab beetle, species of which are found all over the world, familiar examples being the big, awkward, blundering, humming "June-bug" and the "tumble-bug," was worshiped by the Egyptians as an "emblem of fertility and the resurrection." How this connection arose may be seen by considering the curious ways of our "tumble-bug," or "dung beetle," which is a close relative of the Egyptian scarebaeus sacer. The beetle lays its egg in a ball of dung, which it makes very carefully, and of surprising roundness, rolling the ball about by pushing with its hind legs, thus trundling it to considerable distances, and finally burying it. The interior of the ball is stuffed with food, upon which the young beetle feeds before its emergence at the end of its period of prenatal burial.

The conduct of the scarab with its ball is interesting. Old naturalists were puzzled to understand how the insect could make the ball so nearly spherical. A recent writer says that the beetle may be seen "on sandy slopes in hot sunshine, compacting the pellet by pushing it backward uphill with its hind legs and allowing it to roll down again."

As this is done while the ball is still fresh and undried, it is manifestly a very practical method of "rounding," like that used by the housewives of old but not forgotten times when they rolled the dough to make "fried cakes" in the form of baseballs. It is also akin to the science of the schoolboy with snowballs.

The Egyptians related the cradle-ball of the scarab beetle to the globe of the sun, which had at least this gleam of dawning science about it, that it assumed that the sun was of a spherical shape. According to some writers the ball was also likened by the Egyptians to the earth—a still more striking guess at scientific fact. They likewise made it symbolical of a courageous warrior, for the curious reason that they thought the young scarabs were "born of a male." This may have arisen from the fact that the male beetles at least assist in rolling the balls. Prof. Comstock has said that "this is one of the instances, rare among insects, where the male realizes that he has some responsibility as a father."

The "complex" of superstition was very strong with the ancient Egyptians, and their scarab, used as an amulet, set in a ring, or a seal, or other personal ornament, was a good offset to the horoscope of the Chaldeans. Many of the Egyptian carved or engraved scarabs were very beautiful, and they were widely scattered by commerce over the Mediterranean world, the Phoenicians being the great distributors. But later they were made in variant forms by the Etruscans, the Greeks and other nations. It is well worth your while to study them in any large museum. They can be bought today not only in the East, but in any great capital, but it is well to remember that the scarab has for long presented an irresistible temptation to forgers of antiquities. But if you are looking merely for an amulet, a forged scarab would be just as effective as a genuine product of the days when Heliopolis was in all its glory.

Self-esteem may be all right, but the people who are all wrapped up in themselves may be pretty small at that.

Judging Women

"WHEN a man presents his ideas of women he is usually voicing his opinion of his wife," some one has said.

If this is a true basis for judgment, there are a lot of married men who do not think well of their wives.

Often where men congregate you hear several who make statements about women that are far from complimentary.

Usually it is accepted as a fact that these men do not think their own wives guilty of the things they attribute to other women.

But, if the above quoted idea holds good are there not many men who are presenting their wives in a most unfavorable light?

Perhaps you, yourself, have made statements about women in general which seem to prove your lack of faith in the sex.

Were your opinions formed from results?

Is it not your home where you get your basis of reasoning?

Surely not from your mother, if it be something unfavorable.

But isn't it from experiences known to you in your home?

You cannot blame any one who may misjudge your wife if you make assertion after assertion derogatory to other women.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Every Life

EVERY life, could we but see
Through the curtains closely drawn
Robing it in mystery
Is akin to all lives gone.

Every life knows joy and hope,
All the gamut, bliss, despair;
Every life sometimes must grope
Through the labyrinth of care.

Every life is better so,
Since through visions of its own
It can sense the splendid glow
Of the dreams a friend has known.

And, because this truth exists,
Hand still stretches out to hand,
Through the mazes and the mists
Hearts still, some way, understand.

Great Passages from the Bible

"Will a Man Rob God?"

(Malachi 3: 8-18)

WILL a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings.

Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation.

Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.

And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, saith the Lord of hosts.

And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a delightsome land, saith the Lord of hosts.

Your words have been stout against me, saith the Lord. Yet ye say, What have we spoken so much against thee?

Ye have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the Lord of hosts?

And now we call the proud happy; yea, they that work wickedness are set up; yea, they that tempt God are even delivered.

Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another: and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name.

And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him.

Then shall ye return, and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth him not.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

YOU got to have your wits about you if you are going to meet the ladies that bring back goods to department stores and say the stuff ain't satisfactory. Now, there was an expert adjuster in the dog department, and a lady come in to him with a Boston bull she had got a week before.

"This here dog that you said was so pedigreed and so faithful ain't worth his crackers," she says. "Why, a burglar got into our house last night and stole all our silver, and that there dog never said a word."

"Well, lady," says the adjuster, "of course you know I told you the dog is a pedigreed Boston bull. Unless that there burglar was a Cabot or a Lodge the dog would naturally ignore him."

Easy

IT was a holiday acquaintanceship. The pretty blonde had met him on the pier, and after a pleasant evening together the two were walking slowly homewards.

As they neared her house the girl gently disengaged the young man's arm.

"You'd better not hold my arm just now," she said coyly. "What should I say if mother saw us?"

For a moment the young man was rather perplexed.

"Oh," he remarked brightly, "you could say I was your brother."

That Fashionable Shape

LITTLE Lucy was very quiet, and her mother, noticing this, wondered what could be going on, for her daughter was usually the very opposite of quiet.

She made a tour of inspection but could not find the child. Suddenly she had an inspiration and looked in the summer-house at the bottom of the garden.

On the floor sat Lucy, busily employed in emptying the sawdust out of her doll.

"What are you doing that for?" inquired her mother sharply.

"To give her a boyish figger," answered the little girl.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of Gertrude Ederle? Or has she given up flying? Wish someone would open a cafe where they wouldn't snatch the menu after you order. Rust colored tin can tourists who buy a flivver and see the world.

Corse Payton, who styles himself the world's best bad actor. That overworked tune "Sidewalks of New York" again. Another Lefcourt building. He used to be a Broadway newsboy. Most everybody will stop to look at a map in a window. First orange, then pineapple and now cocoanut drink stands. Winter Garden goes "Al Jolson" again.

Karl K. Kitchen, a Cleveland (O.) boy, who made good in the city. Rarely see a sky writer any more. John Roach Straton, New York's nattiest dressed minister. Elmer Davis, the new editorial writer for Life. Old ladies in dull silks who sit in hotel lobbies dreaming.

Helena Rubinstein, the penniless Polish girl who made millions out of beauty lotions. Those touzeled youths with long bow ties who try to be arty but have to be "in trade" just the same. Marked down bathing suits—winter is here, and ain't I glad?

Dress shops where the customer is called "Modom." The Lalique glass craze. A blue Chow. Archery has become another vogue. Jefferson Machamer, the cartoonist, who is also "Judge, Jr." Sleepy eyed firemen going through town in flying wagons putting on their coats.

The shabby fellows in shiny suits who refuse to leave Broadway curbs. Singed cats unafraid of the fire. Arnold Rothstein, the White Way's man of mystery. A lady watching a steam shoveler through a lorgnette. The temporary parking spaces when a building comes down.

Why are employment bureaus so dingy looking? Scotch stories seem played out. The well dressed people in coffee pot places. "Spike" Hunt in town from his Canadian ranch. Ladies being coiffed and complexioned just as it is time for married men to scoot home.

One of Broadway's favorite poems is from the versatile pen of Dorothy Parker and here it is:

The moon's turned black:
For I loved him, and
He didn't love back.

A surprise for the Broadway visitor is that he may walk several blocks northward from the Rialto and find a sheep-herder almost as true to type as those on the western range. He is the sheep-herder in Central Park who roams about the meadows with his herd and corrals them in the sheep fold at night. He is an uncommunicative old fellow who is accompanied by his beautiful shepherd dog, the father of which was given to him by J. P. Morgan, Sr.

What appeared for a time as one of the biggest by-products of prohibition has proved a dud. That is the sale of pocket flasks. They sold like hot cakes and then sales began to dwindle until now they are featured chiefly at cut price sales. Those who carried liquor to cafes and night clubs in expensive flasks left too many on tables. Now they carry their liquor in the original bottles wrapped in ordinary paper.

The Publicity Agent

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

In a good many newspaper offices and elsewhere the publicity agent is regarded as a man who is trying to put something over on the editor, trying to get some free advertising in the news columns or editorials. Some editors are suspicious and hostile toward press agents.

Nothing could be further from the truth in the case of a good press agent. He works with the editor and not against him. He makes advertising for the paper and does not swindle the paper out of advertising.

The real publicity agent must be a good newspaper man. He must have a nose for news. His various stunts must have distinct news value.

I met a press agent the other day, or a publicity man, who illustrates this.

He told me some of his experiences which show that instead of cheating the paper out of advertising his articles are of a nature to draw advertising for the papers.

For instance, he was handling a certain cheap hair net which sold in department and five and ten-cent stores for a few cents. He conceived the idea of getting a recommendation from Queen Marie of Rumania, so he had some hair nets put up in a gorgeous box with a gold label. Samples of such boxes were presented to the members of the Queen's retinue and to the Queen herself. She was attracted to the box which was put by her maid upon her dresser. She was so pleased that she gave the desired recommendation. And this notwithstanding the fact that she had bobbed hair. The story was widely published in the news items, and the consequence was that the hair net which had been recommended by the Queen of Rumania was extensively advertised in large city newspapers. So the story, instead of sneaking in some free advertising for the hair net, actually made advertising business for the papers.

On another occasion handling the advertising for a certain soap he got the story published that the Statue of Liberty was to be washed with this soap. The idea was novel and intriguing. It was so interesting that a movie was made showing the statue being washed. An increase in the number of visitors to the monument was immediately noticeable. As a matter of fact the statue has never been washed, and for 32 years Bartholdi's lady in New York harbor has gone without a bath. The movie was merely an ingenious picture taken by movie actors.

Upon another occasion a merchant found he had a number of toy sail boats he could not sell. This publicity agent organized a campaign for children's regattas, and got Sir Thomas Lipton and other famous celebrities to offer prizes for the best child sailors, the prize to consist of this particular sail boat. At one time twenty thousand people gathered around the lake in Central Park to watch the children sail the boats. Similar regattas were held in other principal cities and resulted in a great sale of the boat. Much advertising was put in the papers by the department and toy stores.

The publicity man not only succeeded in getting a story with news value, but having his story bring in much advertising for the papers.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A LADY who has been reading the lengthy discussions as to whether political candidates were drunk or sober at certain stated times, says she is a loyal New Yorker, and she wants to say that Eugene Field settled that question once, as follows:

"He is not drunk who from the floor
Can rise again, and drink some more;
But he is drunk, who prostrate lies
And cannot drink and cannot rise."

Monkeys always have the cute habit of picking the pockets of everybody they meet. Usually it is considered an amusing performance. A lady in Los Angeles has a monkey who began emptying her husband's pockets the other night, took out a letter and handed it to the mama.

The lady wants big alimony with that divorce.

A business girl in New York cashed her pay check, lost her purse and is reconciled to the loss of the $100 cash. But she thought she might save a check for $1.50 that was in the purse, a dividend on some stock she owns. She wrote her broker in Chicago and as sent a long paper to sign, in many places, on many dotted lines. It must be sworn to before a notary who charged her a fee. Then she was told it should be looked at by someone else who would charge her another fee.

"And how much will that be?" she asked wearily.

"Oh, about $1.50," said the clerk.

One dollar and seventy-five cents to retrieve $1.50 didn't appeal to her. So she tore up the promise to return the check to the company if ever she found it, and went home.

There is some sort of atmospheric change taking place that is driving all divorced wives straight back into the arms of their first husbands. Four were heralded yesterday in the day's news, including two wealthy Chicago men, a prominent New York author, an Omaha historian, a Los Angeles banker and a violinist from the Northwest.

Women are finding out that all men act about alike once you are married to them.

Invariably the wives who bring their husbands to court for having beaten them, once they get them before the judge, begin to plead for them and want them spared a jail sentence.

Yesterday a woman with two black eyes and a limp asked the court not to sentence the husband, and she would give him another trial. The court looked at her eyes and decided he would give the man at least six months in jail.

The woman began to weep copiously. "You can't do it," she said. "I won't testify against him. Now what are you going to do?" (this defiantly).

"I'm going to let him go home," said the court, "and when you have had plenty, come back."

A man suing his wife for divorce out in St. Louis, asked the court to make her return his satin kimona, his red satin slippers, some silk underwear, and his felt hat.

The court let him have the hat, and from the look he wore when he heard about the satin slippers you would think he had been bolt for nine minutes.
